Mother Dies Trying To Save Children In Burning Home

International News Service

WARREN, Pa., Jan. 26.—A mother sacrificed her life today in a futile effort to save her two small children from flames which razed the home of Clarence B. Hills at Stone Hill, near here.

Awakened by smoke, Mrs. Hills found her home a raging inferno. With three of her children she leaped to safety, but reentered the house to rescue William, 2 years old, and an infant. The three perished in the flames.

The father, who is a teamster, was not at home when the fire occurred. The charred bodies are still in the ruins, which have not cooled sufficiently to permit a search.

The three other Hills children and Walter Seely, 72, and Albert Ferry, 16, who were living at the Hills home escaped, although Seely was badly burned.

An overheated stove it is believed caused the tragedy although the actual cause may never be known.

Football Team Players Banquet At Senior High

Dr. Zerner Delivers Instructive Adress To 1926 Squad Members

SPORTSMANSHIP HERE IS HIGH, GREEN SAYS

Gridiron "Machine" Must Have Soul, Coach Bridenbaugh Asserts

Tongue garnished with brains and turkey minus the feathers but surrounded by all the delicacies capable of teasing the palate featured the athletic association's banquet to members of the New Castle high school football team at Senior high cafeteria last night.

Dr. H. E. Zerner, team physician and whom Dr. C. C. Green, toastmaster referred to as the "original fan" delivered the principal address and while his remarks did not savor wholly of football, his words fell in fertile territory and will long be remembered by the future leaders of tomorrow.

Prefacing his remarks, the team physician said "you have been talked to, about, and it seems to me you would be weary of it for a time. You can have too much talk so I will not consume much time.

Must Have Idea.

"I want to say I do not believe anyone has a right to talk unless they have an idea they want to put it across. If his idea gets across and it has merit the spokesman has accomplished much. Therefore I'm going to make a confession."

At this point Dr. Zerner said his first recollection of entering into sports was about 43 years ago. "It so happened that my first association happened to be with a pugilist and one of the finest characters I ever have known."

Dr. Zerner said that in all athletic lines, business and even in professional life there are the good and the bad characters. No single line, he stressed, has claim on the finest of characters and he said that lives are patterned after others.

Kinds Of Sports

He said that not only had he been associated with men with high ideals in sport but also had known men with sordid ideas of sports. "You can be a good sport and you can be a good sport for profit but you do not need be a dirty sordid sport."

"He who steals my purse steals trash," quoted Dr. Zerner, "but he who goes to the Stadium, bets ten dollars and leaves the game with the remark 'They did not want to

Man Is Killed As Auto Plunges Over Embankment

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 26.—John C. Berrish of Bridgeville, Pa., was instantly killed near here early today when a car he was driving collided with another machine, and plunged over a steep embankment.

Hugh Feather, driver of the other car, was exonerated of blame after a preliminary investigation by Coroner Martin M. Moore.

State police charged they found a quantity of moonshine liquor at the scene of the wreck.

VOTE FAVORABLE TO ARBITRATION

Some Believe President Coolidge Should Ignore Senate's Action

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—President Coolidge had before him today the fact that the senate unanimously favors arbitrating the land law controversy with Mexico.

The vote on the Robinson resolution, advising the president to peaceably settle the dispute, afforded one of the rare occasions when the senate has solidly been in favor of something. The vote was 79 to 0. Republicans, Democrats, Insurgents, Protestants and Catholics, joined in registering an expression against armed conflict.

While there is nothing mandatory in the senate's action, as applied to the Coolidge-Kellogg policy the unanimity with which the senate acted is expected to be not without effect in determining the future steps in administration policy.

Cross-Examination On Story In Papers: "Why I Left Daddy Browning"

NURSE IS CALLED AFTER PEACHES

Mother Of Young Wife Sits Near In Case Of Another Breakdown

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURT HOUSE, White Plains, N. J., Jan. 26.—"Peaches" Browning, 16-year-old wife of Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, elderly millionaire of New York City resumed the witness stand for further cross-examination at the Browning separation trial today.

Clad in a blue silk dress and a blue cloche hat, which set off her blonde hair and complexion becomingly, "Peaches" took the stand at 10:04 a. m. She wore a little ball watch suspended from her neck on a thin, gold chain.

Judge John E. Mack of Browning's counsel began his cross-examination.

Why I Left Browning.

Q. You spoke of a contract with a syndicate for stories printed about you. Is this the story (handing her a picture of a tabloid paper)? Is that your signature under the story "Why I left Daddy Browning?"

A. It is.

While "Peaches" was identifying the newspaper stories, her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, came over to the witness stand and took a seat at her daughter's elbow. Mrs. Heenan said: "I want to be near Babe in case she breaks down again."

Browning was dressed immaculately in a blue suit and conspicuous blue and gold tie.

Mack repeatedly asked "Peaches" if this and that picture had been posed for "pursuant to your contract."

"Yes it was," "Peaches" reiterated.

Nineteen letters and two penciled letters were introduced and identified in all.

Concludes Examination.

When he finished introducing the letters Mack unexpectedly concluded his own examination at 10:40 a. m.

Browning looked squarely at his young, estranged wife as if to see what the effect was upon her. She seemed distraught and on the verge of another breakdown. She coughed nervously time and again.

Attorney Epstein took over the witness for short re-direct examination, regarding the letters and a published diary.

She was then excused from the stand—at 10:53 a. m.

Mrs. Catherine Mayer, a nurse, was called to the stand. She testified she had known "Peaches" and her mother for five years. She said she went to Cold Spring at Mrs. Heenan's request to pay the Brownings a visit after "Peaches" and "Daddy" were married.

She also attended "Peaches" when she suffered acid burns, the witness said.

"I heard Mr. and Mrs. Browning quarreling on their honeymoon at Cold Spring," Mrs. Mayer testified.

"One night, Mrs. Heenan and I were down stairs talking when we heard words upstairs. Then a scream. Mrs. Heenan rushed up

POST NOW HELD BY GREENVILLE MAN

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—Following conference between W. L. Mellon, chairman of the Republican state committee, and Gov. John S. Fisher, it was indicated here today that announcements will be forthcoming Monday from the governor as to appointments on the workmen's compensation board.

At least two of the three names will be presented to the senate for confirmation at that time, it is believed in well informed circles here.

Paul W. Houk, a present member of the board and Schuylkill county leader, looms as the brightest prospect for the chairmanship of the board.

Trio in Race.

John L. Morrison of Mercer county, a Pinchot appointee to the board, has been the grounds for much discussion among party leaders. Morrison has the backing of Senator Frank Fry of Mercer county, and also of the congressmen from his district. Charles H. Young of New Castle, with the support of Senator George T. Weingartner of New Castle, is also after the post. The third man in the race is Malcolm Simons, former Mercer county Republican chairman.

In view of the fact that Gov. Fisher is insisting that one of the three members of the board be a lawyer, it is believed that one of the three western Pennsylvania men will fill the second berth on the board. The third position may go to a Philadelphian. George C. Klauder of Philadelphia, a law partner of Harry A. Mackey, Senator-elect William S. Vare's campaign manager, is being mentioned for the place.

Yale Student Ends Own Life

Son Of Widely Known Author, Louis Untermyer, Hangs Self

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 26.—Richard Starr Untermyer, son of the widely known author, Louis Untermyer of New York city, was found dead in his room at Yale university today, a suicide by hanging.

Despondency over money matters and approaching "exams" is believed to have driven the youth to end his life. Among his effects was found a letter from his mother warning him that he had overdrawn his account "for the thirty-fourth time," and asking him to be more careful.

The letter, however, was written in the friendliest of terms, and classmates today were more inclined to blame fear of the approaching examinations for the suicide. They said young Untermyer had been studying hard, and the work had shown in a marked nervousness.

The youth had been dead for several hours when he was found hanging by a bathrobe cord.

OHIO RIVER IS RECEDING

(International News Service)

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Jan. 26.—Slowly receding flood waters of the Ohio river were expected to reach a level early tomorrow which will permit resumption of train schedules, suspended here since Saturday, when the water flooded railroad tracks in this vicinity, railroad officials here said today.

First trains to resume regular schedules will be used in bringing in supplies of foodstuffs, which ran dangerously low during the city's five day isolation.

Harding Case Near Finish

Mercer County Man's Second Trial Is Nearing Conclusion

(International News Service)

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 26.—The fate of Clyde Harding, New Vernon township farmer charged with having slain his neighbor, Wylie P. Mouck, during a quarrel September 5, 1925, today was expected to be placed in the hands of a jury late this week for the second time in county criminal court.

A previous jury found Harding guilty of the murder, but Judge J. A. McLaughry granted a new trial on claims of newly discovered evidence.

Ford Harding, 9-year-old son of the defendant, confused attorneys in the case for the second time here when he testified on direct examination that his father took a gun from the house with the avowed purpose of "killing a man," only to say on cross-examination that his father said he was taking a gun "to kill a groundhog."

His testimony in the first trial had been similar.

Mouck was found shot to death near a lane connecting his farm with that of Harding, and Harding's arrest and conviction followed.

CHURCH MEMBERS OFFER PRAYERS

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 26.—Prayer services will be held in the First Baptist church here tonight for the pastor, Rev. J. Frank Norris, who last night was acquitted by a jury in Travis county district court at Austin.

Rev. Norris had been on trial since January 10 on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of D. E. Chipps, Fort Worth lumberman, here last July 17.

The verdict was read in the court room at Austin at 6:50 o'clock last night, after the jury had been out of the court room since 4:38 p. m.

A score of church members, who stayed at the church here last night to await the verdict, immediately called a meeting of all church members.

Rev. Norris was to return here today from Austin in company with his wife and two sons.

Scott D. Long Passes Away

Dean Of Lawrence County Bar Association Dies At Home Here

LIFELONG RESIDENT OF THIS COMMUNITY

SCOTT D. LONG.

Scott D. Long, aged 80 years, one of New Castle's oldest citizens, died at his residence on East Falls street on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. He had not been in good health for the past two or three years, and about a week ago he became worse, and sank rapidly, passing away very quietly on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Long was born in New Castle on the south side of Big Run, on February 27, 1847, the son of David and Susan McCandless Long, and had spent almost all his life in New Castle. He received his earlier education in the public schools of New Castle.

In Union Army.

He enlisted in the Union Army during the Civil war at the age of 15 years, becoming a member of the Sixth Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery. Returning home after the war he completed his literary education at the Edinboro State Normal school and then deciding to study law he entered the office of Foster and McCandless at Mercer, Pa., studying there for two years and finishing his preliminary course with one year in the office of D. B. Kurtz of this city.

He was admitted to the Lawrence County Bar on May 11, 1869. He formed a partnership with S. W. Dana, which partnership lasted 38 years, until 1907 when it was dissolved and he opened his own offices in the Knox, Long and Mere-

Neutral Stand In Civil War In China To Be Continued

BRITISH PREPARE TO DEFEND CITY

United States Will Defend Its Citizens, It Is Stated At Washington

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—The United States will continue its neutral stand in the Chinese civil war, it was strongly emphasized at the State Department today.

But notwithstanding this attitude the government is intensely interested in the movement of two great Chinese armies near Hangchow, where a battle on a stupendous scale that will seal the fate of Shanghai is momentarily expected between northern troops under Chang Tso-Lin and Cantonese forces under Chang-Kai-Shek.

It has become obvious that this government's hope of averting a clash at Shanghai depends upon the outcome of the impending battle at Hangchow. Should Chang Tso-Lin be defeated, the victorious Cantonese are expected to sweep down upon Shanghai, making necessary the defense of the international city by force of arms.

Ready for Defense

The British and the Japanese already have taken unmistakable steps toward defending the city, the former having under way a "Shanghai defense force" consisting of almost 20,000 men.

Meanwhile, though it is virtually certain that it will be drawn into the fight, the United States remains undecided as to whether it will join in a common defense with the other powers.

The administration has been hoping against hope that such a step

Returns From Italy As College Is Afire

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Mrs. C. A. Dawson, wife of Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English at Westminster, arrived in New Wilmington, early Monday, after spending many months with her daughter Dorothy, who is studying in the Academy of Arts, at Rome, Italy.

Mrs. Dawson's return was touched with sadness. On her arrival in New York City, late Saturday night on the Roma, a ship of the Italian Steamship Line, she was met by Dr. Dawson who made a hurried trip to the metropolis. As Dr. Dawson and wife were rounding the top of Furnace Hill at about 7:45 a. m. Monday, they were greeted by a sight of the disastrous fire in Old Main, which reduced the structure to ashes.

Closer inspection of the building revealed to Dr. Dawson that hope of saving the contents of his office located on the second floor was useless. Personal effects to the extent that he would place no monetary value on them, were lost. Notes, the accumulation of many years as a teacher, were destroyed. His doctor's thesis, parts of which had been published and which he prized highly, was lost.

Miss Dorothy Dawson, daughter of Dr. Dawson and wife, is remaining in Rome to complete her studies. She is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University. She will join her parents during the summer.

College Students Stand Loyally By Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Displaying a wonderful cooperative spirit the students of Westminster College, are taking their semester exams this week without a murmur in make-shift class rooms.

The students realize that with Old Main, the historic administration building reduced to ashes by the disastrous fire of early Monday, inconveniences must be endured, they are taking the situation philosophically. They believe that the loss is theirs, not one individual's or group of individuals', and are ready to assist the administration of the college in circumventing the difficulties and making plans for a bigger and finer Old Main.

Several members of the college faculty were heavy losers. Among them were Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English and Mrs. Mary C. McConagha, teacher of public speaking. The offices of both, situated on the second floor of Old Main, almost directly above where the fire started, were early gutted by the fire. Both had notes and books for their respective sub-

For weeks the baseball fan has been, a gloomy sort of cuss, though at times he's shown some interest in the national pastime fuss. But most generally you've found him rather glum, and mostly blue, for he told you that in sport life there was little he could do. Football, basketball or handball, didn't interest a bit, indoor tennis he imagined was a sort of vaudeville skit. But the baseball fan is itrening, for to his practiced ear, he can tell the training season is but few weeks hence from here. Shortly all the athletes will begin their southern trek, and of pitching they'll be making, a complete and total wreck and the papers will be telling of the rookies who are in, then the baseball fan is sure that the season will begin. Now it isn't baseball weather, its just eighteen today, but a few short weeks the training will be getting under way.

Clad in a blue silk dress and a blue cloche hat, which set off her blonde hair and complexion becomingly, "Peaches" took the stand at 10:04 a. m. She wore a little ball watch suspended from her neck on a thin, gold chain.

Judge John E. Mack of Browning's counsel began his cross-examination.

Why I Left Browning.

Q. You spoke of a contract with a syndicate for stories printed about you. Is this the story (handing her a picture of a tabloid paper)? Is that your signature under the story "Why I left Daddy Browning?"

A. It is.

While "Peaches" was identifying the newspaper stories, her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, came over to the witness stand and took a seat at her daughter's elbow. Mrs. Heenan said: "I want to be near Babe in case she breaks down again."

Browning was dressed immaculately in a blue suit and conspicuous blue and gold tie.

Mack repeatedly asked "Peaches" if this and that picture had been posed for "pursuant to your contract."

"Yes it was," "Peaches" reiterated.

Nineteen letters and two penciled letters were introduced and identified in all.

Concludes Examination.

When he finished introducing the letters Mack unexpectedly concluded his own examination at 10:40 a. m.

Browning looked squarely at his young, estranged wife as if to see what the effect was upon her. She seemed distraught and on the verge of another breakdown. She coughed nervously time and again.

A previous jury found Harding guilty of the murder, but Judge J. A. McLaughry granted a new trial on claims of newly discovered evidence.

Ford Harding, 9-year-old son of the defendant, confused attorneys in the case for the second time here when he testified on direct examination that his father took a gun from the house with the avowed purpose of "killing a man," only to say on cross-examination that his father said he was taking a gun "to kill a groundhog."

His testimony in the first trial had been similar.

Mouck was found shot to death near a lane connecting his farm with that of Harding, and Harding's arrest and conviction followed.

Jury, Out Less Than Two Hours, Gives Pastor His Freedom

CHURCH MEMBERS OFFER PRAYERS

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 26.—Prayer services will be held in the First Baptist church here tonight for the pastor, Rev. J. Frank Norris, who last night was acquitted by a jury in Travis county district court at Austin.

Rev. Norris had been on trial since January 10 on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of D. E. Chipps, Fort Worth lumberman, here last July 17.

The verdict was read in the court room at Austin at 6:50 o'clock last night, after the jury had been out of the court room since 4:38 p. m.

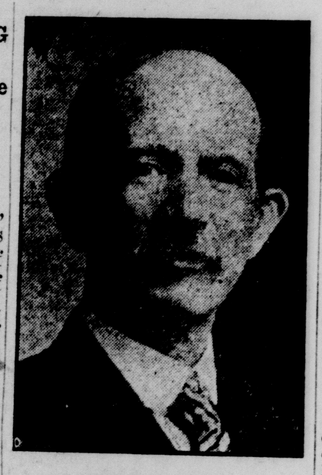

A score of church members, who stayed at the church here last night to await the verdict, immediately called a meeting of all church members.

Rev. Norris was to return here today from Austin in company with his wife and two sons.

Dean Of Lawrence County Bar Association Dies At Home Here

SCOTT D. LONG.

Scott D. Long, aged 80 years, one of New Castle's oldest citizens, died at his residence on East Falls street on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. He had not been in good health for the past two or three years, and about a week ago he became worse, and sank rapidly, passing away very quietly on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Long was born in New Castle on the south side of Big Run, on February 27, 1847, the son of David and Susan McCandless Long, and had spent almost all his life in New Castle. He received his earlier education in the public schools of New Castle.

In Union Army.

He enlisted in the Union Army during the Civil war at the age of 15 years, becoming a member of the Sixth Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery. Returning home after the war he completed his literary education at the Edinboro State Normal school and then deciding to study law he entered the office of Foster and McCandless at Mercer, Pa., studying there for two years and finishing his preliminary course with one year in the office of D. B. Kurtz of this city.

He was admitted to the Lawrence County Bar on May 11, 1869. He formed a partnership with S. W. Dana, which partnership lasted 38 years, until 1907 when it was dissolved and he opened his own offices in the Knox, Long and More-

Neutral Stand In Civil War In China To Be Continued

United States Will Defend Its Citizens, It Is Stated At Washington

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—The United States will continue its neutral stand in the Chinese civil war, it was strongly emphasized at the State Department today.

But notwithstanding this attitude the government is intensely interested in the movement of two great Chinese armies near Hangchow, where a battle on a stupendous scale that will seal the fate of Shanghai is momentarily expected between northern troops under Chang Tso-Lin and Cantonese forces under Chang-Kai-Shek.

It has become obvious that this government's hope of averting a clash at Shanghai depends upon the outcome of the impending battle at Hangchow. Should Chang Tso-Lin be defeated, the victorious Cantonese are expected to sweep down upon Shanghai, making necessary the defense of the international city by force of arms.

Ready for Defense

The British and the Japanese already have taken unmistakable steps toward defending the city, the former having under way a "Shanghai defense force" consisting of almost 20,000 men.

Meanwhile, though it is virtually certain that it will be drawn into the fight, the United States remains undecided as to whether it will join in a common defense with the other powers.

The administration has been hoping against hope that such a step

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Mrs. C. A. Dawson, wife of Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English at Westminster, arrived in New Wilmington, early Monday, after spending many months with her daughter Dorothy, who is studying in the Academy of Arts, at Rome, Italy.

Mrs. Dawson's return was touched with sadness. On her arrival in New York City, late Saturday night on the Roma, a ship of the Italian Steamship Line, she was met by Dr. Dawson who made a hurried trip to the metropolis. As Dr. Dawson and wife were rounding the top of Furnace Hill at about 7:45 a. m. Monday, they were greeted by a sight of the disastrous fire in Old Main, which reduced the structure to ashes.

Closer inspection of the building revealed to Dr. Dawson that hope of saving the contents of his office located on the second floor was useless. Personal effects to the extent that he would place no monetary value on them, were lost. Notes, the accumulation of many years as a teacher, were destroyed. His doctor's thesis, parts of which had been published and which he prized highly, was lost.

Miss Dorothy Dawson, daughter of Dr. Dawson and wife, is remaining in Rome to complete her studies. She is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University. She will join her parents during the summer.

College Students Stand Loyally By Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Displaying a wonderful cooperative spirit the students of Westminster College, are taking their semester exams this week without a murmur in make-shift class rooms.

The students realize that with Old Main, the historic administration building reduced to ashes by the disastrous fire of early Monday, inconveniences must be endured, they are taking the situation philosophically. They believe that the loss is theirs, not one individual's or group of individuals', and are ready to assist the administration of the college in circumventing the difficulties and making plans for a bigger and finer Old Main.

Several members of the college faculty were heavy losers. Among them were Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English and Mrs. Mary C. McConagha, teacher of public speaking. The offices of both, situated on the second floor of Old Main, almost directly above where the fire started, were early gutted by the fire. Both had notes and books for their respective sub-

For weeks the baseball fan has been, a gloomy sort of cuss, though at times he's shown some interest in the national pastime fuss. But most generally you've found him rather glum, and mostly blue, for he told you that in sport life there was little he could do. Football, basketball or handball, didn't interest a bit, indoor tennis he imagined was a sort of vaudeville skit. But the baseball fan is livening, for to his practiced ear, he can tell the training season is but few weeks hence from here. Shortly all the athletes will begin their southern trek, and of pitching they'll be making, a complete and total wreck and the papers will be telling of the rookies who are in, then the baseball fan is sure that the season will begin. Now it isn't baseball weather, its just eighteen today, but a few short weeks the training will be getting under way.

Mexico Ready To Arbitrate, Is Reported

Unconfirmed Reports From Mexico Said To Favor Arbitration Plan

SEEK SETTLEMENT OF NEW LAND LAW

Curtailment Of Production Brings About Action For Agreement

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY Jan. 26.—Unconfirmed reports that Mexico has a suggestion to offer the United States anent arbitration of the dispute over the Mexican oil and land laws were in circulation today, following the receipt of dispatches concerning the action of the United States senate in announcing in favor of arbitration.

The action of the senate was received here with a great deal of satisfaction and it was reported that when given the proper opportunity Mexico would have a proposal to make.

There is no doubt but what Mexico is anxious to bring the dispute to a point where eventual settlement is certain for already there has begun a curtailment of oil production and further reduction is anticipated.

Reduction of production affects not only the investments of the companies concerned but also raises a serious problem for the Mexican treasury. One-sixth of Mexico's annual income is received from petroleum and any restriction of these taxes is immediately felt.

Dr. Wallace, president of the college, was also a very heavy loser. Personal records which he had kept since his administration started, were destroyed. College manuals and other priceless college records which were kept in steel drawers, were unable to stand the terrific heat and were lost.

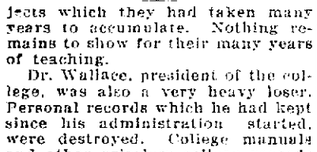

Several other members of the faculty lost valuable possessions. Many had books and notes in their respective rooms while several had placed books of their own on the library shelves for the benefit of the students.

PEACHES BROWNING ENDS TESTIMONY DURING MORNING

and brought 'Peaches' from her husband's room.

"Finally I prevailed upon 'Peaches' to go back upstairs to her husband," said Mrs. Mayer. "I told her I thought that was best."

She was then excused.

Mother Testifies.

"Peaches'" mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, was then called. She wore a blue dress and a black hat. She resembles "Peaches" in feature, although her hair is dark while Peaches' is a decided blonde. Mrs. Heenan is stout and matronly looking.

Epstein asked:

Q. Where was your daughter born?

A. In Columbus, Ohio. She is 16 years old.

Q. Are you divorced from your husband?

A. Yes. I divorced him in 1918.

Q. Your occupation has been what?

A. A nurse.

Q. Do you recall when you first met Mr. Browning?

A. March 15, 1926.

Q. Who introduced you to him?

A. My daughter.

Mrs. Heenan said "Peaches" had been to a dance and she was waiting up for her when she came home with Browning. Browning impressed her as a "very fine gentleman" on that occasion, said Mrs. Heenan.

Q. When your daughter went out on other occasions did your daughter always tell you where she was going?

A. She did.

Browning usually brought "Peaches" home about midnight.

One night Browning told her he had "serious intentions" regarding "Peaches", said Mrs. Heenan. On that occasion he showed her numerous letters written by girls who wanted to marry him, she said.

"Mr. Browning said we (meaning he and "Peaches") are going to run up to Cold Spring and get married. Can you go along? I said yes I could.

"Mr. Browning put a roll of bills in my hand and said I would need it for expenses."

Q. You knew Browning had proposed to her?

A. Yes.

She testified she went to Cold Spring and leased a house. She was accompanied by Francis G. Dale, Browning's attorney.

Mrs. Heenan said her daughter was married at Cold Spring on April 10, the next day.

Shortly after the marriage her daughter and Browning quarreled and she knew her daughter wasn't happy.

Tore Leaves From Diary.

COURT HOUSE, White Plains, N. J., Jan. 26.—"Peaches" Browning admitted under cross-examination in court today at the trial of the Browning separation case that the diary introduced yesterday as her diary was re-written by her so that she could keep some of the names of her "boy friends" out of the court records. It wasn't her original diary.

It was because she wanted to protect these friends, "Peaches" said, that she tore certain pages from her original diary a few after her marriage to Edward W. (Daddy) Browning.

She admitted under questioning by Judge John E. Mack, chief counsel for Browning, that the pages she tore out of the original diary contained the names of boys who had made love to her and to whom she had made love.

Neither diary, however, was admitted into evidence on the ground that they were not material.

Attending Fair Convention In Pittsburgh

Officers and secretaries of all Fair Associations in Pennsylvania are gathering at the Fort Pitt Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., for the meeting of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs, to be held today and tomorrow. R. R. McGeorge, secretary of speed of the New Castle Fair Association, left this morning to attend.

J. L. Burton, committeeman, and Miss Kathryn L. Klee, assistant secretary, will leave tonight.

All three of New Castle's representatives will be present at the banquet to be hold this evening in the Hotel.

However honorable, he fails to realize that his example affects other win'" was characterized as a sport of the sordid variety for his attempt to belittle honor.

Dr. Zerner told his audience composed mostly of young men who are nearing the time when they will step into the world, that they should fortify themselves for the test and in order to be fortified they should know the fundamentals of life.

Employing medical terms which he explained he told of the emotions that come to each at certain periods and of the manner in which they have a tendency to influence lives. He said that the truth should prevail.

He declared there are more seekers of the truth today than ever but pointed out that one big difficulty is that they may follow what they think is the truth and be warned in a way in which Dr. Zerner is inimitable, that they not be misled by apparent truth.

Not Responsible

The spokesman referred to a man who recently appeared in New Castle and during his speech made it obvious that he was not responsible to anyone. He said he would dislike for any of the young men present to obtain such an impression they are not responsible.

He delved again into his subject of the youth seeking truth and warned that "while you should keep the truth before you do not miss the spiritual as you go along in life." His remarks, highly instructive, were greeted with a thunder of applause.

Dr. Green Presides.

Dr. Green opened the banquet after the high school orchestra had played several numbers and the delicious food had been served by girl members of the student council.

He told of being associated with football in this vicinity 25 years ago and was one of the men who had Coach Phil Bridenbaugh make his entry into this territory.

He said he wanted to go on record as saying that never before has sportsmanship and the right type of idealism reached the point that it has attained just now.

"The best sportsmanship in New Castle is the best I have ever known," said Dr. Green. He said he is wholly in sympathy with the policies of the school and board and those who in a disinterested manner are supporting football here.

He said that care must be taken that the high sportsmanship and idealism must not be torn down. He added that there is an epidemic of good sportsmanship sweeping the country and he remarked:

"My honest opinion is that baseball is cleaner than ever. So is football. So we are very hopeful. It is our business to perpetuate good clean sportsmanship so ably represented by you members of the team this year."

Robinson Speaks.

Harry Robinson, 1926 captain, thanked his teammates for their co-operation and said it had been a great honor to have been captain of such a team. He paid a compliment to fans for the manner in which they had supported the eleven and said more fans would turn out when the rest of the stadium is built. He thanked the coaches for the knowledge they had imparted to him and said each of them knew his business after which he wished success to those, who like he, will graduate.

William Klee assistant coach reminded the boys of what they should do while playing the game, saying that the football players of Ne-Ca-High are models for the young boys who worship them and they should be careful always to do the right thing so that no little chap in pattering after them would have cause for regret. He said he was glad to know personally the boys have conducted themselves always as boys who can be patterned after by the youth of the city.

George "Peg" Thomas said while he is leaving school and the ranks of Ne-Ca-Hi gridders he and the others would be "back of the team next year." He warned against over confidence pointing out that this resulted in the deadlock with Mars, in his opinion. "It isn't what they are or where they come from, but how you play" that counts. Like Robinson he wished the 1927 team unbounded success.

Gives Admonition.

George "Gig" Thomas, assistant coach, told of his college career and said that players who will matriculate should "keep your mouth shut, a stiff upper lip and you will come through." He said that education came first and that he would not give up his diploma for any name that he might have made in athletics. He said that the boy who cannot "come through" in the classroom will not be of assistance to a football team and added that he expects the 1927 team to be the best the school has ever had.

Robert Millison made a plea for the formation and organization of a varsity club, composed of lettermen, which he said would be able to help the officials and athletic associations carry on at Ne-Ca-Hi. He told of his entry here and said that in football ranks contain the highest type of American manhood. He said he marked this first day on the team as the beginning of a new life and told of his days at Ne-Ca-Hi, paying praise to his teammates for the years that he has tried to carry on for the school.

Ralph Gardner, manager of athletics, said that the local school is carrying on in music, dramatics and athletics and pointed out that the courage so vital in athletics was exhibited by George Young in his swim across the channel from Catalina isle. He told of the appeal the team had to the people and referred to its clean tactics after which he pointed out that in the Army-Navy game at Chicago not one penalty was inflicted, excepting for off-side play. He said "we have a few faults but a great spirit" and in referring to the Donora game said the coach had remarked to him that "Donora was to blame." He referred to the crowd running after the player who took the ball.

Coach Bridenbaugh.

Introducing Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Dr. Green told of being one of several who secured "Bridie" from Kiski college to coach in the Beaver valley and of his being in this vicinity ever since. He said Bridenbaugh is responsible in a great measure for the high type of sportsmanship and record of Ne-Ca-Hi football.

Coach Bridenbaugh said that for several years he coached because he want to make a living and for eight years he coached for that reason. Since then, however, he has changed and coaches and teaches now, not because he wants to make a living "but because I like it and it is something I am fitted to do and believe I have qualifications to make a fair success with teams.

"I believe that unless something unforeseen happens I will be coaching as long as I can get a position." He said there is a fascination about coaching as a coach takes the players, whom he characterized as pieces and moulds them into a machine. It must be improved and brought to a point of near perfection.

"You can make a machine but you must give that machine a soul," he said. "If your coach, manager, assistants and traditions can combine to put a soul in that machine, you will have a great machine."

He recalled the first half of the Donora game and said the team lacked the endeavor which was not working as it should. Things changed in the second half, however, said Bridenbaugh, when courage and endeavor abounded.

He related the performances of George Young and said that it was not physique that carried him thru as other swimmers had better physiques. He had an ideal for which to fight. He was fighting for his mother's sake. He kicked out the cramps. That was the spark that carried him through—the ideal.

"You can have another Syracuse trophy to place alongside the one you got," he told his audience. "It is not too high for you. You know what to do to get it and if you have that spark we will have another cup to present to you," said Bridenbaugh as the banquet hall rocked with applause.

Members of the school board, the members of the football team of 1926 and representatives of the press attended the banquet which was served by girl members of the student council. The cafeteria was decorated with red and black and favors consisted of miniature footballs and the high school colors.

The team will lose not only Captain Harry Robinson but other players, as follows, by graduation: Mott, Klaber, Kirk, Thomas, Di Thomas, Millison, Ulrich and Dixon. Jack Christman is captain-elect. All of the boys who have carried the red and black next to their heart in the battles that have gone before pledged themselves to always in every best way possible to perpetuate the honor of New Castle high school.

head building, maintaining these offices until his death.

On April 11, 1872, he married Eva Falls Morehead and to this union five children were born, Mrs. John Elder, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Perry, David H. Long, George S. Long and Frank Long, all of whom survive except the last named, Frank, who died in infancy.

Mr. Long built his first residence on North Mercer street on the property now owned and occupied by the Lawrence club, and in 1882 he built the residence on East Falls street which he occupied until his death.

Served on School Board.

Mr. Long served several terms as a member of the school board of this city. He was a member of the building committe of the First Presbyterian church, also serving a number of years on the board of trustees of the church.

He was a member of the G. A. R. and after the World War he became interested in and was a trustee of the Legion Home on North Jefferson street. He was also a member of Lodge of the Craft No. 433, F. and A. M.

Throughout his life he was interested in public affairs and charities and as a citizen, he was identified with every movement for the betterment of his community and state.

In addition to the children already mentioned he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Samuel Brenneman of Leesburg, and a half-sister, Mrs. Daniel Morris of Lincoln avenue, this city, also five grandchildren, three sons of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Perry and two sons of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Long.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, 311 East Falls street. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

would not become necessary, and has drawn no plans, as far as could be ascertained today, to co-operate with the other powers. The only public pronouncement in this regard has been the White House statement that "we will do the best we can" there to protect American lives and property.

Shanghai Situation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The situation at Shanghai, principal foreign port in China, was officially described by the state department today as being "very delicate." There are more than 4,000 Americans among the foreigners there.

Secretary of State Kellogg declined to say what instructions have been forwarded to Admiral C. S. Williams, commandant of the American naval forces there, in the event of an attack on Shanghai by Cantonese Nationalist forces. It is assumed, however, that Williams will either land troops enough to protect American lives and property or evacuate those Americans who wish to leave.

the college will meet with the committee, and it is indicated that tentative plans will be made for immediate action on the part of the college board.

Sessions of Westminster are proceeding in the temporary quarters which have been provided in the various college buildings and the churches of New Wilmington.

Walls May Fall

No effort has as yet been made to remove the college safes from the ruins of the fire-wrecked building, and none will be taken until the hazard of falling walls is eliminated. Some of the inner walls of the old building, which are still standing, are in a precarious condition, and these will probably have to be toppled over before the safes can be removed or can be opened. It is possible that some of the college records in steel filing cabinets in the ruins will also be saved, it is believed today.

There is still some smoldering blaze in one corner of the building this morning.

The insurance adjusters have completed their work here and will make their report at once.

Appreciates Expressions

President Wallace said this morning that he desired to publicly express appreciation on the part of the college for the flood of messages of sympathy and support that has been received from the intercollegiate world, the college adherents, former students, alumni and others.

Dr. Wallace also wishes to publicly express his appreciation of the loyalty that has been shown by the student body in the crisis in the affairs of the college.

Semester examinations are proceeding today and rush orders have been sent for text books to be used in classes during the second semester, so that school can be continued during the coming week.

Attorney James A. Chambers of New Castle is a member of the Prudential committee and received notice of the meeting this morning. The meeting will be held in the Monongahela Bank building Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

tice of senate opinion. This cognizance will be expressed, it is anticipated, either by means of a message to congress, similar in purport and expression to that which he recently sent concerning Nicaragua, or by the publication of a formal statement, setting forth the fundamentals of the Mexican problem from the White House viewpoint. Such a message, addressed either to the congress or to the public generally, would simply put the administration's case before the country.

Some of Mr. Coolidge's advisers believe he should ignore the senate's action, letting his silence constitute a "rebuke" to the senate for encroachment upon the executive's direction of foreign affairs. These are in the minority, however. The majority of administration officials consider the Robinson resolution affords the president an unequalled opportunity to communicate a statement of his position to the country, to Mexico, and to the world.

Mr. Coolidge has consistently maintained that the only question at stake in the Mexican controversy is: "Shall American property be confiscated without being paid for?" He has stated his belief that if the American people once realized this fact the opposition to the administration's Mexican policy would vanish. The senate's adoption of the Robinson resolution now affords him the opportunity to drive his point home, according to his advisers. They were urging him today to lose no time in doing so.

Honorary pallbearers were Mrs. Ernius Casachia, Mrs. Joseph De Robbio, Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. Arthur Ippolitto, Mrs. John Armand and Mrs. Mike Casella. Active pallbearers were Peter Vitale, Andrew Ballentine, Joseph R. Gargone, H. E. Rass, William Cubellis and D. Marcella. Vitis Conti and Amelio Strizzi sang.

Walter King Funeral.

Funeral services for Walter Russell King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert King of Butler avenue, took place Tuesday afternoon from the residence in charge of Rev. C. O. Frank of Bethany Lutheran church. Burial was made in Oak Park cemetery.

William Barut.

William Barut, aged 15 years, of 519 Denver avenue, died Tuesday evening after an extended illness.

He was a student in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school in grade 8B. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barut, he leaves three brothers, John, Joseph and George and one sister.

Funeral services will take place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from Holy Trinity Polish Catholic church. Requiem high mass will be celebrated by Rev. Basil Sychia. Interment will be made in Holy Trinity cemetery.

Mrs. Bevan Buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hannah Bevan took place Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from the residence, 1020 DuShane street, with Rev. Samuel Whilding of the First Congregational church officiating. The services were largely attended. A profusion of beautiful floral emblems testified of the high esteem held by the many friends of Mrs Bevan. Pallbearers were William H. Klingensmith, John Jenkins, David Evans, William Phillips, John Davis and James Hares. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

John Wanamaker's Rules for Failure.

An unsuccessful man does not have to look far for the cause of his trouble. It is generally in himself. It may be any one of this dozen of little things:

1. He forgets that his worth is manifest by what he produces in management or sales.
2. He finds excuses for not doing instead of finding ways to do what should be done.
3. The world goes ahead in almost every direction, and he keeps on the humdrum turnpike, where somebody will have to pay the tolls.
4. He is not observant, accurate or thoughtful.
5. He is sailing by the broken compass of chance.
6. He flatters himself by comparing himself in his own mirror instead of with others that have passed him in the race.
8. He does not love his work as he used to and therefore his enthusiasms have been lost.
9. He puts off too many things until tomorrow.
10. He is unconscious of being much of his time, and lets the days go by lacking results he could have obtained.
11. His lack of thoroughness blocks his leadership.

Mexico Ready To Arbitrate, Is Reported

Unconfirmed Reports From Mexico Said To Favor Arbitration Plan

SEEK SETTLEMENT OF NEW LAND LAW

Curtailment Of Production Brings About Action For Agreement

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY Jan. 26.—Unconfirmed reports that Mexico has a suggestion to offer the United States anent arbitration of the dispute over the Mexican oil and land laws were in circulation today, following the receipt of dispatches concerning the action of the United States senate in announcing in favor of arbitration.

The action of the senate was received here with a great deal of satisfaction and it was reported that when given the proper opportunity Mexico would have a proposal to make.

There is no doubt but what Mexico is anxious to bring the dispute to a point where eventual settlement is certain for already there has begun a curtailment of oil production and further reduction is anticipated.

Reduction of production affects not only the investments of the companies concerned but also raises a serious problem for the Mexican treasury. One-sixth of Mexico's annual income is received from petroleum and any restriction of these taxes is immediately felt.

jects which they had taken many years to accumulate. Nothing remains to show for their many years of teaching.

Dr. Wallace, president of the college, was also a very heavy loser. Personal records which he had kept since his administration started, were destroyed. College manuals and other priceless college records which were kept in steel drawers, were unable to stand the terrific heat and were lost.

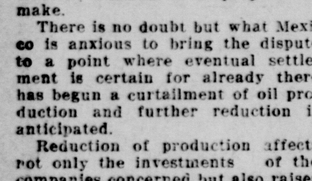

Several other members of the faculty lost valuable possessions. Many had books and notes in their respective rooms while several had placed books of their own on the library shelves for the benefit of the students.

PEACHES BROWNING ENDS TESTIMONY DURING MORNING

and brought 'Peaches' from her husband's room.

"Finally I prevailed upon 'Peaches' to go back upstairs to her husband," said Mrs. Mayer. "I told her I thought that was best."

She was then excused.

Mother Testifies.

"Peaches'" mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, was then called. She wore a blue dress and a black hat. She resembles "Peaches" in feature, although her hair is dark while Peaches' is a decided blonde. Mrs. Heenan is stout and matronly looking.

Epstein asked:

Q. Where was your daughter born?

A. In Columbus, Ohio. She is 16 years old.

Q. Are you divorced from your husband?

A. Yes. I divorced him in 1918.

Q. Your occupation has been what?

A. A nurse.

Q. Do you recall when you first met Mr. Browning?

A. March 15, 1926.

Q. Who introduced you to him?

A. My daughter.

Mrs. Heenan said "Peaches" had been to a dance and she was waiting up for her when she came home with Browning. Browning impressed her as a "very fine gentleman" on that occasion, said Mrs. Heenan.

Q. When your daughter went out on other occasions did your daughter always tell you where she was going?

A. She did.

Browning usually brought "Peaches" home about midnight.

One night Browning told her he had "serious intentions" regarding "Peaches", said Mrs. Heenan. On that occasion he showed her numerous letters written by girls who wanted to marry him, she said.

"Mr. Browning said we (meaning he and "Peaches") are going to run up to Cold Spring and get married. Can you go along? I said yes I could.

"Mr. Browning put a roll of bills in my hand and said I would need it for expenses."

Q. You knew Browning had proposed to her?

A. Yes.

She testified she went to Cold Spring and leased a house. She was accompanied by Francis G. Dale, Browning's attorney.

Mrs. Heenan said her daughter was married at Cold Spring on April 10, the next day.

Shortly after the marriage her daughter and Browning quarreled and she knew her daughter wasn't happy.

Tore Leaves From Diary.

COURT HOUSE, White Plains, N. J., Jan. 26.—"Peaches" Browning admitted under cross-examination in court today at the trial of the Browning separation case that the diary introduced yesterday as her diary was re-written by her so that she could keep some of the names of her "boy friends" out of the court records. It wasn't her original diary.

It was because she wanted to protect these friends, "Peaches" said, that she tore certain pages from her original diary a few after her marriage to Edward W. (Daddy) Browning.

She admitted under questioning by Judge John E. Mack, chief counsel for Browning, that the pages she tore out of the original diary contained the names of boys who had made love to her and to whom she had made love.

Neither diary, however, was admitted into evidence on the ground that they were not material.

Attending Fair Convention In Pittsburgh

Officers and secretaries of all Fair Associations in Pennsylvania are gathering at the Fort Pitt Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., for the meeting of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs, to be held today and tomorrow. R. R. McGeorge, secretary of speed of the New Castle Fair Association, left this morning to attend.

J. L. Burton, committeeman, and Miss Kathryn L. Klee, assistant secretary, will leave tonight.

All three of New Castle's representatives will be present at the banquet to be hold this evening in the Hotel.

However honorable, he fails to realize that his example affects other

win'" was characterized as a sport of the sordid variety for his attempt to belittle honor.

Dr. Zerner told his audience composed mostly of young men who are nearing the time when they will step into the world, that they should fortify themselves for the test and in order to be fortified they should know the fundamentals of life.

Employing medical terms which he explained he told of the emotions that come to each at certain periods and of the manner in which they have a tendency to influence lives. He said that the truth should prevail.

He declared there are more seekers of the truth today than ever but pointed out that one big difficulty is that they may follow what they think is the truth and he warned in a way in which Dr. Zerner is inimitable, that they not be misled by apparent truth.

Not Responsible

The spokesman referred to a man who recently appeared in New Castle and during his speech made it obvious that he was not responsible to anyone. He said he would dislike for any of the young men present to obtain such an impression they are not responsible.

He delved again into his subject of the youth seeking truth and warned that "while you should keep the truth before you do not miss the spiritual as you go along in life." His remarks, highly instructive, were greeted with a thunder of applause.

Dr. Green Presides.

Dr. Green opened the banquet after the high school orchestra had played several numbers and the delicious food had been served by girl members of the student council.

He told of being associated with football in this vicinity 25 years ago and was one of the men who had Coach Phil Bridenbaugh make his entry into this territory.

He said he wanted to go on record as saying that never before has sportsmanship and the right type of idealism reached the point that it has attained just now.

"The best sportsmanship in New Castle is the best I have ever known," said Dr. Green. He said he is wholly in sympathy with the policies of the school and board and those who in a disinterested manner are supporting football here.

He said that care must be taken that the high sportsmanship and idealism must not be torn down. He added that there is an epidemic of good sportsmanship sweeping the country and he remarked:

"My honest opinion is that baseball is cleaner than ever. So is football. So we are very hopeful. It is our business to perpetuate good clean sportsmanship so ably represented by you members of the team this year."

Robinson Speaks.

Harry Robinson, 1926 captain, thanked his teammates for their co-operation and said it had been a great honor to have been captain of such a team. He paid a compliment to fans for the manner in which they had supported the eleven and said more fans would turn out when the rest of the stadium is built. He thanked the coaches for the knowledge they had imparted to him and said each of them knew his business after which he wished success to those, who like he, will graduate.

William Klee assistant coach reminded the boys of what they should do while playing the game, saying that the football players of Ne-Ca-High are models for the young boys who worship them and they should be careful always to do the right thing so that no little chap in pattering after them would have cause for regret. He said he was glad to know personally the boys have conducted themselves always as boys who can be patterned after by the youth of the city.

George "Peg" Thomas said while he is leaving school and the ranks of Ne-Ca-Hi gridders he and the others would be "back of the team next year." He warned against over confidence pointing out that this resulted in the deadlock with Mars, in his opinion. "It isn't what they are or where they come from, but how you play" that counts. Like Robinson he wished the 1927 team unbounded success.

Gives Admonition.

George "Gig" Thomas, assistant coach, told of his college career and said that players who will matriculate should "keep your mouth shut, a stiff upper lip and you will come through." He said that education came first and that he would not give up his diploma for any name that he might have made in athletics. He said that the boy who cannot "come through" in the classroom will not be of assistance to a football team and added that he expects the 1927 team to be the best the school has ever had.

Robert Millison made a plea for the formation and organization of a varsity club, composed of lettermen, which he said would be able to help the officials and athletic associations carry on at Ne-Ca-Hi. He told of his entry here and said that in football ranks contain the highest type of American manhood. He said he marked this first day on the team as the beginning of a new life and told of his days at Ne-Ca-Hi, paying praise to his teammates for the years that he has tried to carry on for the school.

Ralph Gardner, manager of athletics, said that the local school is carrying on in music, dramatics and athletics and pointed out that the courage so vital in athletics was exhibited by George Young in his swim across the channel from Catalina isle. He told of the appeal the team had to the people and referred to its clean tactics after which he pointed out that in the Army-Navy game at Chicago not one penalty was inflicted, excepting for off-side play. He said "we have a few faults but a great spirit" and in referring to the Donora game said the coach had remarked to him that "Donora was to blame." He referred to the crowd running after the player who took the ball.

Coach Bridenbaugh.

Introducing Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Dr. Green told of being one of several who secured "Bridie" from Kiski college to coach in the Beaver valley and of his being in this vicinity ever since. He said Bridenbaugh is responsible in a great measure for the high type of sportsmanship and record of Ne-Ca-Hi football.

Coach Bridenbaugh said that for several years he coached because he want to make a living and for eight years he coached for that reason. Since then, however, he has changed and coaches and teaches now, not because he wants to make a living "but because I like it and it is something I am fitted to do and believe I have qualifications to make a fair success with teams.

"I believe that unless something unforeseen happens I will be coaching as long as I can get a position." He said there is a fascination about coaching as a coach takes the players, whom he characterized as pieces and moulds them into a machine. It must be improved and brought to a point of near perfection.

"You can make a machine but you must give that machine a soul," he said. "If your coach, manager, assistants and traditions can combine to put a soul in that machine, you will have a great machine."

He recalled the first half of the Donora game and said the team lacked the endeavor which was not working as it should. Things changed in the second half, however, said Bridenbaugh, when courage and endeavor abounded.

He related the performances of George Young and said that it was not physique that carried him thru as other swimmers had better physiques. He had an ideal for which to fight. He was fighting for his mother's sake. He kicked out the cramps. That was the spark that carried him through—the ideal.

"You can have another Syracuse trophy to place alongside the one you got," he told his audience. "It is not too high for you. You know what to do to get it and if you have that spark we will have another cup to present to you," said Bridenbaugh as the banquet hall rocked with applause.

Members of the school board, the members of the football team of 1926 and representatives of the press attended the banquet which was served by girl members of the student council. The cafeteria was decorated with red and black and favors consisted of miniature footballs and the high school colors.

The team will lose not only Captain Harry Robinson but other players, as follows, by graduation: Mott, Klaber, Kirk, Thomas, Di Thomas, Millison, Ulrich and Dixon. Jack Christman is captain-elect. All of the boys who have carried the red and black next to their heart in the battles that have gone before pledged themselves to always in every best way possible to perpetuate the honor of New Castle high school.

head building(maintaining these offices until his death.

On April 11, 1872, he married Eva Falls Morehead and to this union five children were born, Mrs. John Elder, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Perry, David H. Long, George S. Long and Frank Long, all of whom survive except the last named, Frank, who died in infancy.

Mr. Long built his first residence on North Mercer street on the property now owned and occupied by the Lawrence club, and in 1882 he built the residence on East Falls street which he occupied until his death.

Served on School Board.

Mr. Long served several terms as a member of the school board of this city. He was a member of the building committe of the First Presbyterian church, also serving a number of years on the board of trustees of the church.

He was a member of the G. A. R. and after the World War he became interested in and was a trustee of the Legion Home on North Jefferson street. He was also a member of Lodge of the Craft No. 433, F. and A. M.

Throughout his life he was interested in public affairs and charities and as a citizen, he was identified with every movement for the beterment of his community and state.

In addition to the children already mentioned he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Samuel Brenneman of Leesburg, and a half-sister, Mrs. Daniel Morris of Lincoln avenue, this city, also five grandchildren, three sons of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Perry and two sons of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Long.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, 311 East Falls street. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

would not become necessary, and has drawn no plans, as far as could be ascertained today, to co-operate with the other powers. The only public pronouncement in this regard has been the White House statement that "we will do the best we can" there to protect American lives and property.

Shanghai Situation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The situation at Shanghai, principal foreign port in China, was officially described by the state department today as being "very delicate." There are more than 4,000 Americans among the foreigners there.

Secretary of State Kellogg declined to say what instructions have been forwarded to Admiral C. S. Williams, commandant of the American naval forces there, in the event of an attack on Shanghai by Cantonese Nationalist forces. It is assumed, however, that Williams will either land troops enough to protect American lives and property or evacuate those Americans who wish to leave.

CALL MEETING TO MAKE PLANS FOR REBUILDING

the college will meet with the committee, and it is indicated that tentative plans will be made for immediate action on the part of the college board.

Sessions of Westminster are proceeding in the temporary quarters which have been provided in the various college buildings and the churches of New Wilmington.

Walls May Fall

No effort has as yet been made to remove the college safes from the ruins of the fire-wrecked building, and none will be taken until the hazard of falling walls is eliminated. Some of the inner walls of the old building, which are still standing, are in a precarious condition, and these will probably have to be toppled over before the safes can be removed or can be opened. It is possible that some of the college records in steel filing cabinets in the ruins will also be saved, it is believed today.

There is still some smoldering blaze in one corner of the building this morning.

The insurance adjusters have completed their work here and will make their report at once.

Appreciates Expressions

President Wallace said this morning that he desired to publicly express appreciation on the part of the college for the flood of messages of sympathy and support that has been received from the intercollegiate world, the college adherents, former students, alumni and others.

Dr. Wallace also wishes to publicly express his appreciation of the loyalty that has been shown by the student body in the crisis in the affairs of the college.

Semester examinations are proceeding today and rush orders have been sent for text books to be used in classes during the second semester, so that school can be continued during the coming week.

Attorney James A. Chambers of New Castle is a member of the Prudential committee and received notice of the meeting this morning. The meeting will be held in the Monongahela Bank building Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

tice of senate opinion. This cognizance will be expressed, it is anticipated, either by means of a message to congress, similar in purport and expression to that which he recently sent concerning Nicaragua, or by the publication of a formal statement, setting forth the fundamentals of the Mexican problem from the White House viewpoint. Such a message, addressed either to the congress or to the public generally, would simply put the administration's case before the country.

Some of Mr. Coolidge's advisers believe he should ignore the senate's action, letting his silence constitute a "rebuke" to the senate for encroachment upon the executive's direction of foreign affairs. These are in the minority, however. The majority of administration officials consider the Robinson resolution affords the president an unequalled opportunity to communicate a statement of his position to the country, to Mexico, and to the world.

Mr. Coolidge has consistently maintained that the only question at stake in the Mexican controversy is: "Shall American property be confiscated without being paid for?" He has stated his belief that if the American people once realized this fact the opposition to the administration's Mexican policy would vanish. The senate's adoption of the Robinson resolution now affords him the opportunity to drive his point home, according to his advisers. They were urging him today to lose no time in doing so.

"PAIN WAS DRIVING ME WILD"

Snowbound on remote farm, gets relief from acute neuralgia

Snowbound and alone on a remote farm, miles from a doctor, a plucky Canadian woman endured for hours the racking agony of acute neuralgia.

"The pain in my head was driving me wild," she writes, "when I happened to see a bottle of Sloan's Liniment on the dresser. I gave it a trial and in no time the pain was gone. I slept peacefully the rest of the night."

Sloan's gives quick, genuine comfort to every kind of muscular pain because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It helps the body to throw off the conditions that are causing the pain.

No need to rub. Pat a little Sloan's on lightly. A healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood begins tingling through the aching place and the pain, swelling, stiffness are quickly relieved. So clean and easy to use, too. All druggists—35 cents.

Modern Women's Hygiene

Ends worries of old ways
Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

SHEER gowns and gay frocks, business and social exactments under the most trying of hygienic handicaps are a comfort women of today enjoy.

This because old hygienic ways are being widely supplanted by a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

It's 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads." Thus you wear lightest frocks; dance, motor, go for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too; thus ending all fear of offense. 8 in 10 better class women now employ this way. Doctors advise it. Nurses widely urge it. Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "KOTEX."

Try today and you'll never again risk the uncertainty of old ways. Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Big Crowd Indicated At Foreign Vets Show

According to reports received by those in charge of the musical play "Bimbo" to be presented Thursday and Friday evenings at the Scottish Rite Cathedral under the auspices of Corporal Harry L. McBride Post, No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, tickets are going fast and there is every indication that record crowds will be in attendance each evening. The play to be presented is interesting and the cast has been trained faithfully and will present a finished production. The play will start promptly at 8:15 p. m., each evening.

Modern Women's Hygiene
Ends worries of old ways
Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

SHEER gowns and gay frocks, business and social exactments under the most trying of hygienic handicaps are a comfort women of today enjoy.

This because old hygienic ways are being widely supplanted by a new way called Kotex.

✔ Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

It's 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads." Thus you wear lightest frocks; dance, motor, go for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too; thus ending all fear of offense. 8 in 10 better class women now employ this way. Doctors advise it. Nurses widely urge it. Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "KOTEX."

Try today and you'll never again risk the uncertainty of old ways. Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

PERCENTAGE OF AMERICANS AT WORK

A REPORT of the National Industrial Conference Board to show that less than four out of every ten persons in the United States are working for a living requires careful consideration if its true meaning is to be measured.

The ratio of gainfully employed persons to the population is steadily declining—it dropped between 1910 and 1920 and there has been a further decline since that time. Why? Are we developing a race of parasites carried on the shoulders of the workers, as was the case in many countries of Europe from which our ancestors emigrated? asks the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Not at all. We are an intensively industrious people. The statistics mean that we are giving our children a better chance for education, that boys and girls do not enter regular employment at such an early age as they did ten or twenty years ago. Compulsory education laws and minimum age employment laws have seen to that, and fewer immature bodies are being used in industry.

This has been made possible, of course, by lifting the burden of grinding poverty from the worker which caused children to be sent to work to eke out the family income in the "bad old days." They are gone, but they fell before the American system of life which has developed maximum earning power for the individual and multiplied the enjoyments and opportunities of existence. The laws would not have been beneficial if they had worked a hardship.

It is a priceless gift to our posterity therefore that is witnessed by the statistics showing a decrease in the working percentage of our population. The ratio has declined from 41.5 per cent in 1910 to 37.2 per cent in 1925. It was 39.4 per cent in 1920, when comparative figures were available, showing 56.6 per cent employed in Germany, 44 per cent in Great Britain, 53.3 per cent in France and 46.8 in Italy.

Analysis of the figures does not make it clear whether the real head of the household is considered as employed or unemployed, though there are indications that she has been listed as not employed. This may do for purposes of statistical comparison, but it is not a satisfactory measurement if it ignores the occupation of a mother raising a new generation of citizens and lists, for example, a cabaret entertainer as "employed."

FOOD CANNING NOT YET OVERDONE

TWELVE cans of corn, peas and tomatoes will be the per capita supply available this year for the inhabitants of the United States. The figures were announced at Atlantic City, where several conventions of food dealers are in progress.

As an illustration of how far we are from becoming a delicatessen-maintained nation the data are significant. Even if the tomato crop of 1926 had been a full one instead of half of the previous year, it still would be evident that our stored surplus could hardly take care of our needs if a famine were to occur. These calamities, of course, belong largely to the past or to countries without great crop variety.

Among more fortunate people, however, the blessings of refrigeration and food preservation are apparently of secondary consequence. To a surprising degree, then, we still depend on fresh vegetables, fresh meats and freshly cooked pastry products.

One reason why more vegetables are not commercially preserved is the difficulty of harvesting and distributing. Too much is allowed to spoil on the ground. Co-operative harvesting might help solve this problem. Meanwhile it has become plain that the can opener has not yet become the national emblem.

Faint heart or complexion ne'er won a husband.

Long trousers are now said to be one cause of ill-health by a London physician. If this keeps up all we will be advised to wear will be wrist watch and a cane.

DREAMS

One broken dream is not the end of dreaming.
One shattered hope is not the end of all.
Beyond the storm and tempest stars are gleaming.
Still build your castles, though your castles fall.

Though many dreams come tumbling in disaster
And pain and heartache meet us down the years,
Still keep your faith, your dreams and hopes to master
And seek to find the lesson of your tears.

Not all is as it should be! See how littered
With sorry wreckage is life's restless stream.
Some dreams are vain, but be you not embittered
And never cry that you have ceased to dream!

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:11. Sun rises tomorrow 7:13.

Old men who like their girl friends young are called "Chick Hunters" and old girls who like young men are called "Veal Hunters". We have heard 'em called worse than that.

An automobile dealer does not think half as much of a car the day after he sold it as he did the day before he sold it. There isn't anything that depreciates as fast as a sold car. They are absolutely junk as far as the dealer is concerned until they are traded in on a new car, and the new car becomes junk immediately as far as the man who sold it is concerned.

We would rather hear our little two-year-old grandson try to sing "It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning" than any high-priced opera singer in America.

And another good co-educational institution is a four-year-old son. So many people just live beyond the grocer's means.

A saleswoman who was very hard of hearing had her hearing restored when she fell 50 feet down an elevator shaft and she was not any the worse for the tumble otherwise. It isn't often people get cured of being hard of hearing by taking a tumble to themselves, but they keep out of lots of trouble otherwise by taking a tumble to themselves.

There are people in New Castle who think that every bum who blows into this city should be given a meal ticket and an invitation to visit for a time. Of course, someone else is to furnish the money for the entertainment of the bozos who do not want any work. If it would get to be generally known over this country that we are having open house for that kind of birds, all the crooks in the country would head this way.

A medical student in Wisconsin committed suicide and he left a note saying he wanted to find out what happened after death. Not many let their curiosity carry that far.

An Ohio man who was looking for a gas leak with a lighted match blew up his house and was blown into the flood water of the Ohio river that surrounded his house and was nearly drowned. It seems to us a short prayer on his part would have been very appropriate when he struck the dry land.

When we get two judges here some time, we may have one county detective, anyhow.

There are 12,000 Americans in China, and about half of them are missionaries. There is a lot of trouble there over Americans and we are not told if it is caused by the missionaries or the others. There is not wet and dry stuff there, so it isn't that.

It is said that more small children are hurt at home than on the streets of this country. If it is meant little kiddos too small to get out, it seems that is true. It don't take very much to hurt the little chaps. In fact, they do it themselves.

The U. S. Senate representing as it is supposed to the best legal and business talent of the country could save a lot of time and money by having one committee investigate the election of Frank Smith of Illinois and William S. Vare of this state. But instead, separate committes are working on them each with a large appropriation and it will be months before the final reports will be made.

In a few short years it will be "air's busy" instead of "line's busy."

The flappers in Siam are said to be 500 years ahead of the American brand of the present day, dressing according to missionary reports like the men of years ago. But we think it won't take the flapper 500 more years to get back to the original Eve costume.

If anyone ever does decide to kidnap Aimee we hope the arrangement is made permanent.

A good many people would like to know the name of the traveling man who suggests black, yellow and green for the city colors, and gives his reasons therefore. He'd travel all right but it wouldn't be in New Castle but out of it.

On February 10 a great concert is to be given at the Scottish Rite Cathedral by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra. Tickets are going to be scarce for this great event when the sale opens. You remember what we told you about the community dinner tickets. They were surely scarce enough to suit most any person. Buy 'em early!

There never was a cavity in a tooth that a man's tongue wouldn't fit. Ain't nature grand?

When C. Chaplin and his wife fell out the government got wise by their cracks and as a result is going to collect a million or two back taxes from the funny boy. Those foreign boys who come here just for our money ought to be sports enough to at least pay their income taxes. Charley left little things like paying taxes to his employes but according to the missus there are other things he looked after personally.

Now we are told that fish are of no particular value as food. Seems to us it was said they were brain food. We have seen people who dearly loved fish and ate them frequently, but brains was one of the things they never had.

Putting on the modern stockings is quite an accomplishment. Getting the seam on the back straight is a fine art and keeping them from wrinkling about the ankles is also home high hat stuff. In the old days when stockings were worn for what they were originally intended for it did not make so much difference as they were not visible. Smoothing them on just right, girls, is what makes them look just right.

The reason more of us don't get along is because so much is being done before we get out of bed in the morning.

With all the hospitals reporting that all liquor examined is poison, we begin to doubt the stories about the ease with which good liquor can be had in this country.

Advertising Responsibility.

New Castle, Pennsylvania, is a city of the third class with an estimated population of 55,000. Last spring the New Castle Electric Light company organized 75 per cent of the local merchants for a survey of the electrical appliances used by consumers during 1925. The survey proved that the sales per residential consumer ran $45 per capita, a total gross business in labor savers of $515,000. The device ranged from curling irons and boudoir lamps to washing machines and refrigerators. An amazing increase in the sales of 1925 over 1924 was shown, with the 1926 sales already on the rise.—Woman's Home Companion.

POEM FROM THE SOUTHLAND

526 Magnolia Avenue,
Orlando, Fla., Jan. 19, 1927.

Fred Rentz,
New Castle, Pa.,

Dear Sir:—After making a brief survey of the west coast of this state as far south as Venice, and of the east coast as far south as Miami, we have settled down in one of Florida's most beautiful interior cities for a month at least; and to make it seem more like home, I want you to send me The News to the above address until further notice.

While we have had several frosts here since we arrived, the weather is fine, as is also the fishing, but

It is winter in the Northland, and
the small boy finds delight,
As he coasts adown the hillside
from the morning till the night;
Where the chilly winds are blowing, and the snow is falling fast,
So we came unto the South Land
to escape the wintry blast.

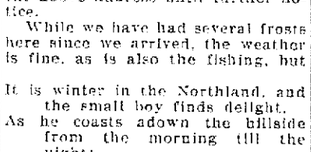

It is summer in the South Land,
where the flowers ever bloom,
Where the birds we see in summer
go to make their winter home.
Where the mocking bird and linnet welcome tourists with their song,
For they fill the air with music,
and we hear them all day long.

It is winter in the North Land, and your bard packed up his case,
And to this land of sunshine has brought his handsome (?)
face;
When you read this little ditty,
think of him beside a lake,
Awaiting for the fishes to attack
his luring bait.

And no doubt he'll catch all sizes,
from a minnow to a whale,
And he'll tell you all about it in an honest (?) fishing tale;
Yes, he's going to catch some fishes
in the southern sunny lands,
If sometimes he has to wade in and catch them with his hands.

Now while your would-be poet is basking in the sun,
He thought you would like to know it, that he is far from home;
A-fishing and a-bathing in the southern briny deep,
Where the whitecaps and the tourists in gleeful pleasure meet.

Yes, it's winter in the North Land, and your bard packed up his grip,
With things and fishing tackle he needs on such a trip;
So goodbye to you who shiver in that damp and chilly air,
Until the springtime cometh to your poet (?) C. C. Thayer.

Men who have no religion can at least quarrel about whose watch is right.

"A Traveler"
Care of Hints and Dints,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:—

I read—with much interest—your letter in yesterday's News. It amuses me. I would like very much to meet you personally as would, doubtlessly, every other inhabitant of this—our fair city.

I must congratulate you upon your skillful choice of colors. They suit you exactly. Why didn't you sign your name to that letter? Because you're a dirty coward and Cromwell and Mussolini.

Goodbye, Bob.
He Won't Talk.
17,000 New Laws.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

George Bernard Shaw compares Mussolini to the great Oliver Cromwell, and says that British mockery of Mussolini is inspired by hypocrisy and fear.

The Britons, according to Shaw, do not dare call Mussolini's bluff and are clearly afraid of him.

If Mussolini is like Cromwell, there is good reason to be afraid of him. Cromwell being the only great soldier of semi-modern times that never lost a battle.

The "bob" is going out. Those that have money abandon the bob because it is getting too common, working girls that haven't much money give up the bob because it costs too much, takes too much time.

Women ought to wear both hair and skirts short, without being foolish about either, and will do so eventually. They ought to cut their skirts off below the knee, not above; cut their sensibly, so that a haircut might last a month at least, with a nice ribbon or old-fashioned round comb to hold it back. That's how women will arrange hair and skirts some day, and they will look pretty and sensible.

C. W. Noe, 23 years old, ended his medical studies at the University of Wisconsin by committing suicide and promised to talk from the grave to a fraternity friend at 12 o'clock Monday and again next Friday.

The young man should have used all of this life before moving on to another. No matter how dismal things may be today you never can be sure that they won't improve.

Senator Borah says we make too many laws. This country will be "a republic in name, and a bureaucracy in fact," if we don't check the wholesale lawmaking machine.

Not all the laws are made in Washington. Forty-eight legislatures are busy. The new laws suggested here and there number about 17,000, a fantastic figure.

However, civilization itself, to say nothing of this glorious republic, is an experiment in its infancy. Children try many things; all trying is useful. Even if they burn their fingers, that's useful. It teaches them to avoid fire.

Each law is an experiment, an effort to remedy something wrong or establish something good. Once men were hanged, by law, not by lynching, for stealing a horse. Now they steal automobiles, and hanging for horse thieves automatically disappears. Not the foolish things we plan but what we actually do counts.

Edward P. Mitchell, who worked fifty years on the Sun with Charles A. Dana, was one of the few great editorial writers that this country has developed. They are all dead, or working on small papers unknown to the general public.

Mitchell made himself a power by anonymous writing, never signing his name, which is the test of editorial ability. It isn't necessary to label a genuine diamond, or a volcano in action.

Some industrial stocks going down, railroad stocks climbing to new high prices, was the program Monday on the stock exchange. Somebody bought and sold nearly 2,000,000 shares, and, as regards anything fundamentally sound, those that buy will be much happier in the long run than those that sell.

President Coolidge has put in a few words the disagreement between this country and Mexico. We respect property rights of Mexicans here, and don't pass retroactive laws, confiscating United States property legally acquired by Mexican citizens. The President asks, "Shall Mexico be allowed to confiscate Mexican property legally acquired by United States citizens?"

Newspapers, women's clubs, clergymen and speech-making individuals should not give the false impression that the President's attitude lacks support in this country. His policy is that of the nation.

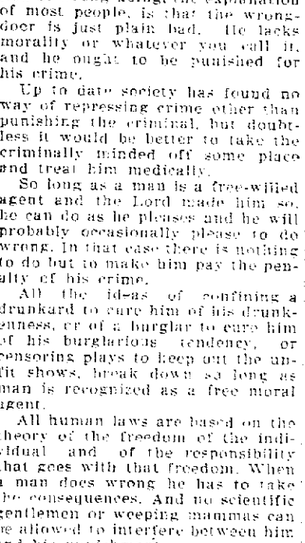

If one of the 17,000 new laws could discourage crime without "cruel and unusual punishment" that would be a blessing.

New York state, with more population and consequently more criminals than any other, is running short of prison room. Only seventy-five more criminals can be housed in state prisons. The police of New York could pick them up in a night if prohibition was taken seriously.

Senator Wadsworth of New York asks the Senate "to banish hypocrisy from American life by repealing the prohibition amendment." Republican senators know that Senator Wadsworth was beaten because he opposed the eighteenth amendment. They don't want to be beaten, so they won't try to repeal it. They fear the prohibition question more than poison ivy, or a battlesnake.

In Day's News

Once a leading philosopher, Dr. Robert Magill, secretary and expert adviser of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, is now recognized as one of the world's greatest wheat experts. Dr. Magill was born and educated in Ireland. In 1903 he became professor of philosophy in the Presbyterian College in Halifax, N. S. Early in his career he turned his attention to the problems confronting the laboring man and the fruits of his toil. In 1908-09 he was chairman of a royal commission for the regulation of hours of labor in Nova Scotia. Then he left for the western prairies and during the World War, when everywhere the question of food thrust itself on human attention, he had charge of the Canadian Board of Grain Supervisors, which at that dark hour set about raising wheat in earnest.

"I like th' 10-cent store plan if I see anything in th' show-windows I like I know I kin buy it," says Mrs. Em Moots. "Very few people kin be 'omselves an' git very far.

CRIMINALITY AND DISEASE

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing, according to the figures he has compiled, declares that most prisoners are religious and most are educated. To be exact, 99.4 per cent are of an acknowledged religion and only 2.3 per cent are illiterate.

Whenever you hear of a man's committing some outlandish crime the explanation is always extended that he cannot help it. He is diseased.

In a sense every criminal is diseased, but it is to be doubted whether disease excuses him from responsibility.

The good, old-fashioned explanation of wrong doing, the explanation of most people, is that the wrongdoer is just plain bad. He lacks morality or whatever you call it, and he ought to be punished for his crime.

Up to date society has found no way of repressing crime other than punishing the criminal, but doubtless it would be better to take the criminally minded off some place and treat him medically.

So long as a man is a free-willed agent and the Lord made him so, he can do as he pleases and he will probably occasionally please to do wrong. In that case there is nothing to do but to make him pay the penalty of his crime.

All the ideas of confining a drunkard to cure him of his drunkenness, or of a burglar to cure him of his burglarious tendency, or censoring plays to keep out the unfit shows, break down so long as man is recognized as a free moral agent.

All human laws are based on the theory of the freedom of the individual and of the responsibility that goes with that freedom. When a man does wrong he has to take the consequences. And no scientific gentlemen or weeping mammas can be allowed to interfere between him and his punishment.

When a man commits murder, that is, playfully shoots his friend or carves the woman he loves, he may be diseased, but if so it is an old disease which society has found no way yet of curing, except to hang the man. It is not altogether a good remedy, for, as Bulwer Lytton says, the worst use to make of a man is to hang him, but then it is not altogether a very good disease.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WE SPEND BUT ALSO SAVE.

The people of the United States make much money. They also spend much. But the net result each year thus far in our history has been a constantly increasing amount of capital. It is impossible to accurately estimate how much actual capital is at work in the United States, because much capital is invested in the physical assets that have been bought and paid for, and are the property of the citizens, free from all debt. Surplus monies of the citizens are deposited in the banks, and the banks in turn loan this money upon securities of various natures. The depositor at the same time buys bonds, mortgages, and other securities offered for sale. Such of these bonds and obligations as are listed in the various Exchanges of the country can be tabulated, as well as the amounts loaned by the banks themselves. Most of the money borrowed is in turn invested in more fixed capital consisting of buildings, machinery, more miles of railroad, more rolling stock for the railroads, more mines, oil wells, highways, and the thousand and one other physical things which in turn produce more revenue. When the figures which are available are totalled, they are formidable.

For instance the banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System report that their total loans and investments on December 5, 1926, amounted to nearly twenty billion dollars. Going further than this relations show that in 1926 there was offered to the buying public more than half a billion dollars of securities in excess of those securities offered in 1925, which year had previously held the record since the War.

These books report that there was floated in the United States during the twelve months ending November 30th, nearly seven and a half billion dollars of new capital. The American people saved that much anyway during the year, beside what their Government paid of its debt with the taxes which that same Government received from the citizens.

The most interesting fact disclosed is the amount of foreign Government issues floated in this country during the last year. The loans made during 1926, and the years previous, now make the United States the real creditor Nation of the world. There were sold in this country last year foreign issues of bonds and securities including Government, State, Municipal and Corporate, in the amount of more than a billion dollars. Europe itself did not issue and sell in the United States as much in 1926 as it did in 1925, by nearly two hundred million dollars, but there was loaned to Latin America more than double the amount of money last year than in 1925. The totals are interesting, I give them here:

Asia	26,740,000.00
Latin America	424,340,000.00
Canada	336,864,942.00
A total of new financing	$1,362,298,942.00

That money went to create physical capital in Nations other than our own. The Political Economist can well discuss that phase of National Financiering in class rooms, and out of class rooms, but neither this money, nor money loaned in past years, will ever be repaid to the citizens of the United States, or to the United States Government unless the people of the United States accept its return in foreign made goods. It is useless to argue that the Nation should have a protective tariff sufficient to exclude absolutely all foreign made merchandise, when the people of the Nation are loaning such great sums of money to foreign merchants and foreign Governments. There is a line somewhere, beyond which tariffs must not go.

POEMS-HOVE

By Charles Hanson Towne

"Stains," by Theodosia Garrison.

These are powerful lines, I have always thought, full of imagination. They show the inability of man to free himself from the claim of responsibility; they show how doom and destiny pursue us, that there is no escape from conscience and sin. It is a vivid picture one gets of these three anxious spirits on the lonesome road that leads to eternity. There is no wasted word. The poem is stripped to the bare essentials, and the stanzas mount to a dramatic climax.

The three ghosts on a lonesome road,
Spake each to one another,
"Whence came that stain about your mouth
No lifted hand may cover?"
"From eating of forbidden fruit,
Brother, my brother,"

The three ghosts on the sunless road
Spake each to one another,
"Whence came that red burn on your feet
No dust or ash may cover?"
"I stamped a neighbor's hearth-flame out,
Brother, my brother."

The three ghosts on the windless road
Spake each to one another,
"Whence came that blood upon your hand
No other hand may cover?"
"From breaking of a woman's heart,
Brother, my brother."

"Yet on the earth clean men we walked,
Glutton and Thief and Lover;
White flesh and fair it hid our stains
That no man might discover.
"Naked, the soul goes up to God,

PERCENTAGE OF AMERICANS AT WORK

A REPORT of the National Industrial Conference Board to show that less than four out of every ten persons in the United States are working for a living requires careful consideration if its true meaning is to be measured.

The ratio of gainfully employed persons to the population is steadily declining—it dropped between 1910 and 1920 and there has been a further decline since that time. Why? Are we developing a race of parasites carried on the shoulders of the workers, as was the case in many countries of Europe from which our ancestors emigrated? asks the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Not at all. We are an intensively industrious people. The statistics mean that we are giving our children a better chance for education, that boys and girls do not enter regular employment at such an early age as they did ten or twenty years ago. Compulsory education laws and minimum age employment laws have seen to that, and fewer immature bodies are being used in industry.

This has been made possible, of course, by lifting the burden of grinding poverty from the worker which caused children to be sent to work to eke out the family income in the "bad old days." They are gone, but they fell before the American system of life which has developed maximum earning power for the individual and multiplied the enjoyments and opportunities of existence. The laws would not have been beneficial if they had worked a hardship.

It is a priceless gift to our posterity therefore that is witnessed by the statistics showing a decrease in the working percentage of our population. The ratio has declined from 41.5 per cent in 1910 to 37.2 per cent in 1925. It was 39.4 per cent in 1920, when comparative figures were available, showing 56.6 per cent employed in Germany, 44 per cent in Great Britain, 53.3 per cent in France and 46.8 in Italy.

Analysis of the figures does not make it clear whether the real head of the household is considered as employed or unemployed, though there are indications that she has been listed as not employed. This may do for purposes of statistical comparison, but it is not a satisfactory measurement if it ignores the occupation of a mother raising a new generation of citizens and lists, for example, a cabaret entertainer as "employed."

FOOD CANNING NOT YET OVERDONE

TWELVE cans of corn, peas and tomatoes will be the per capita supply available this year for the inhabitants of the United States. The figures were announced at Atlantic City, where several conventions of food dealers are in progress.

As an illustration of how far we are from becoming a delicatessen-maintained nation the data are significant. Even if the tomato crop of 1926 had been a full one instead of half of the previous year, it still would be evident that our stored surplus could hardly take care of our needs if a famine were to occur. These calamities, of course, belong largely to the past or to countries without great crop variety.

Among more fortunate people, however, the blessings of refrigeration and food preservation are apparently of secondary consequence. To a surprising degree, then, we still depend on fresh vegetables, fresh meats and freshly cooked pastry products.

One reason why more vegetables are not commercially preserved is the difficulty of harvesting and distributing. Too much is allowed to spoil on the ground. Co-operative harvesting might help solve this problem. Meanwhile it has become plain that the can opener has not yet become the national emblem.

DREAMS

One broken dream is not the end of dreaming.
One shattered hope is not the end of all.
Beyond the storm and tempest stars are gleaming,
Still build your castles, though your castles fall.

Though many dreams come tumbling in disaster
And pain and heartache meet us down the years,
Still keep your faith, your dreams and hopes to master
And seek to find the lesson of your tears.

Not all is as it should be! See how littered
With sorry wreckage is life's restless stream.
Some dreams are vain, but be you not embittered
And never cry that you have ceased to dream!

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:11. Sun rises tomorrow 7:13.

Old men who like their girl friends young are called "Chick Hunters" and old girls who like young men are called "Veal Hunters". We have heard 'em called worse than that.

An automobile dealer does not think half as much of a car the day after he sold it as he did the day before he sold it. There isn't anything that depreciates as fast as a sold car. They are absolutely junk as far as the dealer is concerned until they are traded in on a new car, and the new car becomes junk immediately as far as the man who sold it is concerned.

We would rather hear our little two-year-old grandson try to sing "It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning" than any high-priced opera singer in America.

And another good co-educational institution is a four-year-old son. So many people just live beyond the grocer's means.

A saleswoman who was very hard of hearing had her hearing restored when she fell 50 feet down an elevator shaft and she was not any the worse for the tumble otherwise. It isn't often people get cured of being hard of hearing by taking a tumble to themselves, but they keep out of lots of trouble otherwise by taking a tumble to themselves.

There are people in New Castle who think that every bum who blows into this city should be given a meal ticket and an invitation to visit for a time. Of course, someone else is to furnish the money for the entertainment of the bozos who do not want any work. If it would get to be generally known over this country that we are having open house for that kind of birds, all the crooks in the country would head this way.

A medical student in Wisconsin committed suicide and he left a note saying he wanted to find out what happened after death. Not many let their curiosity carry that far.

An Ohio man who was looking for a gas leak with a lighted match blew up his house and was blown into the flood water of the Ohio river that surrounded his house and was nearly drowned. It seems to us a short prayer on his part would have been very appropriate when he struck the dry land.

When we get two judges here some time, we may have one county detective, anyhow.

There are 12,000 Americans in China, and about half of them are missionaries. There is a lot of trouble there over Americans and we are not told if it is caused by the missionaries or the others. There is not wet and dry stuff there, so it isn't that.

It is said that more small children are hurt at home than on the streets of this country. If it is meant little kiddos too small to get out, it seems that is true. It don't take very much to hurt the little chaps. In fact, they do it themselves.

The U. S. Senate representing as it is supposed to the best legal and business talent of the country could save a lot of time and money by having one committee investigate the election of Frank Smith of Illinois and William S. Vare of this state. But instead, separate committes are working on them each with a large appropriation and it will be months before the final reports will be made.

In a few short years it will be "air's busy" instead of "line's busy."

The flappers in Siam are said to be 500 years ahead of the American brand of the present day, dressing according to missionary reports like the men of years ago. But we think it won't take the flapper 500 more years to get back to the original Eve costume.

If anyone ever does decide to kidnap Aimee we hope the arrangement is made permanent.

A good many people would like to know the name of the traveling man who suggests black, yellow and green for the city colors, and gives his reasons therefore. He'd travel all right but it wouldn't be in New Castle but out of it.

On February 10 a great concert is to be given at the Scottish Rite Cathedral by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra. Tickets are going to be scarce for this great event when the sale opens. You remember what we told you about the community dinner tickets. They were surely scarce enough to suit most any person. Buy 'em early!

There never was a cavity in a tooth that a man's tongue wouldn't fit. Ain't nature grand?

When C. Chaplin and his wife fell out the government got wise by their cracks and as a result is going to collect a million or two back taxes from the funny boy. Those foreign boys who come here just for our money ought to be sports enough to at least pay their income taxes. Charley left little things like paying taxes to his employes but according to the missus there are other things he looked after personally.

Now we are told that fish are of no particular value as food. Seems to us it was said they were brain food. We have seen people who dearly loved fish and ate them frequently, but brains was one of the things they never had.

Putting on the modern stockings is quite an accomplishment. Getting the seam on the back straight is a fine art and keeping them from wrinkling about the ankles is also home high hat stuff. In the old days when stockings were worn for what they were originally intended for it did not make so much difference as they were not visible. Getting them on just right, girls, is what makes them look just right.

The reason more of us don't get along is because so much is being done before we get out of bed in the morning.

With all the hospitals reporting that all liquor examined is poison, we begin to doubt the stories about the ease with which good liquor can be had in this country.

New Castle, Pennsylvania, is a city of the third class yith an estimated population of 55,000. Last spring the New Castle Electric Light company organized 75 per cent of the local merchants for a survey of the electrical appliances used by consumers during 1925. The survey proved that the sales per residential consumer ran $45 per capita, a total gross business in labor savers of $515,000. The device ranged from curling irons and boudoir lamps to washing machines and refrigerators. An amazing increase in the sales of 1925 over 1924 was shown, with the 1926 sales already on the rise.—Woman's Home Companion.

POEM FROM THE SOUTHLAND

526 Magnolia Avenue,
Orlando, Fla., Jan. 19, 1927.

Fred Rentz,
New Castle, Pa.,

Dear Sir:—After making a brief survey of the west coast of this state as far south as Venice, and of the east coast as far south as Miami, we have settled down in one of Florida's most beautiful interior cities for a month at least; and to make it seem more like home, I want you to send me The News to the above address until further notice.

While we have had several frosts here since we arrived, the weather is fine, as is also the fishing, but

It is winter in the Northland, and
the small boy finds delight,
As he coasts adown the hillside
from the morning till the night;
Where the chilly winds are blowing, and the snow is falling fast,
So we came unto the South Land
to escape the wintry blast.

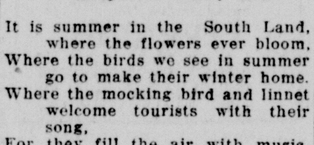

It is summer in the South Land,
where the flowers ever bloom,
Where the birds we see in summer
go to make their winter home.
Where the mocking bird and linnet
welcome tourists with their song,
For they fill the air with music,
and we hear them all day long.

It is winter in the North Land, and
your bard packed up his case,
And to this land of sunshine has brought his handsome (?)
face;
When you read this little ditty,
think of him beside a lake,
Awaiting for the fishes to attack
his luring bait.

And no doubt he'll catch all sizes,
from a minnow to a whale,
And he'll tell you all about it, in an honest (?) fishing tale;
Yes, he's going to catch some fishes
in the southern sunny lands,
If sometimes he has to wade in and
catch them with his hands.

Now while your would-be poet is basking in the sun,
He thought you would like to know it, that he is far from home;
Afishing and abathing in the southern briny deep,
Where the whitecaps and the tourists in gleeful pleasure meet.

Yes, it's winter in the North Land, and your bard packed up his grip,
With things and fishing tackle he needs on such a trip;
So goodbye to you who shiver in that damp and chilly air,
Until the springtime cometh to your poet (?) C. C. Thaye.

Men who have no religion can at least quarrel about whose watch is right.

George Bernard Shaw compares Mussolini to the great Oliver Cromwell, and says that British mockery of Mussolini is inspired by hypocrisy and fear.

The Britons, according to Shaw, do not dare call Mussolini's bluff and are clearly afraid of him.

If Mussolini is like Cromwell, there is good reason to be afraid of him, Cromwell being the only great soldier of semi-modern times that never lost a battle.

The "bob" is going out. Those that have money abandon the bob because it is getting too common. working girls that haven't much money give up the bob because it costs too much, takes too much time.

Women ought to wear both hair and skirts short, without being foolish about either, and will do so eventually. They ought to cut their skirts off below the knee, not above; cut their sensibly, so that a haircut might last a month at least, with a nice ribbon or old-fashioned round comb to hold it back. That's how women will arrange hair and skirts some day, and they will look pretty and sensible.

C. W. Noe, 22 years old, ended his medical studies at the University of Wisconsin by committing suicide and promised to talk from the grave to a fraternity friend at 12 o'clock Monday and again next Friday.

The young man should have used all of this life before moving on to another. No matter how dismal things may be today you never can be sure that they won't improve.

Senator Borah says we make too many laws. This country will be "a republic in name, and a bureaucracy in fact," if we don't check the wholesale lawmaking machine.

Not all the laws are made in Washington. Forty-eight legislatures are busy. The new laws suggested here and there number about 17,000, a fantastic figure.

However, civilization itself, to say nothing of this glorious republic, is an experiment in its infancy. Children try many things; all trying is useful. Even if they burn their fingers, that's useful. It teaches them to avoid fire.

Each law is an experiment, an effort to remedy something wrong or establish something good. Once men were hanged, by law, not by lynching, for stealing a horse. Now they steal automobiles, and hanging for horse thieves automatically disappears. Not the foolish things we plan but what we actually do counts.

Edward P. Mitchell, who worked fifty years on the Sun with Charles A. Dana, was one of the few great editorial writers that this country has developed. They are all dead, or working on small papers unknown to the general public.

Mitchell made himself a power by anonymous writing, never signing his name, which is the test of editorial ability. It isn't necessary to label a genuine diamond, or a volcano in action.

Some industrial stocks going down, railroad stocks climbing to new high prices, was the program Monday on the stock exchange. Somebody bought and sold nearly 2,000,000 shares, and, as regards anything fundamentally sound, those that buy will be much happier in the long run than those that sell.

President Coolidge has put in a few words the disagreement between this country and Mexico. We respect property rights of Mexicans here, and don't pass retroactive laws, confiscating United States property legally acquired by Mexican citizens. The President asks, "Shall Mexico be allowed to confiscate Mexican property legally acquired by United States citizens?"

Newspapers, women's clubs, clergymen and speech-making individuals should not give the false impression that the President's attitude lacks support in this country. His policy is that of the nation.

If one of the 17,000 new laws could discourage crime without "cruel and unusual punishment" that would be a blessing.

New York state, with more population and consequently more criminals than any other, is running short of prison room. Only seventy-five more criminals can be housed in state prisons. The police of New York could pick them up in a night if prohibition was taken seriously.

Senator Wadsworth of New York asks the Senate "to banish hypocrisy from American life by repealing the prohibition amendment." Republican senators know that Senator Wadsworth was beaten because he opposed the eighteenth amendment. They don't want to be beaten, so they won't try to repeal it. They fear the prohibition question more than poison ivy, or a rattlesnake.

In Day's News

Once a leading philosopher, Dr. Robert Magill, secretary and expert adviser of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, is now recognized as one of the world's greatest wheat experts. Dr. Magill was born and educated in Ireland. In 1903 he became professor of philosophy in the Presbyterian College in Halifax, N. S. Early in his career he turned his attention to the problems confronting the laboring man and the fruits of his toil. In 1908-09 he was chairman of a royal commission for the regulation of hours of labor in Nova Scotia. Then he left for the western prairies and during the World War, when everywhere the question of food thrust itself on human attention, he had charge of the Canadian Board of Grain Supervisors, which at that dark hour set about raising wheat in earnest.

CRIMINALITY AND DISEASE

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing, according to the figures he has compiled, declares that most prisoners are religious and most are educated. To be exact, 99.4 per cent are of an acknowledged religion and only 2.3 per cent are illiterate.

Whenever you hear of a man's committing some outlandish crime the explanation is always extended that he cannot help it. He is diseased.

In a sense every criminal is diseased, but it is to be doubted whether disease excuses him from responsibility.

The good, old-fashioned explanation of wrong doing, the explanation of most people, is that the wrongdoer is just plain bad. He lacks morality or whatever you call it, and he ought to be punished for his crime.

Up to date society has found no way of repressing crime other than punishing the criminal, but doubtless it would be better to take the criminally minded off some place and treat him medically.

So long as a man is a free-willed agent and the Lord made him so, he can do as he pleases and he will probably occasionally please to do wrong. In that case there is nothing to do but to make him pay the penalty of his crime.

All the ideas of confining a drunkard to cure him of his drunkenness, or of a burglar to cure him of his burglarious tendency, or censoring plays to keep out the unfit shows, break down so long as man is recognized as a free moral agent.

All human laws are based on the theory of the freedom of the individual and of the responsibility that goes with that freedom. When a man does wrong he has to take the consequences. And no scientific gentlemen or weeping mammas can be allowed to interfere between him and his punishment.

When a man commits murder, that is, playfully shoots his friend or carves the woman he loves, he may be diseased, but if so it is an old disease which society has found no way yet of curing, except to hang the man. It is not altogether a good remedy, for, as Bulwer Lytton says, the worst use to make of a man is to hang him, but then it is not altogether a very good disease.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WE SPEND BUT ALSO SAVE.

The people of the United States make much money. They also spend much. But the net result each year thus far in our history has been a constantly increasing amount of capital. It is impossible to accurately estimate how much actual capital is at work in the United States, because much capital is invested in the physical assets that have been bought and paid for, and are the property of the citizens, free from all debt. Surplus monies of the citizens are deposited in the banks, and the banks in turn loan this money upon securities of various natures. The depositor at the same time buys bonds, mortgages, and other securities offered for sale. Such of these bonds and obligations as are listed in the various Exchanges of the country can be tabulated, as well as the amounts loaned by the banks themselves. Most of the money borrowed is in turn invested in more fixed capital consisting of buildings, machinery, more miles of railroad, more rolling stock for the railroads, more mines, oil wells, highways, and the thousand and one other physical things which in turn produce more revenue. When the figures which are available are totalled, they are formidable.

For instance the banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System report that their total loans and investments on December 8, 1926, amounted to nearly twenty billion dollars. Going further the tabulations show that in 1926 there was offered to the buying public more than half a billion dollars of securities in excess of those securities offered in 1925, which year had previously held the record since the War.

These books report that there was floated in the United States during the twelve months ending November 30th, nearly seven and a half billion dollars of new capital. The American people saved that much anyway during the year, beside what their Government paid of its debt with the taxes which that same Government received from the citizens.

The most interesting fact disclosed is the amount of foreign Government issues floated in this country during the last year. The loans made during 1926, and the years previous, now make the United States the real creditor Nation of the world. There were sold in this country last year foreign issues of bonds and securities including Government, State, Municipal and Corporate, in the amount of more than a billion dollars. Europe itself did not issue and sell in the United States as much in 1926 as it did in 1925, by nearly two hundred million dollars, but there was loaned to Latin America more than double the amount of money last year than in 1925. The totals are interesting, I give them here:

Asia	29,740,000.00
Latin America	424,540,000.00
Canada	336,864,942.00
A total of new financing	$1,362,298,942.00

That money went to create physical capital in Nations other than our own. The Political Economist can well discuss that phase of National Financiering in class rooms, and out of class rooms, but neither this money, nor money loaned in past years, will ever be repaid to the citizens of the United States, or to the United States Government unless the people of the United States accept its return in foreign made goods. It is useless to argue that the Nation should have a protective tariff sufficient to exclude absolutely all foreign made merchandise, when the people of the Nation are loaning such great sums of money to foreign merchants and foreign Governments. There is a line somewhere, beyond which tariffs must not go.

Immense Locomotive Put Into Service On P.&L.E. Lines Here

One of the monster passenger locomotives that the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad is introducing for use on its through passenger service from Pittsburgh to Buffalo and Pittsburgh to Cleveland will be in the P. & L. E. station on West Washington street this afternoon at 4:25, when it will start out with a train for Pittsburgh.

Ten of these new passenger engines of the K-5 type have been purchased from the Baldwin Locomotive works at Schenectady, N. Y., and are now being broken in on the shorter hauls before they are ready for the long trips from Pittsburgh to Buffalo and Cleveland.

They are the heaviest passenger motive power that have been put on this line to date and are capable of pulling 15 heavy steel Pullman cars on the fastest schedule, and will become the road's standard passenger locomotives.

The locomotive is equipped with an auxiliary engine called the Booster and mounted on the rear engine truck, which is used for additional power in starting trains and thus has a tractive power of 46,400 pounds. The simple tractive effort without the Booster is 37,000 pounds.

The length of this monster engine, over all, is 82 feet, 9¾ inches and the weight including tender is 512,300 pounds. The boiler diameter is 82 inches and the diameter of the large driving wheels is 79 inches which is taller than the largest of men. The cylinders are 25 inches bore by 28 inches stroke.

The engines have automatic train controls and automatic stop, automatic stockers and boiler and feed water heaters, and multiple throttle built integrals with superheater headers.

The locomotive has a coal capacity of 16 tons and a water capacity of 10,000 gallons and an automatic scoop by which water may be taken while the train is in motion.

One of these monster engines may be seen at the P. & L. E. station this afternoon at 4:25 and may be seen during the next few days on the trains that come into the passenger station on West Washington street at 9:25 in the morning or 1:35 or 4:25 in the afternoon. It is assured that one will be on the train that leaves the station at 4:25 this afternoon but it is not known definitely as to the other trains or on later days as they will be put into service on the main line which runs through New Castle Junction just as soon as they are well enough broken in to make the through trips at the required speed.

A Prize for Young

George Young, Canadian who swam the channel from Catalina, is said to have captured the heart of Irene O'Byrne (pictured herewith), one of the daughters of Henry O'Byrne, who trained Young. Miss O'Byrne, likewise, is very much of a swimmer. She was named "The Most Winsome Nymph" in a Toronto contest in 1923.

State Borough Officials Will Elect Officers At Afternoon Meeting

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan 26.—Continuing the work started yesterday of framing prospective legislation the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs went into the last day of its annual convention here today. Election of officers will be held this afternoon.

The more than 700 representatives from practically every borough in the state are expected to agree upon considerable legislation for borough government.

The borough officials discussed plans of clearing the way for abolition of the ward system of councilmanic government, clasification and control of police and uniform traffic suggestions. The plans were referred to committees for recommendations.

A resolution was passed asking the legislature to authorize boroughs and other municipalities to keep all fines for violations of the motor vehicle laws committed within their boundaries.

Miss Wagner Recovers Watch She Lost On Monday

Want ads mean what they say.

They tell the story of someone wanting something and in fact something like the axiom of "Everything comes to he who waits" is the new version of "Everything comes to he or she who wants, provining they tell their desires in the News advertising columns.

To prove the assertion, Miss Ethel Wagner of Boston avenue, Union township, Monday lost a white gold wrist watch.

On Tuesday Miss Wagner inserted an ad in the "Lost" column of the New Castle News.

On Wednesday Bernard Hanlon found the watch which he has returned to the young lady.

nothing but. Here's where the black enters. If you were not a coward you would sign your name to your masterpiece. Suppose you write us another letter and sign your correct name. No fictitious names wanted. If you don't, your nature is that of a coward. The color black suits you exactly. You've not only got a yellow streak in you; you're yellow through and through. Only a person who had a yellow nature could write a letter such as you have written. You're the greenest person we have ever met or heard of. You have shown your ignorance in letter form. What firm do you represent? I am sure it would be interested in knowing what kind of a man it has in its employ and I am equally sure that it would lose no time in firing you. What's the matter, Mr. Traveler, have you been fined for speeding, or are you the burglar they caught at some New Castle homes? Perhaps that has grieved you to the extent that you had to express your feeling.

New Castle may be "thick" town, but its our home town and you can't hurt an insult at us such as you have and expect us to keep quiet. New Castle is dirty, did you say? Well, I'd like to take you through the streets of other cities and see for yourself how our town compares with them. No one called you to New Castle. You came of your own accord. Suppose you go back where you came from. We don't want you here.

A NEW CASTLEITE.

SHINS THE TRAVELER

Hints and Dints Editor.
Dear Sir:—

I read the letter of traveler in regard to city colors with some amusement and am surprised how anything as small as he seems to be could carry a sample case.

Do not become perturbed, however, as this infinitestimal insect is not in normal health. The symptoms in his letter signify an ingrown grouch, a fermented disposition, a white liver, a gizzard where his heart should be and a badly shriveled soul. It would be a pleasure to see this microbe if there was a magnifying glass of sufficient power to make it visible. If he would tell any full grown citizen some of the things he wrote he would have the first mentioned color in the region of one or both of his eyes, but he will not be bothered with yellow as his person is too small to show color to the naked eye. I know our streets are disgracefully dirty but not to be compared to an insect that writes anonymous letters.

I also feel sure that we will continue to do business as usual if this talking snake should miss New Castle all together from now on.

Your respectfully,
L. B. McALLEN,
404 Waldo St.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

A plan for the maintenance of world peace by means of an alliance among the English speaking nations of the world is being advanced by William Randolph Hearst, above, through the columns of the Hearst newspapers. The plan is receiving the commendation of the English press.

Here's A Glimpse At Register Of Muny Bunk Room

From the far eastern part of the country, the middle west, the north and even Canada, came the group of wanderers, who last night asked for the privilege of spending the night in the municipal bunkroom in the basement of the city building.

Mere Youth, middle age and even old age, was included in the list which numbered twenty-two. Some were looking for work, while others were merely looking for a place to keep warm, until they could hop on to some other place where they might get a night's lodging.

All nationalities were represented as the list of names secured by the police last night in checking up on the occupants of the bunkroom.

Some idea of just who the men were last night and where they call home is given in the following list according to names given to police: George Taylor, Cleveland, O., Ed Smith, McKeesport, Pa., Carl Anderson, Youngstown, O., Ben Hogan, Joplin, Mo., John Bielak, Cleveland, O., Garnet Glassford, Detroit, Mich., Alex. Nicholson, Detroit, Mich., Frank Hall, Warren, O., Theodore Schiller, Cleveland, O., Hubert Charbonneau, Detroit, Mich., Jim Ryan, Erie, Pa., James Nelson, Pittsburgh, Pa., John Brown, Cleveland, O., Raymond Goss, Alliance, O., Frank Douglass, New York City, George Sips, Toronto, Canada, Henry Davis, Pittsburgh, Pa., Willie Harrington, Pittsburgh, Pa., Percy Lillico, Pittsburgh, Pa., Joe Donley, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Joseph Kelly, Cleveland, O.

State Employes Not Required To Make Promises

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—State employes now taking the usual oath of office are not required to make any special promise regarding the eighteenth amendment, Governor John S. Fisher said today. All employes are required to promise to obey the constitution, and inasmuch as that amendment is a part of it, the governor does not believe any additional oath is necessary.

"The eighteenth amendment", the governor said, "is a part of the constitution and the oath imposed by law includes it. Any addition to the oath adds nothing whatsoever to the obligation. I expect appointees to obey all the provisions of the constitution, including the eighteenth amendment."

After Gifford Pinchot became governor the usual oath of office was amended to include a special promise to obey the eighteenth amendment, and "all state and national laws enacted to carry it into effect".

Son On Trial For Death Of Father

(International News Service)
GETTYSBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—The prosecution having rested its case, the defense took the stand today in the murder trial of a 16-year-old boy, Charles J. Null, Jr., in the Adams county criminal court here. The lad is charged with slaying his father with a shotgun on their Union township farm, near here, several months ago.

The defense is expected to call a score of witnesses to the stand and the case may go to the jury late today.

The mother of the youth testified that the shooting was accidental. The youth corroborated his mother's testimony that he was holding the gun with the barrel pointed toward the ground but that in some unknown manner the weapon was discharged and the gun was thrown upward.

Young Null testified that he had great fear of his father, whom he said was intoxicated much of the time.

FIRST NEWS FROM JORDAN

Weekly News Bulletin Of State Department Is Being Continued

NEARLY 500 COUNTY FARMERS HAVE RADIO

First items of publicity issued under the regime of the new Secretary of Agriculture, Charles J. Jordan has just been received from Harrisburg in the Weekly News Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

This bulletin is issued weekly by the State Department of Agriculture and brings items of the week's news of interest to agriculturists.

This week are items on the supreme court upholding the state dog law, radio increasing among farmers, better baby chicks and an improvement of the state's fertilizer supply.

The heading bears the name of New Castle's representative on the new cabinet of Governor Fisher, Dr. Charles G. Jordan.

The item concerning the state dog law states that the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Pennsylvania dog law of 1921 and that this decision ought to settle for all time the dispute over this question.

It is estimated that Lawrence county farmers have 461 radios now, compared with 307 in 1925, and that there are now 27,863 farms equipped with radios, as compared with 14,933 in 1925.

The item about better baby chicks says that the Bureau of Markets of the Department of Agriculture has made inspection and testing of fowls and that those who would like a list of accredited hatcheries and flocks can obtain the same from the Bureau of Markets at Harrisburg.

Fireman Crowe Is Accident Victim

Injuries Necessitate His Being Relieved From His Duties Tuesday

William Crowe, veteran member of the Croton Fire Department, was ordered by his physician on Tuesday to quit his active service for a time, as a result of complications arising from an injury sustained last Saturday while cranking the No. 3 fire truck.

While he was engaged in cranking the machine, the crank slipped and he was thrown against the radiator of the car, one of his eyes striking the radiator with considerable force.

He continued on the job however, until yesterday, when it was discovered that pus had formed and was threatening to create a serious condition. Ben Hartman of the central department has been transferred to the Croton department in the place of Crowe until the later recovers from his injury.

Dr. Green Resumes Duties After Illness

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the public schools of this city, is again on duty after being confined to his home for several days by illness.

Makes Hair Behave But Doesn't SHOW!

There's a way to keep your hair justso, without any of that objectionable, "plastered-down" look. Just use a few drops of Danderine—comb it through hair, or use a Danderine-dampened towel—you'll be amazed at the way your hair then behaves, and it's beautiful lustre!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff! Dissolves every bit of it. Puts scalp in the pink of condition. Invigorates hair and hair-roots. Why use anything else?

FIRST NEWS FROM JORDAN

NEARLY 500 COUNTY FARMERS HAVE RADIO

First items of publicity issued under the regime of the new Secretary of Agriculture, Charles J. Jordan has just been received from Harrisburg in the Weekly News Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

This bulletin is issued weekly by the State Department of Agriculture and brings items of the week's news of interest to agriculturists.

This week are items on the supreme court upholding the state dog law, radio increasing among farmers, better baby chicks and an improvement of the state's fertilizer supply.

The heading bears the name of New Castle's representative on the new cabinet of Governor Fisher, Dr. Charles G. Jordan.

The item concerning the state dog law states that the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Pennsylvania dog law of 1921 and that this decision ought to settle for all time the dispute over this question.

It is estimated that Lawrence county farmers have 461 radios now, compared with 307 in 1925, and that there are now 27,863 farms equipped with radios, as compared with 14,933 in 1925.

The item about better baby chicks says that the Bureau of Markets of the Department of Agriculture has made inspection and testing of fowls and that those who would like a list of accredited hatcheries and flocks can obtain the same from the Bureau of Markets at Harrisburg.

Fireman Crowe Is Accident Victim

Injuries Necessitate His Being Relieved From His Duties Tuesday

William Crowe, veteran member of the Croton Fire Department, was ordered by his physician on Tuesday to quit his active service for a time, as a result of complications arising from an injury sustained last Saturday while cranking the No. 3 fire truck.

While he was engaged in cranking the machine, the crank slipped and he was thrown against the radiator of the car, one of his eyes striking the radiator with considerable force.

He continued on the job however, until yesterday, when it was discovered that pus had formed and was threatening to create a serious condition. Ben Hartman of the central department has been transferred to the Croton department in the place of Crowe until the later recovers from his injury.

Beaver Falls Woman Is Awarded Claim

By GEORGE B. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Pauline Schwarz of Beaver Falls, Pa., received an award on claims against the German government for losses suffered during the World War in the decisions agreed upon by the German and American members of the mixed claims commission, United States and Germany, announced today.

The commission awarded Pauline Schwarz a claim of $1,342, with interest at five per cent from August 10, 1917.

In meetings during November, December and extending to January 5, 1927, awards in 428 claims were agreed upon by the American commission, Chandler P. Anderson, and the German commissioner, Wilhelm Kiesselbach. The total amount of these awards came to $3,707,829.71. Dismissal of claims in 339 cases was announced.

Since it began to function, the mixed claims commission has disposed of 2,813 claims, having an aggregate value to the claimants of $142,5[illegible],216.92, approximately $4,500,000 of which were claims by the U. S. government.

In the latest awards the amounts ranged all the way from 45 cents to $313,400.

First Christian Church Cancels Debt

Mortgage Of $6,300 Paid In Eleven Weeks By The Congregation

During the last 11 weeks the congregation of the First Christian church of this city has cancelled a debt of $6,300 which has been carried by the church for a number of years and has kept the current expenses of the church paid in full.

This is a splendid record for the local congregation in that they could remove so great a debt in such a short time.

The pastor, Dr. C. H. Hotcomb, and the entire membership are to be congratulated for their splendid work of freeing the church from a burden of years.

Police Hold Chum Of Murdered Man Pending An Inquiry

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Jan. 26.—Local and state police are investigating the death of Lewis Mann, 56 years old, whose mutilated body was found in the shack in which he lived at the southern end of Ambridge, this morning. The body was found by Albert Genter, 47 years old, who shared the quarters with Mann, and who is held pending an investigation.

According to Genter, the two were out together last night and did not retire until early this morning. When he awoke at 10 o'clock, he said, he found Mann lying on the floor, the head crushed.

Forceful Message By Rev. Scripture

Sermon Based On Signs Indicating That Christ's Return Is At Hand

Many took advantage of the better walking last evening to attend the revival services being held at the Hoover Heights Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Morris street. C. Anderson was again in charge of the song service and the pastor, accompanied with the violin.

The message given was on the "Signs Indicating That Christ's Return is at Hand." The texts used were Second Timothy 3:1, "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come," and Second Peter 3:4, "And saying, where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation."

Briefly reviewing the events and prophecies leading up to the first advent, Rev. Scripture showed how many of the same conditions were existing today in relation to the second coming of Christ.

Referring to the statement that signs and wonders appear in the heavens, the speaker declared that unusual signs have been observed at quite frequent intervals of late, also that the aeroplane and the radio were partial fulfillments of this word. The automobile was declared to be a fulfillment of the prophecy in connection with the days of the preparation for Christ's return as found in Nahum 2:3, 4. Matthew 24:37 which states that conditions shall be similar when Christ comes as they were in the days of Noah was read and conditions then and now discussed, the greatest thing noted was that at both times most were forgetting God. Daniel 12:4 was noted as prophetic of the present rush when men are running to and fro and the present great educational advantages set forth.

The sign of wars and the rumors of war which are so prominent even at the present were discussed; as that of the far-reaching famines, new pestilences and increased widespread earthquakes which indicate that the beginning of the end has already begun. The lowered standards of living as revealed in Second Timothy 3:1-5 called forth a review of present day conditions as observed by the speaker. The present status of the Jew was also spoken of as indicating that the time of the Gentiles was soon to close. All are anxious for something to happen, which God tells us will be the return of Christ. All were urged to be ready.

Afternoon prayer service at 2 o'clock. Preaching at 7:30.

Much Interest In Special Services In Third Church

Special evangelistic services conducted each evening in the Third United Presbyterian church continues to grow in interest and attendance.

A large overflow meeting was present Tuesday evening to hear Rev. John Simpson speak on the text "My Heart and My Flesh Cry Out For the Living God." Rev. Simpson drew some very striking illustrations. He emphasized the fact that the way that the soul might be satisfied was to answer the call of God. He told of a great man who had at one time made a visit to America and who he said the greatness of America was due to the large number of churches and many Christian people. The speaker said that the nations of China and India were nations of many gods.

The women's classes of the Bible school were present in a body. There was special music by a ladies quartet.

This evening will be known as Intermediate night. The young folks will have reserved seats by classes. There will be a duet by the Mooney girls. The subject of the sermon will be "A Receiving of Wrecks."

Thursday evening will be Young People's night. Rev. Simpson will speak on "The Parting of the Ways." Friday evening will be family night, when all the families will sit together. The subject of the message will be "The Tragedy of an Unsaved Family."

There will be special music at all of the services.

Prote Muddled Financial Affairs Of Firemen's Fund

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 26—While special accountants continued their investigation of the muddled financial affairs of the Scranton firemen's pension fund today Fred W. Zitzelman, former Scranton fire chief and treasurer of the fund for 16 years was at liberty under $2,500 bail.

Zitzelman was arrested last night by city detectives on a charge of embezzlement in connection with the shortage in the fund.

When Zitzelman was taken to police headquarters he waived a preliminary hearing and furnished bond for trial. The warrant for the arrest was sworn out by Magistrate Thomas D. Davies at the orders of Director of Public Safety James Arigoni.

Zitzelman has entered a complete denial of the charges against him but has not explained the reported conditions of the account over which he has had charge for so many years.

An Essay on Linens

Age 15. Senior High School.

The origin of linen is very interesting. Its mother country is Egypt. The spinning and weaving of it began in very early times. Linen is mentioned in the Bible as a part of the priest's clothing. The Bible also tells us that Pharoah arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen about 1700 B. C. Very fine linen is found in Egyptian mummy cases, and the napkins laid away with the mummies thousands of years ago, have been washed and dried without injuring them. In the tombs, under the sands of the desert, not far from Niles, are paintings showing men, women, and children of those ancient times, gathering flax in the fields and tieing it into bundles.

The principal sources of linen are Ireland, Belgium, Holland, France, Germany, Russia, and Maderia Islands. It is made from the flax plant. A damp, mild, climate is best for the growth of the plant. The seeds are sown in the spring. The harvesting time is the latter part of July and in August before the seeds have ripened. The flax has a blue flower and grows to a height of three feet, and when the stalk is yellow for about three fourths of its length, the plant is pulled up by the hands and the dirt shaken off. The seeds and leaves are removed from the stalk by machine, and are then put into water to let the bark and stem rot off. It is then spread out on the grass to dry. The flax is next passed through a machine with fluted rollers which break up the woody outside substance. The stalks are again put through a machine which separates the fiber from the wood and bark. The flax or fiber is then tied up and baled ready for market or for the spinning mill.

After the flax, so treated, arrives at the mills, it is hackled or combed to get out the long fibers which make the best thread. The fibers are sorted into different grades. They are run through combing or carding machines, and come out in long, thick, soft, ropes called slivers. The long slivers fall into round tin cans which coil them. Several slivers are then united by other machines to form a thicker sliver, and a number of thicker ones are twisted and retwisted until they come out as thread. The spinning is then done, and sometimes the linen fibers are run through a trough of hot water which so softens them that they spin better. After the spinning the fine thread is boiled and washed. It is rinsed again and again, and then if it is intended for white goods, it is spread out on the grass in the sun to bleach. It is woven unbleached or bleached into the cloth, or the thread may be dyed after going through certain processes. There are many factories in Ireland, Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria, and the Netherlands, which make vast quantities of linens.

Linen is preferred for the dining room tables because of its distinctive characteristics. The most important are the following:

Absorption. Linen absorbs water quickly.

Evaporation. Water evaporates quickly from linen, making it good for toweling, handkerchiefs, and wash cloths.

Cleanliness. It does not stain easily because of its resistence to coloring matter. Laundering increases its brilliancy and freshness.

Strength. It is the strongest of vegetable fibers. Therefore it wears well and lasts long.

Smoothness. It is smooth and soft.

Fineness. It may be spun to a most delicate thread, as in fine lace.

Luster. Linen has a luster almost as fine as that of silk. This is seen in the tablecloths.

Pattern. The pattern in the linen stands out well. All these characteristics of linen render it unsurpassed for table use.

Women should buy at Offutt's Sale because Offutt's handle the best grade of linens on the market, purchased from the foremost manufacturers and importers. Women who miss this sale will be letting a wonderful opportunity pass by them. Offutt's are offering a wonderful sale of ing table linens, cambries, and others. Germany. Irish linen is white, reliable, and enduring. Old patterns are still used. Some are hand-woven. Irish linen included table linens, cambrics, and others. German linen is silver-white and of high grade. German linen includes exquisite designs in table linen, and in printed and dyed linen, such as lunch cloths, and napkins. Offutt's are offering a wonderful variety of linens at reduced prices which do not affect the quality of them. They include linen table damasks, cream, bleached, or silver bleached in floral patterns; linen napkins silver bleached damask with rose, blue and gold fancy borders hemmed; linen damask lunch cloths and breakfast cloths; wash cloths; linen pattern cloths; unbleached linen crash toweling; all linen toweling, and hemstitched and hemmed cloths and table sets. NEW CASTLE, AND JEANNETTE W. J. OFFUTT CO. NEW CASTLE, AND JEANNETTE

One Latin-American Embassy Continues More Than Polite

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch To New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—When a lot of students in the state department's school for diplomats were caught cheating in their examinations the other day—

"Well, ain't that part of the curriculum for a student diplomat?" was asked on the floor of the house of representatives. "Did they cheat well enough to pass?"

"No," was the unofficial answer which the state department wafted back, 'they got caught."

The Cuban embassy is about the only Latin American diplomatic headquarters in Washington where a citizen of the United States, calling, gets a genuinely cordial reception these times.

The others are polite, but frigidly so.

They don't like this country's doings in Nicaragua or its attitude toward Mexico.

The Cubans don't forget that the United States was the decisive factor in enabling them to shake off Spanish rule, and then, instead of gobbling them up, that their big neighbor helped them to establish a republic of their own.

When Frank B. Kellogg accepted —without much urging—the portfolio of state, he was touted as the one man of all men to maintain pleasant relations between Washington and the capitals of the Latin states of the new world.

Instead there never has been a period during which these relations have been worse or more continuously strained.

It was claimed for Kellogg that he'd been in Latin America and understood it fully—its problems, its habits and its temperament—and understood just how to get along with it.

He'd been there, for a fact. He toured its ports on a steamship, stopping off for a day or two at most of the important ones. It was a coasting trip and he could see the Latin American republics' skyline through a pair of binoculars, from his ship's deck, a good bit of the time. He even did a little land traveling on a fast express train.

Still, there were a few things he didn't learn.

After six straight years in Latin America I arrived at this conclusion—

The typical Latin American is very susceptible to soft soap but he hates like poison to be threatened with a club.

Nobody questions that Senator Steck of Iowa put his foot in it when he accused Senator-elect Brookhart of the same state of being a paid lobbyist for Cyrus E. Woods, President Coolidge's latest appointee to the interstate commerce commission.

But maybe everybody isn't aware how deeply he put it in.

When Steck was called on to prove his charge it developed that somebody had told him that that somebody had read in a newspaper that Brookhart was lobbying, for pay, for Woods. He wasn't at liberty to say who the somebody was and he didn't remember the newspaper's name.

That, in itself, made his denunciation of Brookhart fall rather flat.

But what made it fall flatter yet was the fact that Brookhart, all along, had been opposed to Woods' confirmation by the senate and had said so emphatically, though Steck hadn't happened to overhear him. Numerous others, however, had.

Steck dropped his charge, to be sure, but it landed with an unusually dull and sickening thud.

Veteran's Loans To Be Discussed

In regard to the question of loans upon the insurance policies held by ex-service men the committee appointed to see what arrangements could be made with local banks for obtaining loans on the loan value of their policies wish to state that the question will be taken up by the New Castle banks at a meeting of the local clearing house at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Commander Harry Long believes that some arrangement will be made as he estimates that the total amount of loans asked will not be large.

The committee will be able to report more definitely after they hear from the meeting of the clearing house this afternoon.

Beaver Falls Woman Is Awarded Claim

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Pauline Schwarz of Beaver Falls, Pa., received an award on claims against the German government for losses suffered during the World War in the decisions agreed upon by the German and American members of the mixed claims commission, United States and Germany, announced today.

The commission awarded Pauline Schwarz a claim of $1,342, with interest at five per cent from August 10, 1917.

In meetings during November, December and extending to January 5, 1927, awards in 428 claims were agreed upon by the American commission, Chandler P. Anderson, and the German commissioner, Wilhelm Kiesselbach. The total amount of these awards came to $3,707,829.71. Dismissal of claims in 339 cases was announced.

Since it began to function, the mixed claims commission has disposed of 2,813 claims, having an aggregate value to the claimants of $142,583,246.92, approximately $4,500,000 of which were claims by the U. S. government.

In the latest awards the amounts ranged all the way from 45 cents to $313,400.

Mortgage Of $6,300 Paid In Eleven Weeks By The Congregation

During the last 11 weeks the congregation of the First Christian church of this city has cancelled a debt of $6,300 which has been carried by the church for a number of years and has kept the current expenses of the church paid in full.

This is a splendid record for the local congregation in that they could remove so great a debt in such a short time.

The pastor, Dr. C. H. Holcomb, and the entire membership are to be congratulated for their splendid work of freeing the church from a burden of years.

Police Hold Chum Of Murdered Man Pending An Inquiry

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Jan. 26.—Local and state police are investigating the death of Lewis Mann, 56 years old, whose mutilated body was found in the shack in which he lived at the southern end of Ambridge, this morning. The body was found by Albert Genter, 47 years old, who shared the quarters with Mann, and who is held pending an investigation.

According to Genter, the two were out together last night and did not retire until early this morning. When he awoke at 10 o'clock, he said, he found Mann lying on the floor, the head crushed.

Probe Muddled Financial Affairs Of Firemen's Fund

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 26—While special accountants continued their investigation of the muddled financial affairs of the Scranton firemen's pension fund today Fred W. Zitzelman, former Scranton fire chief and treasurer of the fund for 16 years was at liberty under $2,500 bail.

Zitzelman was arrested last night by city detectives on a charge of embezzlement in connection with the shortage in the fund.

When Zitzelman was taken to police headquarters he waived a preliminary hearing and furnished bond for trial. The warrant for the arrest was sworn out by Magistrate Thomas D. Davies at the orders of Director of Public Safety James Arigoni.

Zitzelman has entered a complete denial of the charges against him but has not explained the reported conditions of the account over which he has had charge for so many years.

Girl Passers Lose To Former Union High Basketeers

The Business College girls floor team stepped somewhat out of their class on Tuesday night at the Y. W. C. A. by playing the boys team composed of former Union High players and won 38 to 18, but they had a hard time doing it.

The girls put up a stubborn battle against the boys team. Miss Frye, Miss Saiter and Miss Miller scored for the girls team. Keefer and Pfano were the best bets for the Union High Alumni. The game was played under girls rules.

The lineup and summary:

Business College		Union Alumni
Frye	F	Keefer
Saiter	F	P. Crispy
Shaffer	C	Rech
Walker	S C	Pfano
Schaas	G	N. Crispy
R. Shaffer	G	Gibson

Sub—Miller.

Field goals—Frye 4, Miller 2, Saiter, Keefer 6, Crispy 3, Rech 4, Pfano 6.

Fouls—Business College 4 out of 13. Alumni 0 out of 7.

Referee—Miss Stewart.

$1,000,000 for this way to end Colds

One of the world's largest laboratories perfected a way to end colds. It combined a number of modern discoveries. That way proved itself so efficient, so quick, so complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

That way is called HILL'S. It checks a cold in 24 hours. It ends the fever, stops the headache. It opens the bowels, tones the entire system. And without any ill effects. As a result, one usually feels better than before the cold began.

Millions now employ it. When they learn its results they keep it ever on hand. Then a cold rarely gets started.

Here is all-in-all for colds—the best modern science knows. Things will change tomorrow if you take it now. Go start it without delay.

An Essay on Linens
by
ALLENE MEARS
Age 15. Senior High School.

The origin of linen is very interesting. Its mother country is Egypt. The spinning and weaving of it began in very early times. Linen is mentioned in the Bible as a part of the priest's clothing. The Bible also tells us that Pharoah arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen about 1700 B. C. Very fine linen is found in Egyptian mummy cases, and the napkins laid away with the mummies thousands of years ago, have been washed and dried without injuring them. In the tombs, under the sands of the desert, not far from Niles, are paintings showing men, women, and children of those ancient times, gathering flax in the fields and tieing it into bundles.

The principal sources of linen are Ireland, Belgium, Holland, France, Germany, Russia, and Maderia Islands. It is made from the flax plant. A damp, mild, climate is best for the growth of the plant. The seeds are sown in the spring. The harvesting time is the latter part of July and in August before the seeds have ripened. The flax has a blue flower and grows to a height of three feet, and when the stalk is yellow for about three fourths of its length, the plant is pulled up by the hands and the dirt shaken off. The seeds and leaves are removed from the stalk by machine, and are then put into water to let the bark and stem rot off. It is then spread out on the grass to dry. The flax is next passed through a machine with fluted rollers which break up the woody outside substance. The stalks are again put through a machine which separates the fiber from the wood and bark. The flax or fiber is then tied up and baled ready for market or for the spinning mill.

After the flax, so treated, arrives at the mills, it is hackled or combed to get out the long fibers which make the best thread. The fibers are sorted into different grades. They are run through combing or carding machines, and come out in long, thick, soft, ropes called slivers. The long slivers fall into round tin cans which coil them. Several slivers are then united by other machines to form a thicker sliver, and a number of thicker ones are twisted and retwisted until they come out as thread. The spinning is then done, and sometimes the linen fibers are run through a trough of hot water which so softens them that they spin better. After the spinning the fine thread is boiled and washed. It is rinsed again and again, and then if it is intended for white goods, it is spread out on the grass in the sun to bleach. It is woven unbleached or bleached into the cloth, or the thread may be dyed after going through certain processes. There are many factories in Ireland, Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria, and the Netherlands, which make vast quantities of linens.

Linen is preferred for the dining room tables because of its distinctive characteristics. The most important are the following:

Absorption. Linen absorbs water quickly.

Evaporation. Water evaporates quickly from linen, making it good for toweling, handkerchiefs, and wash cloths.

Cleanliness. It does not stain easily because of its resistence to coloring matter. Laundering increases its brilliancy and freshness.

Strength. It is the strongest of vegetable fibers. Therefore it wears well and lasts long.

Smoothness. It is smooth and soft.

Fineness. It may be spun to a most delicate thread, as in fine lace.

Luster. Linen has a luster almost as fine as that of silk. This is seen in the tablecloths.

Pattern. The pattern in the linen stands out well. All these characteristics of linen render it unsurpassed for table use.

Women should buy at Offutt's Sale because Offutt's handle the best grade of linens on the market, purchased from the foremost manufacturers and importers. Women who miss this sale will be letting a wonderful opportunity pass by them. Offutt's are offering a wonderful sale of ing table linens, cambrics, and others. Germany. Irish linen is white, reliable, and enduring. Old patterns are still used. Some are hand-woven. Irish linen included table linens, cambrics, and others. One Latin-American Embassy Continues More Than Polite

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch To New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—When a lot of students in the state department's school for diplomats were caught cheating in their examinations the other day—

"Well, ain't that part of the curriculum for a student diplomat?" was asked on the floor of the house of representatives. "Did they cheat well enough to pass?"

"No," was the unofficial answer which the state department wafted back, 'they got caught."

The Cuban embassy is about the only Latin American diplomatic headquarters in Washington where a citizen of the United States, calling, gets a genuinely cordial reception these times.

The others are polite, but frigidly so.

They don't like this country's doings in Nicaragua or its attitude toward Mexico.

The Cubans don't forget that the United States was the decisive factor in enabling them to shake off Spanish rule, and then, instead of gobbling them up, that their big neighbor helped them to establish a republic of their own.

When Frank B. Kellogg accepted —without much urging—the portfolio of state, he was touted as the one man of all men to maintain pleasant relations between Washington and the capitals of the Latin states of the new world.

Instead there never has been a period during which these relations have been worse or more continuously strained.

It was claimed for Kellogg that he'd been in Latin America and understood it fully—its problems, its habits and its temperament—and understood just how to get along with it.

He'd been there, for a fact. He toured its ports on a steamship, stopping off for a day or two at most of the important ones. It was a coasting trip and he could see the Latin American republics' skyline through a pair of binoculars, from his ship's deck, a good bit of the time. He even did a little land traveling on a fast express train.

Still, there were a few things he didn't learn.

After six straight years in Latin America I arrived at this conclusion—

The typical Latin American is very susceptible to soft soap but he hates like poison to be threatened with a club.

Nobody questions that Senator Steck of Iowa put his foot in it when he accused Senator-elect Brookhart of the same state of being a paid lobbyist for Cyrus E. Woods, President Coolidge's latest appointee to the interstate commerce commission.

But maybe everybody isn't aware how deeply he put it in.

When Steck was called on to prove his charge it developed that somebody had told him that that somebody had read in a newspaper that Brookhart was lobbying, for pay, for Woods. He wasn't at liberty to say who the somebody was and he didn't remember the newspaper's name.

That, in itself, made his denunciation of Brookhart fall rather flat.

But what made it fall flatter yet was the fact that Brookhart, all along, had been opposed to Woods' confirmation by the senate and had said so emphatically, though Steck hadn't happened to overhear him. Numerous others, however, had.

Steck dropped his charge, to be sure, but it landed with an unusually dull and sickening thud.

Veteran's Loans To Be Discussed

In regard to the question of loans upon the insurance policies held by ex-service men the committee appointed to see what arrangements could be made with local banks for obtaining loans on the loan value of their policies wish to state that the question will be taken up by the New Castle banks at a meeting of the local clearing house at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Commander Harry Long believes that some arrangement will be made as he estimates that the total amount of loans asked will not be large.

The committee will be able to report more definitely after they hear from the meeting of the clearing house this afternoon.

NO WONDER HE WAS SORE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26.—When thieves broke into the junk shop of Morris Katz and made away with copper tubing he was willing to pass it off as an event that might happen to anyone. But when two boys put in appearance a few days later and tried to sell him his own stuff he nearly "burned up". He was "fit to be tied," he told the magistrate when he appeared to press charges.

The critics agreed "Abie's Irish Rose" was trash. It played its 2,000th performance recently. Maybe the show still has a chance.

Building Record In Pennsylvania During Past Year

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—Building and construction work in the state was 15.5 per cent less in 1926 than in 1925, according to figures for the years made public today by the bureau of statistics in the department of labor and industry. The figures were based on the reports of the total value of building permits issued in 20 of the principal cities.

For the entire year of 1926 only three of the 20 cities showed increases over the previous 12 months. They were: Allentown, 6 per cent; Pittsburgh, 5.5 per cent, and Altoona, 1.3 per cent. The other 17 cities showed losses ranging from 65 per cent in Bethlehem to .7 per cent in Harrisburg.

The percentage of loss in building as reported for various cities included: Oil City 54.4, Uniontown 53.6, Lancaster 41, Erie 26.6, Scranton 19.9, Warren 18, Philadelphia 17.9, Bradford 17, Wilkes-Barre 8.6 and New Castle 2.8.

The total estimated value of the 1926 building permits was placed at $234,980,501. This figure is $43,864,545 less than the total of 1925.

During the month of December, 1926, the value of the permits was estimated at $26,603,040, an increase of almost 100 per cent over the same month last year. The total also showed almost nine million dollars more in December than in November this year.

Six cities showed an increase over December, 1925. They were Altoona, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Reading. During December, 1926, Philadelphia issued building permits for construction operations to cost 21 million dollars.

TONIGHT YOUR CHILD'S COUGH MAY TURN TO CROUP

Says New German Tea is Wonderful for Children's Coughs.

Most croup comes between 1 and 4 a. m. The night is cold. The drug store is locked. The doctor is powerless. What will you do if your child is attacked by croup this very night?

Careful mothers everywhere are buying a package of the new German Tea, called Weber's Pectoral Tea, and giving it to their children who have cough or cold, because it is a known remedy for this purpose. It will absolutely stop the cough, relieve croup and make the children well and happy in a few hours, in most cases.

It contains no dope as do most cough syrups, and therefore will not harm the tiniest baby.

Costs only 35c. for a large package.

All druggists here sell and recommend it.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

P. H. C. To Install Officers Thursday

Grand President Of Pennsylvania To Be Guest Of Occasion

Extensive arrangements have been completed for the annual installation of officers to be held on Thursday night in New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C.

It will be the privilege of the Circle at this time to have as their guest and installing officer, Grand President of Pennsylvania Maude C. Hobaugh of Uniontown. Mrs. Hobaugh is a speaker of unusual ability and with her pleasing personality ranks among the leaders in the large organization she represents. Supreme Auditor Dr. R. G. Baird of Sharon will also be an honor guest of the Circle and it is expected that many Circles throughout the district will be represented at this important session. An interesting item will be the class initiation with the famous degree staff in charge, the ceremonial to be followed with their wonderful drill. An excellent program is promised and later refreshments will be served.

EMULATE HORSE BY EATING ALFALFA DENTIST'S ADVICE

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Human beings should display "horse sense" and eat horse food—alfalfa.

So avers many dentists, from all over the country, here at the sessions of the American Dental Association and the American Association of Dental Schools.

Alfalfa, they were told, is the richest of all leafy-top vegetables in vitamines and iron, alike for teeth and general health.

Children's Sore Throat

Mothers know that children's sore throats are serious, often leading to tonsilitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Also that it is hard to treat because the usual remedy is a gargle and children can not gargle.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine works on new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and brings relief within 15 minutes or money back.

And the remarkable thing about it is it contains no iron, chloroform or dope—harmless and safe, pleasant taste. Remember, relief within 15 minutes or money back. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. Love & Megown, Terminal Drug Store and all other good drug stores

MAGIC COSTS LIVES; TURKS TO BURN BOOKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 26.—All books of magic have been ordered burned by the Turkish government and inspectors have started raiding book stores to confiscate occult literature. Magicians and dervishes were banned last year, but their writings have continued to influence thousands of superstitious Turks, who consider modern medical science an invention of the devil. The Angora government has estimated that belief in magic is the principal cause of Turkey's alarmingly high death rate, especially infant mortality, which is said to reach 80 per cent.

Social chat and games were enjoyed and at a seasonable hour dainty refreshmets were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. R. R. McConnell. Prizes were won by Mrs. Floyd Blair and Mrs. Herschel Ritenour. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCracken on Friday evening, February 18. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blair and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Ritenour and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. Paul McConnell and family.

"HIS UNCLE'S NIECE"

The new play entitled "His Uncle's Niece," given by the Liberty grange members will be presented again at Liberty grange hall on Wednesday evening. The play was such a success when given several weeks ago that the members have had numerous requests to present it again.

ROADS IN ICY CONDITION

The country roads around here have been in a terrible icy condition the past several weeks. On Sunday morning for several hours travel was nearly impossible on the Harlansburg road. Quite a number of machines were ditched, among them the milk truck owned by Thomas West and driven by Russell Gormley. The truck slid off the road into a deep ditch near the Floyd lane, but was not damaged

HARLANSBURG ROAD NOTES

The children of Mr. and Mrs Bert Pence have been on the sick list this week.

Dorothy McConnell of the state road is on the sick list at this writing.

Mrs. T. C. West is confined to her bed by illness.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCracken have been out of school because of chickenpox in the family for the past two weeks.

Virginia Baker, Ruth Gormley, and Pansy Nelson visited Isabelle West on Saturday.

Mr. Flemming of New Castle was a business caller here on Saturday.

Let us be thankful for Latin America, Japan and Wild Youth. Where would the orators be if it were not for perils.

TONIGHT YOUR CHILD'S COUGH MAY TURN TO CROUP

Says New German Tea is Wonderful for Children's Coughs.

Most croup comes between 1 and 4 a. m. The night is cold. The drug store is locked. The doctor is powerless. What will you do if your child is attacked by croup this very night?

Careful mothers everywhere are buying a package of the new German Tea, called Weber's Pectoral Tea, and giving it to their children who have cough or cold, because it is a known remedy for this purpose. It will absolutely stop the cough, relieve croup and make the children well and happy in a few hours, in most cases.

It contains no dope as do most cough syrups, and therefore will not harm the tiniest baby.

Costs only 35c. for a large package.

All druggists here sell and recommend it.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persisent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

P. H. C. To Install Officers Thursday

Grand President Of Pennsylvania To Be Guest Of Occasion

Extensive arrangements have been completed for the annual installation of officers to be held on Thursday night in New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C.

It will be the privilege of the Circle at this time to have as their guest and installing officer, Grand President of Pennsylvania Maude C. Hobaugh of Uniontown. Mrs. Hobaugh is a speaker of unusual ability and with her pleasing personality ranks among the leaders in the large organization she represents. Supreme Auditor Dr. R. G. Baird of Sharon will also be an honor guest of the Circle and it is expected that many Circles throughout the district will be represented at this important session. An interesting item will be the class initiation with the famous degree staff in charge, the ceremonial to be followed with their wonderful drill. An excellent program is promised and later refreshments will be served.

EMULATE HORSE BY EATING ALFALFA DENTIST'S ADVICE

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Human beings should display "horse sense" and eat horse food—alfalfa.

So avers many dentists, from all over the country, here at the sessions of the American Dental Association and the American Association of Dental Schools.

Alfalfa, they were told, is the richest of all leafy-top vegetables in vitamines and iron, alike for teeth and general health.

Children's Sore Throat

Mothers know that children's sore throats are serious, often leading to tonsilitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Also that it is hard to treat because the usual remedy is a gargle and children can not gargle.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine works on new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and brings relief within 15 minutes or money back.

And the remarkable thing about it is it contains no iron, chloroform or dope—harmless and safe, pleasant taste. Remember, relief within 15 minutes or money back. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. Love & Megown, Terminal Drug Store and all other good drug stores

"Buick is Reliable"

Buick reliability is one reason why the majority of new Buicks every year are purchased by old Buick owners.

For they have discovered the great pleasure of owning a car with one safeguard after another in its design, to prevent trouble.

Buick is the car with the Sealed Chassis, which encases every operating part inside an iron or steel housing, to keep out dirt.

Buick is the car with the high-speed starting motor, for reliability in starting—with mechanical 4-wheel-brakes, for certainty in stopping—and with a six cylinder, Valve-in-Head engine, for engine performance that is the envy of the motor car industry.

Buy a Buick. It is a more dependable, more enjoyable motor car!

NO WONDER HE WAS SORE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26.—When thieves broke into the junk shop of Morris Katz and made away with copper tubing he was willing to pass it off as an event that might happen to anyone. But when two boys put in appearance a few days later and tried to sell him his own stuff he nearly "burned up". He was "fit to be tied," he told the magistrate when he appeared to press charges.

The critics agreed "Abie's Irish Rose" was trash. It played its 2,000th performance recently. Maybe the show still has a chance.

MAGIC COSTS LIVES; TURKS TO BURN BOOKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 26.—All books of magic have been ordered burned by the Turkish government and inspectors have started raiding book stores to confiscate occult literature. Magicians and dervishes were banned last year, but their writings have continued to influence thousands of superstitious Turks, who consider modern medical science an invention of the devil. The Angora government has estimated that belief in magic is the principal cause of Turkey's alarmingly high death rate, especially infant mortality, which is said to reach 80 per cent.

Ask Immediate Action On Pension Increases

BY GEORGE H. MANNING
Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Immediate passage of the bill which would provide for increased pensions for civil war veterans and their widows is asked in several petitions from residents of Lawrence and Beaver counties which were laid before the house of representatives by Congressman Thomas W. Phillips of Butler, yesterday.

The congressman presented four petitions, one signed by citizens of Rochester, Beaver County, Pa., one by residents of Beaver County, one by residents of Lawrence County, and one by a group of citizens of Ellwood City, Lawrence County.

Three petitions also asking legislation for the increase of civil war pensions were presented by Congressman Harris J. Bixler of Johnsonburg. These included a petition from citizens of Mercer, one from residents of Youngsville in Warren County, and one from citizens of Warren, Pa.

All of these petitions urged that congress take immediate steps to bring to a vote the pending civil war pension bill, in order that further relief might be accorded to needy and suffering veterans and their widows. The petitions were referred to the house committee on invalid pensions.

The bill now before congress, which, it is believed, will be passed without serious opposition, would provide increases of pensions from $30 to $50 a month for every widow who was married to a veteran of the civil war prior to June 27, 1905. The measure was introduced by Congressman Elliott of Indiana. Last July, congress passed a bill increasing the pensions of veterans' widows who were married to the veterans during the period of their service in the civil war. In reporting the pending bill to the house, Congressman Swoope of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on invalid pensions, declared that the widows married subsequently were just as deserving of increased pensions as the former class.

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Child Gets Sick Cross, Feverish if Constipated

Look at tongue! Then give fruity laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm children and they love it

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative", and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing". Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup", then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company".

Pennsylvanian May Be Named

President Reported As Willing To Appoint Another For I. C. C. Vacancy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The south vied with Pennsylvania today for the vacancy in the Interstate Commerce Commission.

President Coolidge was reported as ready to appoint another Pennsylvanian to the commission to the post for which the senate rejected Cyrus E. Woods—but only if he can be assured the senate will confirm the new man. If Pennsylvania cannot produce such a candidate it was said, the President probably will select a southerner for the commission.

Two men—Congressman James M. Magee of Pittsburgh and James C. Davis, former director general of railroads, an Iowan, already have been mentioned for the appointment. Both men however would face considerable opposition.

Three thousand pairs of trousers are produced daily in our great Cleveland factory alone;—several hundreds more in our Lorain plant. That's a lot of pants, yet such is their remarkable value that we could sell as many more if we could make them.

The materials from which we make these extra trousers will be a marvel even to old Richman customers. The extra trousers at $4.00 are all wool—those at $3.00 are half wool and half cotton. The $6.00 trousers are made from the same fine materials as Richman's Clothes and match our suits. Thousands of steady Richman customers, who already know the value of these extra trousers as made in the Richman plants, will quickly reduce this new stock. All we can do is tell you of the unusual opportunity, the wide choice which you will now find in our store—invite you to come in and provide for your needs from a large department devoted to the showing and sale of extra pants at $3, $4 and $6.

"GAS" SUPPLY SURE AT MODERATE COST, SAYS STANDARD MAN

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—"There is little chance of the nation's gas tank going dry, even in the remote future", George H. Jones, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declared in a banquet address before the Oil City Chamber of Commerce. The oil man also declared that there is little reason to fear the price of motor fuel will become proportionately much more a part of the nation's whole motoring bill than it is today. Mr. Jones said in part:

"Our well oil will continue to meet essential requirements such as motor fuel and lubricants for generations to come. I believe, also, it will remain the cheapest source of these products.

"But if in all of this we are mistaken, we can make a fuel similar to gasoline from oil shale and coal."

GASOLINE-ELECTRIC CAR TESTED ON LOW GRADE P. R. R. BRANCH

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 26.—A gasoline-electric test car of the Pennsylvania railroad is now being tried out over the low grade branch of the Allegheny division between Red Bank and Dubois and shortly will be tested over the Salamanca branch, Buffalo division, between Oil City and Olean, N. Y.

The car is much longer and heavier than the one in daily operation on the Erie railroad between Oil City, Franklin and Meadville. The Pennsylvania car generates its own electricity from a gasoline engine and is not driven directly by gasoline power, as in the case of the Erie car.

Flames leaped from windows, and an hour later Kelly's charred body was found. Burned bits of clothing outside the house indicated that he had run outside into the snow, crazed with pain, then dartled blindly back into the fire. Kelly lived with a son, Albert, in Titusville. Another son lives in Cleveland and a daughter at Pleasantville.

Mrs. M. E. Grimes of Pittsburgh was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Dickson of Gardner.

Owing to the icy condition of the roads it was impossible for Rev. S. A. Stamm of Shenango Stop to go to church at the county home last Sunday and the service was conducted by Mr. Shaffer of East New Castle.

Mrs. E. O. Alexander of Gardner spent a day in Pittsburgh recently.

Mrs. George Nye of Gardner spent a few days with her daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Ira Alborn of Fombel Stop, returning home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kennedy of Gardner attended the funeral of Mrs. Kennedy's uncle Benjamin James of Wampum on Tuesday afternoon.

Charles Benson of Gardner was confined to his home for several days with a bad attack of rheumatism but is now improved.

Child Gets Sick Cross, Feverish if Constipated

Look at tongue! Then give fruity laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm children and they love it

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative", and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing". Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup", then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company".

Pennsylvanian May Be Named

President Reported As Willing To Appoint Another For I. C. C. Vacancy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The south vied with Pennsylvania today for the vacancy in the Interstate Commerce Commission.

President Coolidge was reported as ready to appoint another Pennsylvanian to the commission to the post for which the senate rejected Cyrus E. Woods—but only if he can be assured the senate will confirm the new man. If Pennsylvania cannot produce such a candidate it was said, the President probably will select a southerner for the commission.

Two men—Congressman James M. Magee of Pittsburgh and James C. Davis, former director general of railroads, an Iowan, already have been mentioned for the appointment. Both men however would face considerable opposition.

BUTLER MAN FINED $100 BY OHIO MAYOR

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 26.—C. H. Kenney of Butler, Pa., was fined $100 by Mayor W. F. Hurst for obtaining $10 from Lawrence Everett of this city upon representation that he was soliciting orders for suits for a Baltimore firm.

In the background of this picture is the pants shop of the Richman's Clothes Factory at 1600 East 55th St., Cleveland. Extra trousers are also made in our Lorain plant.

This well-dressed happy young woman is one of the workers in our pants shop. She is placing finished trousers on a floor truck ready to go direct to our store and our customers.

Extra Trousers
$3 — $4 — $6

Three thousand pairs of trousers are produced daily in our great Cleveland factory alone;—several hundreds more in our Lorain plant. That's a lot of pants, yet such is their remarkable value that we could sell as many more if we could make them.

The materials from which we make these extra trousers will be a marvel even to old Richman customers. The extra trousers at $4.00 are all wool—those at $3.00 are half wool and half cotton. The $6.00 trousers are made from the same fine materials as Richman's Clothes and match our suits. Thousands of steady Richman customers, who already know the value of these extra trousers as made in the Richman plants, will quickly reduce this new stock. All we can do is tell you of the unusual opportunity, the wide choice which you will now find in our store—invite you to come in and provide for your needs from a large department devoted to the showing and sale of extra pants at $3, $4 and $6.

"GAS" SUPPLY SURE AT MODERATE COST, SAYS STANDARD MAN

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—"There is little chance of the nation's gas tank going dry, even in the remote future", George H. Jones, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declared in a banquet address before the Oil City Chamber of Commerce. The oil man also declared that there is little reason to fear the price of motor fuel will become proportionately much more a part of the nation's whole motoring bill than it is today. Mr. Jones said in part:

"Our well oil will continue to meet essential requirements such as motor fuel and lubricants for generations to come. I believe, also, it will remain the cheapest source of these products.

"But if in all of this we are mistaken, we can make a fuel similar to gasoline from oil shale and coal."

GASOLINE-ELECTRIC CAR TESTED ON LOW GRADE P. R. R. BRANCH

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 26.—A gasoline-electric test car of the Pennsylvania railroad is now being tried out over the low grade branch of the Allegheny division between Red Bank and Dubois and shortly will be tested over the Salamanca branch, Buffalo division, between Oil City and Olean, N. Y.

The car is much longer and heavier than the one in daily operation on the Erie railroad between Oil City, Franklin and Meadville. The Pennsylvania car generates its own electricity from a gasoline engine and is not driven directly by gasoline power, as in the case of the Erie car.

Forty-four state legislatures are busily grinding out laws this month. Young man become a judge.

AGED MAN PERISHES IN BURNING HOUSE FIRST DAY ON JOB

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 26.—The first night he slept in the 11-room house of Judd McCurry on the old Miles Turner farm, Dempseytown, George Kelly, 75, of Titusville, was burned to death.

Flames leaped from windows, and an hour later Kelly's charred body was found. Burned bits of clothing outside the house indicated that he had run outside into the snow, crazed with pain, then darted blindly back into the fire. Kelly lived with a son, Albert, in Titusville. Another son lives in Cleveland and a daughter at Pleasantville.

Troop A Will Be Removed

Adjutant General Nearly Surprised New Castle Unaware Of Move Months Ago

SAYS SUPPORT NOT GIVEN TROOP HERE

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26. — Troop A, 104th Cavalry will be removed to Clearfield, Pa., within the immediate future. In spite of intercession upon the part of New Castle citizens, and in spite of the fact that the troop has been for some time recruited to full strength the troop will be moved according to Adjutant General Frank D. Beary. Nothing can save it now save the word of Governor John S. Fisher and this is considered unlikely as matters military are left by him to the military authorities.

On Tuesday morning, Senator George T. Weingartner and Representative Bart Richards waited upon Governor Fisher and asked that he intercede in the proposed removal. The governor's reply was that he had referred the matter to the adjutant-general, and as the case was one which concerned a neighboring county, Clearfield, and not a neighboring county, not far removed, Lawrence, that he did not feel that he should enter into the controversy. He suggested that the committee see Adjutant General Beary and this was done.

The word of General Beary was definite, and insofar as he was concerned, final. He said that Troop A would certainly be moved, that the request for transfer had already been made upon the Federal government, and that the case had gone too far to be recalled.

"I am sorry that this step has to be taken," he said, "but in the light of what has gone before it, appears to be for the best interests of the service that the troop be removed. For several years the troop has been a source of worry to this office, and to the officers in command of the brigade and regiment."

"Each year it was the same story. The drill records would show ten, fifteen, or twenty men out for the weekly drill, then a spurt of recruiting the last few weeks before camp, and the troop would show up at camp with a full complement."

"There is no criticism of the troop while it was in the field. It performed in a creditable manner, but between encampments it was not anywhere near what it should have been. The word we received a year ago was that the towuspeople would not back the troop, and that the commanding officer could not get any co-operation."

"Had the citizens of New Castle shown something of the disposition to get back of the troop that they are showing now, Troop A would have been saved to the city. As it is, steps have been taken which cannot be recalled, and while I am sorry to do it, the troop will be transferred."

General Beary said that the step had been under advisement for over a year and that at the last encampment, that of 1926, it was talked over with Captain John B. Brettell. He expressed surprise that the townspeople had not been apprised of the condition of the troop before the first of December, 1926.

Postpone Meeting Of School Board

Illness Of Dr. C. C. Green Results In Change In Time Of Meeting

Special meeting of the school board scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock with a committee from the state department of education, at the offices of the superintendent in the North Street Junior high school, was not held.

It was planned originally that the committee should arrive here previous to the meeting and inspect the vocational school activities of the local public school system with Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, and then meet with the board and report as to what the committee had determined concerning these activities here.

Dr. Green was confined to his home by illness for the first few days of the week and as it was impossible for him to act with the committee, the meeting of the board for the purpose of hearing the report of this committee was called off, after the committee was advised that it would be impossible for the superintendent to act with it at this time.

It is probable that this inspection will be held at a later date.

Arraign Three As Counterfeiters In Butler County

Federal Officials To Hold Hearing In Butler Today On Serious Charge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26.—Accused of being members of a counterfeiting gang which has over-run western Pennsylvania with a flood of spurius $20 gold certificates, two women and a man, the former arrested in Butler, Pa., and the man in Allison Park, Pa., today were to be arraigned before a United States commissioner here.

The man, who now identifies himself as E. G. Humbert, 29, of Pittsburgh, was captured by state police after, they charged, he attempted to escape. The two women, who gave their names as Mrs. Maude Zabil, 37, and Hazel Horn, 15, were arrested in Butler after the community had been flooded with counterfeit $20 bills.

Fred W. Gruber, federal secret service operative, charged that a counterfeiting gang had spread a trail of spurious notes through Homer City, Blairsville, Indiana, Butler and a number of other communities.

Greensburg Man Is Appointed As Deputy Attorney

Eastern Women Start Campaign To Have Woman Named To Deputy Office

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—Another appointive position had been filled today by Gov. John S. Fisher. In naming Thomas G. Taylor of Greensburg as deputy attorney general, the governor pointed out that Taylor had the endorsement of all elements of the Republican party in that section of the state.

Taylor was assistant district attorney of Westmoreland countw for seven years.

Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Scranton, vice chairman of the Republican state committee, it is understood, is leading an intensive drive to have a woman appointed to a position in Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge's office. Mrs. Scranton is pressing for appointment of Miss Sophia M. R. O'Hara of Wilkes-Barre, a member of the Luzerne county bar.

Rabbit Hunters Make Good Pay

(International News Service)

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 26.—Ten dollars a day can easily be made by jack rabbit hunters in the western part of the state according to Louis Knowles head of the state biological department. Through the efforts of the department a market for rabbit fur has been established through a Denver firm which has been buying rabbit skins in Colorado and Wyoming for several years.

The company pays cash for all rabbit hides as there is a heavy demand for them by manufacturers of felt. Felt manufacturers have been purchasing millions of pounds of rabbit hides from Australia every year and have not attempted until lately to obtain hides in this country according to Mr. Knowles.

Your own hands may endanger family health

This purifying toilet soap removes dirt—germs, too!

YOUR busy hands that must sweep, scrub, mop, dust—they can't avoid germs that may lurk on countless things you have to touch!

But after such work—for safety's sake—remove these germs before you touch your children or prepare food.

Health authorities say hands are among the chief carriers of sickness. See above list of 27 germ diseases hands may spread.

Surely, then, for greater protection, you—and every member of your family—will wash at all times—with the toilet soap that removes germs, as well as dirt.

So wonderful for complexion

Millions demand Lifebuoy for every toilet and bath purpose. They delight in its abundant, penetrating, quick-cleansing lather. They enjoy its mildness and purity that make complexions soft and smooth—radiantly healthy. They find it unexcelled as a deodorant, as a shampoo.

But above all, Lifebuoy helps protect against sickness. Its antiseptic lather removes germs!

You will learn to like its hygienic scent

Lifebuoy is so different from other toilet and bath soaps that even its scent is different.

Not a perfume, but a clean, pleasantly hygienic scent which proves Lifebuoy gives greater protection. Even before you've finished your first cake, you'll learn to love this cleanest of all soap scents, which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

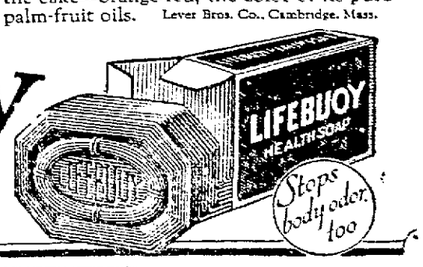

Without its antiseptic, Lifebuoy would still be a wonderful toilet soap—but you wouldn't get its protection.

Like millions of others, once you form the Lifebuoy habit, you'll wonder how any other soap ever satisfied you.

Safer—yet costs no more

Lifebuoy costs no more — probably less—than the soap you now use—so the protection it gives you is actually free!

You can get Lifebuoy wherever soap is sold. You will know it by the red box and the cake—orange-red, the color of its pure palm-fruit oils. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Knights Of Malta To Confer Degrees

Scarlet And Mark Degrees Will Be Conferred On Fifty Candidates

Star of Bethlehem Commandery No. 491 will confer the Scarlet and Mark Degree on about 50 candidates Friday evening, Jan. 28, 1927 at 7:30 p. m. All candidates are requested to be at Malta Temple promptly at this time.

In addition to local candidates the commanderies from Greenville, Sharon and Ellwood City are sending their candidates to participate in the exemplification of this work.

Further degrees will be conferred in February by one of the other commanderies in this district. This is the first meeting to be held under the new plan inaugurated by Ralph W. Emery, Deputy Grand Commander, who is also in charge of Degree Drills. Past Commander Henry W. Brudin has charge of Scarlet Degree and Past Commander Bert Seamans of Mark Degree. Practice for both degrees will be held at Temple Thursday evening, Jan. 27, 1927.

Past Commander James Herbert has charge of refreshments which will be served after degree work is completed and is ably assisted by Past Commander John Herbert, his brother.

Chinese Trouble May Be Settled

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 26. — The British government, through charge L. S. T. O'Malley, has made definite proposals to the Cantonese leaders which give hope for a belief that a satisfactory settlement of the Chinese difficulties will be reached shortly, it was officially announced today.

The statement did not disclose the nature of the proposals made by Great Britain, but pointed out that discussions still continue at Hankow and that the test of the willingness of the Cantonese to accept a reasonable settlement is now being made.

The Piercing Pains of Neuritis

The Torturing, Agonizing Pains are Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort Again

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only relieve.

The safe, effective way to help get rid of the persistent, nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It does not matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs. Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. Mc-Kee's Kill Rate Store, Eckerd's or New Castle, Inc., or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

Woman's Responsibility—Can You Meet Yours?

Mrs. Ben Campbell

Fairbanks, Pa.—"With pleasure I write this and may God help Dr. Pierce with his noble work of helping others to health and strength. I would not be without the 'Favorite Prescription' in the house. I am feeling so good and strong since using this medicine. I can work all day long now and do not have to stop to rest and I am sure I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Ben Campbell, (Filbert Mines) Box 321.

Greensburg Man Is Appointed As Deputy Attorney

Eastern Women Start Campaign To Have Woman Named To Deputy Office

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—Another appointive position had been filled today by Gov. John S. Fisher. In naming Thomas G. Taylor of Greensburg as deputy attorney general, the governor pointed out that Taylor had the endorsement of all elements of the Republican party in that section of the state.

Taylor was assistant district attorney of Westmoreland countw for seven years.

Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Scranton, vice chairman of the Republican state committee, it is understood, is leading an intensive drive to have a woman appointed to a position in Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge's office. Mrs. Scranton is pressing for appointment of Miss Sophia M. R. O'Hara of Wilkes-Barre, a member of the Luzerne county bar.

Rabbit Hunters Make Good Pay

(International News Service)

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 26.—Ten dollars a day can easily be made by jack rabbit hunters in the western part of the state according to Louis Knowles head of the state biological department. Through the efforts of the department a market for rabbit fur has been established through a Denver firm which has been buying rabbit skins in Colorado and Wyoming for several years.

The company pays cash for all rabbit hides as there is a heavy demand for them by manufacturers of felt. Felt manufacturers have been purchasing millions of pounds of rabbit hides from Australia every year and have not attempted until lately to obtain hides in this country according to Mr. Knowles.

HARD TO CHOOSE

Once there was a woman who had three suitors. She didn't know which one to marry. One was a grocer, one a doctor and one a preacher.

If she married the grocer she could get her groceries for nothing.

If she married the doctor she could be well for nothing.

If she married the preacher she could be good for nothing.

Your own hands may endanger family health

This purifying toilet soap removes dirt—germs, too!

YOUR busy hands that must sweep, scrub, mop, dust—they can't avoid germs that may lurk on countless things you have to touch!

But after such work—for safety's sake—remove these germs before you touch your children or prepare food.

Health authorities say hands are among the chief carriers of sickness. See above list of 27 germ diseases hands may spread.

Surely, then, for greater protection, you—and every member of your family—will wash at all times—with the toilet soap that removes germs, as well as dirt.

So wonderful for complexion

Millions demand Lifebuoy for every toilet and bath purpose. They delight in its abundant, penetrating, quick-cleansing lather. They enjoy its mildness and purity that make complexions soft and smooth—radiantly healthy. They find it unexcelled as a deodorant, as a shampoo.

But above all, Lifebuoy helps protect against sickness. Its antiseptic lather removes germs!

You will learn to like its hygienic scent

Lifebuoy is so different from other toilet and bath soaps that even its scent is different.

Not a perfume, but a clean, pleasantly hygienic scent which proves Lifebuoy gives greater protection. Even before you've finished your first cake, you'll learn to love this cleanest of all soap scents, which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Without its antiseptic, Lifebuoy would still be a wonderful toilet soap — but you wouldn't get its protection.

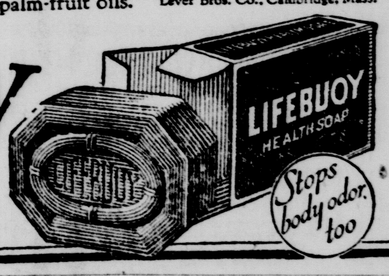

Like millions of others, once you form the Lifebuoy habit, you'll wonder how any other soap ever satisfied you.

Safer—yet costs no more

Lifebuoy costs no more — probably less —than the soap you now use—so the protection it gives you is actually free!

You can get Lifebuoy wherever soap is sold. You will know it by the red box and the cake—orange-red, the color of its pure palm-fruit oils. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

MRS. P. R. BURROWS
613 Oak St., says:
Lifebuoy is a big favorite with my whole family. We all like its nice thick lather—it's so cleansing, yet so gentle and it makes the skin so clear and smooth. And its wonderful clean smell fast proves that Lifebuoy does contain a real antiseptic. As a matter of fact I think we owe ourselves a lot of sickness now that we get rid of germs every time we wash

Knights Of Malta To Confer Degrees

Scarlet And Mark Degrees Will Be Conferred On Fifty Candidates

Star of Bethlehem Commandery No. 491 will confer the Scarlet and Mark Degree on about 50 candidates Friday evening, Jan. 28, 1927 at 7:30 p. m. All candidates are requested to be at Malta Temple promptly at this time.

In addition to local candidates the commanderies from Greenville, Sharon and Ellwood City are sending their candidates to participate in the exemplification of this work.

Further degrees will be conferred in February by one of the other commanderies in this district. This is the first meeting to be held under the new plan inaugurated by Ralph W. Emery, Deputy Grand Commander, who is also in charge of Degree Drills. Past Commander Henry W. Brudin has charge of Scarlet Degree and Past Commander Bert Seamans of Mark Degree. Practice for both degrees will be held at Temple Thursday evening, Jan. 27, 1927.

Past Commander James Herbert has charge of refreshments which will be served after degree work is completed and is ably assisted by Past Commander John Herbert, his brother.

Chinese Trouble May Be Settled

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 26. — The British government, through charge L. S. T. O'Malley, has made definite proposals to the Cantonese leaders which give basis for a belief that a satisfactory settlement of the Chinese difficulties will be reached shortly, it was officially announced today.

The statement did not disclose the nature of the proposals made by Great Britain, but pointed out that discussions still continue at Hankow and that the test of the willingness of the Cantonese to accept a reasonable settlement is now being made.

The Piercing Pains of Neuritis

The Torturing, Agonizing Pains are Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort Again

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only relieve.

The safe, effective way to help get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs. Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

DR. SACASA FEARS CLASH

Head Of Liberals In Nicaragua Points Out Danger Of Conflict

BY JOHN PAGE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1927, By International News Service

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, Jan. 26.—The danger of a clash between United States Marines and Liberal troops was pointed out today by Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, head of the Liberal government, in an exclusive statement to International News Service.

Dr. Sacasa deplored the situation, but charged that the action of the Marines in constantly extending neutral zones had aroused hostility. He declared that the Diaz government at Managua could not stand without American support and disclaimed any anti-American feeling on his own part.

"Hostility has been aroused by the action of the United States Marines in following the constitutionalists and declaring neutral all the cities wrested from the Diazista army," said Dr. Sacasa.

"Such acts are making Nicaraguans desperate. The situation is bad and is increasing in gravity. Creation of these neutral zones is robbing us of the places captured by us through force of arms."

Dr. Sacasa expressed the determination to carry on in spite of all difficulties. He added:

"I am convinced that Diaz government would quickly fall should the American government withdraw its support and resume an attitude of neutrality."

Dr. Sacasa, after denying any anti-Americanism referred to the United States as his "second mother country."

"That is where I was educated," continued the Liberal chief. "That is where I became imbued with Liberalism."

1,000 STEEL BOX CARS, ORDERED BY B. & O. TO COST $1,900,000

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26.—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad, it was announced today, has placed orders for 1,000 steel box cars, 500 with the American Car and Foundry Company and 500 with the Pressed Steel Car Company, at an approximate cost of $1,900,000. This is in addition to 2,000 steel hopper cars ordered last week.

Congressman Hudson Calls On Organized Drys To Combat Wet Efforts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—A call to the organized drys to arouse themselves for the fight to combat wet attacks upon the 18th amendment was sounded before the national conference of the W. C. T. U. today by Representative Grant M. Hudson (R.) of Michigan, a congressional dry leader.

He characterized the wets' efforts as the most dangerous attack made in history upon the government for "it is an attack on the integrity of the government."

"There is in our major cities extensive law violation" Hudson said. "Whatever its cause it is a festering cancer in the social and civic life of the community."

Declaring there are sufficient laws now "to cut out and heal up the ulcer" Hudson admonished the drys to come in larger numbers to the polls, to drive out "irresponsible and corrupt judges," remove "indifferent, lax and treacherous officers from positions of prosecution and enforcement" and to arouse the citizenship "to the necessity for the curtailment of crime and solution of law enforcement."

The fight will be a hard one, Hudson warned, because the wets are more active and have more money than ever before."

Sure Way To Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

Missionary From India Speaker At Woman's Meeting

Mrs. Osborne Crowe of New Wilmington, returned missionary from India, will be the principal speaker at the annual union meeting of the Missionary Societies of the First United Presbyterian church which will be an event of Thursday evening, January 27, at 7:45.

Mrs. Crowe has been located in the mission field of India for a number of years and is on furlough in this country. A most interesting message is anticipated.

The meeting will be under the direction of the Dorcas Circle with the president, Mildred Ray, presiding. Men will be welcome to the meeting.

Bobbing Is Opposed By Ex-Royal Barber

At Ninety-Nine Berlin's Oldest Hairdresser Denounces Popular Style

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—Jean Baptist Chauvency, Berlin's oldest barber, is firm against bobbed hair. On the occasion of his recent ninety-ninth birthday he was asked what he thought of short hair for women and blurted out angrily:

"What a lugubrious fashion! The beautiful hair is shaved off in the neck; the woman's most attractive possession—her curls—are clipped and the ears, which also constitute one of the chief attractions of a woman, are covered up. How can the men of today permit such a thing?"

Chauvency, a Frenchman by birth, was friseur to Princess Victoria of England and followed her to Germany, when she became the wife of Emperor Frederick. Most of the crowned heads of Europe were shaved or had their hair trimmed by him.

Two Accidents Are Reported To Police

Andy Alberico of 24 Lawrence street, reported Tuesday that he was driving north on Moravia street at the Gardner avenue viaduct, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 235-488 turned toward West Long avenue and the machine collided. There was some damage done.

Mrs. W. G. Siyufy of 715 Cunningham avenue, reported Tuesday that while her car was parked on Neshannock avenue in the four hundred block, that a yellow and orange colored truck going east on Neshannuck avenue, ran into and damaged her machine.

COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT AT FAIRMONT MAY END

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 26. — Recommending a drastic change in the bi-partisan commissioner charter which has governed the city of Fairmont for several years, Harry G. Fletcher, chairman of the committee of city government of the mayor's general committee to investigate the needs of the city, made a report today. The committee declared that the present form of government has no place and is given no recognition in any known form of constitutional popular government.

The recommendation asks for a city government of a mayor and eight councilmen, one from each ward, and that all city officers be appointed by the mayor with the consent of council. The mayor under the plan would receive a salary of not less than $3,000 nor more than $3,500 a year. No change is requested in the government until the expiration of the terms of the present commissioners next July 1.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? You are poisoned. The bowels are clogged and liver inactive. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients and olive oil. They act easily upon the bowels, free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Be beautiful. Have rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy that make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

200,000,000 SEEN AS U. S. POPULATION WITHIN 75 YEARS

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The population of the United States will reach the 200,000,000 mark within 75 years, David F. Houston, former secretary of agriculture predicts.

Sufficient natural resources to take care of an enormous growth, during the present century, are to be found here, Houston says.

"With only six per cent of the world's population," he declares, "we have 54 per cent of its copper, 50 of its lumber, 60 of its cotton, 56 of its pig iron, 70 of its oil and rubber, 36 of its railway mileage, 59 of its telephones and telegraph facilities, and 81 of its automobiles."

Take Partola, in antiseptic, mint-flavored, laxative tablets, at night. Drive out the poisonous wastes—have regular, pleasant movements, better health, renewed energy, long life. Any good druggist sells Partola, regular box 30c, double size 50c. Try it tonight!

Couple Break Into Morgue, Make Love

EATONTOWN, N. J., Jan. 26.—A man and woman who have trysted nightly for three months in a morgue, disturbing coffins and leaving love letters underneath caskets, are being sought by police.

"Nobody can make a meeting place out of my morgue," declared Charles Bresse, the undertaker, in asking local police and state troopers to apprehend the couple. Bresse lives next door to the morgue on South street.

The undertaker said he became aware of the fact that the place was being used as a rendezvous when he saw moving lights there. He placed a double padlock on the late one night. He frightened the intruders away and placed a padlock on the door which hitherto had remained unlocked.

The fearless couple secured a key of their own and continued to invade the morgue. Last week Bresse placed a double padlock on the door, but he feared they would get in despite that.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The population of the United States will reach the 200,000,000 mark within 75 years, David F. Houston, former secretary of agriculture predicts.

Sufficient natural resources to take care of an enormous growth, during the present century, are to be found here, Houston says.

"With only six per cent of the world's population," he declares, "we have 54 per cent of its copper, 50 of its lumber, 60 of its cotton, 56 of its pig iron, 70 of its oil and rubber, 36 of its railway mileage, 59 of its telephones and telegraph facilities, and 81 of its automobiles."

Couple Break Into Morgue, Make Love

EATONTOWN, N. J., Jan. 26.—A man and woman who have trysted nightly for three months in a morgue, disturbing coffins and leaving love letters underneath caskets, are being sought by police.

"Nobody can make a meeting place out of my morgue," declared Charles Bresse, the undertaker, in asking local police and state troopers to apprehend the couple. Bresse lives next door to the morgue on South street.

The undertaker said he became aware of the fact that the place was being used as a rendezvous when he saw moving lights there late one night. He frightened the intruders away and placed a padlock on the door which hitherto had remained unlocked.

The fearless couple secured a key of their own and continued to invade the morgue. Last week Bresse placed a double padlock on the door, but he feared they would get in despite that.

Committees Of State Legislature Begin Sessions

Many Bills Will Be Ready For Reporting By Monday Night

BUDGET MESSAGE CREATES INTEREST

By G. ROSS DOWNING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—Committee meetings in both branches of the legislature went forward today while the bodies were in adjournment, thus insuring many reports on bills Monday night when the session reconvenes.

Eleven bills were given their first reading and passed to the second in the Senate and eight in the House before the brief session was adjourned at noon yesterday. These bills will form second reading calendars and working guides for the lawmakers Monday night. Thus some rapid legislation is expected when the fifth week of the session gets under way.

Budget Main Topic

Governor John S. Fisher and his budget for the biennium formed the main topics of discussion among the legislators today. Governor Fisher is expected to transmit his budget to the legislature Monday night. That is the time it must come, four weeks after his inauguration, according to the provisions of the administrative code.

Various comment could be heard regarding the budget. Some was to the effect that it would be slightly larger than the Pinchot budget two years ago, but that the increase would be taken care of by the increased volume of revenue and not by increased rates in any form. It is the words of the governor's budget message which many solons are awaiting before tossing various appropriation bills into the legislative hopper.

Organization Complete

The announcement of the legislative employes for the session yesterday completed the organization of the General Assembly and cleared the way for rapid progress in the next week.

Nearly 500 bills have been introduced in both branches, many of them minor measures of local interest. Practically all have been referred to committees.

A series of six election bills introduced by Senator Homsher of Lancaster received considerable comment today. His measures would increase the required number of electors signing candidates' nomination papers and would prohibit candidates from holding endorsements of more than one political party.

Among other legislation was a bill introduced by Senator Lamb of Venango providing for examination of accounts and records of stock brokers in the state by the secretary of banking.

Ah, well: midland Congressmen care as much about the Navy as tidewater Congressmen do about farm relief.

Your Income Tax

Income Tax in a Nutshell:

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period ends March 15, 1927.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

No. 9.

In computing the tax on earned net income consideration is given the taxpayer engaged in trade or business in which both capital and personal service are material income producing factors. The revenue act of 1926 provides in such cases that a "reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services" shall be considered as earned income. Such allowance is not to exceed 20 per cent of the taxpayer's share of the net profits of such trade or business. For example, a taxpayer recived in 1926 from a business in which both personal services and capital are material income producing factors a net profit of $30,000. The 25 per cent credit is computed on 20 per cent of $30,000, or $6,000. The amount payable is the tax on $30,000 less 25 per cent of the tax on $6,000.

The earned income credit is allowed members of a partnership, such credit applyug to the share of the net income belonging to each which consists of earned income. Where as in the case of an individual taxpayer, capital and personal service are both material income producing factors, the 20 per cent limitation applies. In such cases the salaries paid a partner should be added to the distributive shares to determine the "reasonable allowance for personal services." For example the "A" partnership, consisting of two members, made in 1926 a net income of $40,000. Each partner drew during the year a salary of $7,000. These salaries should be added to the net income making a total of $54,000. Hence $27,000 is the distributive share of each partner. Twenty per cent of $27,000 is $5,400. East partner therefore is allowed an earned net income of $5,400 although his salary was $7,000.

If a partnership business consists principally in rendering personal service, the employment of capital not being material, but merely incidental the earnings of such partnership are consdered due primarily to the activities of the owners. In such cases the 20 per cent limitation does not apply and the entire net income up to $20,000 may be reated as earned income when computing the 25 per cent credit.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT.

A broiled vegetable dinner is a bit of a novelty that is a specialty of a New York restaurant. It is not too elaborate or complicated for the home meal as printed below. Even if your family demands a meat course at least once a day as a rule they will be grateful for an occasional dinner where it is omitted.

Mushroom Caps Tomato Halves
Celery Stalks Sweet Potatoes
Banana Cream Pie.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Broiled Vegetables—Mushrooms and tomatoes are canned of course. Parboil the sweet potatoes before being arranged in the dish. Butter is generously spread over the vegetables and they are either baked in a hot oven or broiled under a low flame. Sometimes stalks of canned asparagus are substituted for the celery.

Banana Cream Pie — Three-quarters of a cup of hot milk, one-half cup of sugar, one tablespoon of butter, the yolks of two eggs, three bananas, one-third cup of flour, the whites of two eggs, one-quarter of a teaspoon of vanilla, an additional two tablespoons of sugar and one baked piecrust shell.

Scald milk in a double boiler. Cream the sugar and butter together. Beat in the yolks of eggs and flour. Add them to milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Peel and scrape the bananas. Have your pastry shell ready. Spread with a layer of the cream then a layer of sliced bananas, alternating the two layers with the top layer of cream. Whip the egg whites with two tablespoons of sugar until frothy and dry. Add vanila Then spread over the pie and brown the meringue in the oven.

A word of caution—see that the bananas are entirely ripened—a deep yellow skin spotted with brown is indicative of ripeness. In this condition the banana is not only at its best flavor but easy to digest as well.

SUGGESTIONS.

Don't Crowd.

Don't crowd the house with furniture. It ceases to be homelike when you do. Leave a few empty spaces on which the eye may rest.

Longer Life.

If candles are placed in the refrigerator for a day or so before they are lighted they will last longer and the wax will not trickle down over the candlestick so readily.

When Paper Sticks.

If the paper sticks to the package of raisins place them in the oven for a few minutes and you will be able to pull the paper off easily. It will also cause the raisins to separate and fall apart.

Try These.

A salad of bacon, spinach and cold cooked eggs. Use a boiled dressing or a light cream dressing.

Vinegar in the candy when cooking it. Put in a dessertspoonful and the candy will be smooth and not turn into sugar.

A grapefruit knife to remove muffins, small cakes, etc., from the baking tins.

A miscellaneous shower was held Friday evening by the community in the M. E. church in honor of Miss Agnes Howell, who will leave in a few days for Boston, Mass., to enter college. Miss Howell will be missed both in church and Sunday school, where she was a leader. Rev. Downs gave a short talk and the evening was spent in music and sociability. At a seasonable hour the ladies of the M. E. Aid ushered the folks into the dining room where they served dainty refreshments. The hostess received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Critics Enthusiastic Over Talent Shown By "Bimbo" Cast In Final Dress Rehearsal

Local Artists Show Unusual Ability As Result Of Two Weeks' Arduous Application

First Annual Production Of Veterans Of Foreign Wars Promises Great Success

A select few critics who witnessed the final rehearsal of "Bimbo", the romantic musical comedy being produced with a New Castle cast at the new Scottish Rite Cathedral, enthusiastically declare it to be one of the best and snappiest stage entertainments ever attempted here. Everything is now in readiness for the rising of the curtain tomorrow night.

The cast is well chosen, having been selected by New Castle's most talented casting director, the characters play their parts in a most able and acceptable manner, while the numerous choruses of popular artists have a great abundance of pep stored up to put their part of the show over in great style.

The different committees of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, under whose auspices the production is being staged, have outdone themselves in their efforts to realize the greatest success possible. Nothing has been left undone that would make "Bimbo" as nearly a professional attraction as possible.

"Bimbo" has a good plot and the singing and dancing numbers are out of the ordinary to a high degree. The comedy is excellent. The story is laid on the island of Bimbo, in the South Seas, where the natives at war are anticipating the arrival of a new Governor from the United States.

A motion picture producer, who arrives with a camera, is mistaken for the new executive with a machine gun. The complications that result from his adventures with the natives and numerous feminine admirers, who have followed him to the island provide the plot and thrills which make the show worthwhile.

The Plot of Bimbo

Sylvia Vanderveer, an heiress to the Bimbo oil fields, has made a promise to her dying father that she will not marry until her Aunt Portia, whose specialty is bugs, has married.

Jack Damon, an American civil engineer, in love with Sylvia, promises her that they will find a man for Aunt Portia right here on the island of Bimbo; if Sylvia will marry him when his company completes the railroad he is engaged in constructing to meet one the government is building. Jack plans that Aunt Portia shall marry Lord Algernon, an English nobleman, but Algy falls in love with the Princess Lillikoza, a native of Bimbo.

General Cadenza, chief of the Bimbo governmental staff, is worried very much by the princess, Georgianna Tibbs, and Agnes McNally, a skirt drummer, all of whom are in love with Hiram Budd of Oshkosh, Wis., who is over here with his motion picture camera to take some scenes. Budd has been mistaken for the new governor, sent from the United States with a new machine gun.

The three ladies finally draw straws to see who marries the governor. Hiram holds the straws and peeks to see that Agnes draws the right one. Hiram is telling the people about his moving picture of Sheridan's ride, when a messenger brings in a telegram to General Cadenza stating that the new governor was delayed in departing from San Francisco.

The natives want Hiram Budd for the real governor, but he and Agnes want to return to Oshkosh and take Georgiana to her Clarence, who is still waiting for her. Algy and the princess announce their marriage. Jack reads a telegram stating that the railroads met at San Pedro and that he will get his bonus. Portia unconsciously hands the General a bunch of scarlet poppies, and the laws of Bimbo read that when one passes a scarlet poppy to one of the opposite sex they are legally married, so Portia and the General agree to obey the law. Jack and Sylvia can marry now, so they start for home on the steamer Orarilla.

Special scenery, electrical effects, combined with pleasing costumes and excellent acting on the part of the players, make "Bimbo" a rare treat, which should be seen by all. It's musical, it's funny, it's mighty well staged.

LOUIS JENKINS IS RIOT IN BURLESQUE OF BIMBO RULER

"Comedy roles are always the most difficult to fill in any production", according to Miss Leona Artley, directress of "Bimbo", to be presented at the Scottish Rite Cathedral tomorrow and Friday evenings. "But those who witness this production will find a natural born comedian in Louis Jenkins, who plays the part of Hiram Budd", she confidently declared.

Jenkins, a graduate of New Castle High school, takes one of the leading and most difficult parts in the play and promises to bring the house down with his portrayal of the much sought after Hiram Budd, who finds himself desired by so many damsels.

He also distinguishes himself as a vocalist in his rendition of the solo number, "The Governor of Bimbo".

BARBARA BRATCHIE SCORES HIT WITH "ROMANCE LAND"

Those who attended the dress rehearsal of "Bimbo" were unanimous in declaring Miss Barbara Bratchie one of the hits of the show.

Miss Bratchie, in the role of Georgianna Tibbs, opens the second act of the play by singing the captivating number, "Romance Land", assisted by the principals and chorus ensemble.

Amidst a setting of palm trees and scenery depicting a langorous island in the South Pacific, the group will carry their hearers off their feet.

ENTICING CHORUS GROUPS PREVAIL IN BIMBO COMEDY

"Bimbo" is so replete with charming choruses that it is difficult and well nigh impossible to speak of any one of them as "the one". No less than 11 groups of well trained persons vie with each other to carry off the chorus honors of the production.

Four of these, namely the Dwarfs, Models, Tourists and Flapper Bandits, each of which is equipped with a pleasing repertoire of songs and dances, and pleasing costumes, are novelties of the first water.

Virginia Reeher And Allan Haid In Heavy Roles

Miss Virginia Reeher and Allan Haid need no introduction to New Castle as topnotch entertainers, having carried off honors in too many local productions. As Aunt Portia and General Cadenza in the musical comedy, "Bimbo", these two favorites will again please with their matchless ability.

Assisted by the "Toddle Town Dancers", Miss Reeher will sing "Toddle Town", one of the peppy musical numbers of the show, while the role of Aunt Portia, whose specialty is bugs, affords her an excellent opportunity to display her dramatic talent.

General Cadenza, as played by Allan Haid, is a role filled with comedy and serious lines, as commander of the Bimbo "Army", in a "Burlesque Drill" he shows real ability as a military tactician.

"BIMBO LAND" IS MUSICAL HIT OF VETERANS COMEDY

Rosalind Ehrlich as Princess Lillikoza, and Norman Cotton in the role of Lord Algernon, two of the principals in "Bimbo", add to the melange of catchy song numbers with which the play is filled by singing a South Sea Island melody "Bimbo Land", shortly after the opening of the first act.

Atmosphere, action and volume are added to their efforts by a bevy of island beauties in the chorus of "South Sea Island Belles", including Gladys Campbell, Mabel Harbert, Doris Evans, Clara May Lindsley, Thelma Onasch and Grace Nickel.

SHIRLEY GARWIG AS VOCALIST STARS IN VETS ANNUAL SHOW

Miss Shirley Garwig as Sylvia Vanderveer, the romantic young lady who is the lead in the musical comedy "Bimbo", being staged by the Corporal Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral tomorrow and Friday evenings, is certain to captivate those who attend.

Assisted by Charles Walthers as Jack Damon, both of them have an opportunity to display their talents as vocal artists when they sing two popular numbers, "Little Boy Blue" and "Bungalow for Two".

Supporting the two principals in their rendition of "Little Boy Blue" is the "Boy Blues" chorus, who show remarkable ability in their singing and dancing, their unique costumes creating a picture pleasing to the eye.

The funny part of it is that the average man doesn't have any idea what McAdoo's religion is.

Bimbo Tourists Friendly Rivals Of "Toddle" Maids

Competition Between Chorus Groups Proves Incentive For Perfection In Roles

Nearly two weeks of almost incessant rehearsal for "Bimbo", the romantic musical comedy to be presented at the Cathedral Thursday and Friday nights this week finds the cast of 200 vieing with each other in their efforts to excel.

Competition is particularly strong between the two chorus groups known as the "Tourists" and "Toddle Dancers", each of whom have prominent parts on the bill of high-class musical and dance numbers.

The first faces to greet you as the curtain rises on the island of "Bimbo" will be the "Tourists". Dressed in their natty sport outfits, they presage in a cool and breezy manner the good things that are to follow as the play continues.

Those who compose the "Tourist" chorus are: Helen Twaddle, Florence Scott, Kathryn Preston, Ruth Campbell, Ruth Stanley, Olive Grassel, Marie Wilson, Isabelle Thomas, Jack Honston, Mac Chamber, Sherwood Brown, Herbert Smith, Orren McFarland, Norman Lewis, Almon Merris and Charles Neelis.

The entire production is so replete with charming choruses that it is difficult to mention any one of them as "the one". However, the "Toddle Dancers" is a chorus that is considered especially tuneful, peppy and well costumed.

A tune that lingers with you, a chorus of girls that are particularly pleasing, arrayed in gorgeous creations of fur-trimmed white satin, strumming ukeleles. Who could wish for more?

Those who "Toddle" your cares away are: Dorothy Boyles, Audree Baker, Josephine McGuire, Mary Whalen, Harriet Martin, Hazel Ferguson, Josephine Sowersby and Harriet Beadel. Suffice to say, these young ladies have attained almost perfect execution and are certain to be one of the hits of the play.

"Bimbo" offers two hours of clean, wholesome entertainment in which the best talent in the city will strive to surpass all former productions.

PORTRAYS "MOTH" AND "FLAMES" IN DANCE NUMBER

The age-old story of the moth and the flame is the theme for an allegorical episode in pantomime and dance, featured in the play "Bimbo", to be presented at the Cathedral tomorrow and Friday evening under the auspices of Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

New Castle's most accomplished youthful dancer, Miss Cecilia McCoy, excels all former performances in her masterful and bewitching interpretation of "The Moth". The combination of costume, lighting effects and dance, with the assistance of 20 winsome youngsters as "Flames", is far beyond any other seen here in either amateur or professional production.

Faith may be foolish, but, alas! so many philosophers who depended on reason alone went mad.

Butler Tossers Defeat Ellwood

Butler High Too Strong For Ellwood City High In Game Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—Butler High with a well balanced aggregation of basketeers descended on Ellwood City on Tuesday night and swamped the local High floor team under a count of 43 to 17. The game despite the fact that it was lopsided proved highly interesting.

It was the second straight defeat for the Blue and White team at the hands of sectional rivals and just about eliminates them from further consideration as contenders for the Section IV championship.

Butler High went into an early lead and at the end of the first quarter were leading 11 to 7. At half time the score favored Butler 22 to 16. Ellwood City spurted somewhat in the third stanza and managed to score seven points to eight for Butler. The score at the end of the third quarter stood 30 to 23, with Butler in the van.

Ellwood City was held scoreless in the entire fourth quarter while the visitors scored a total of 13 points.

LaFevre, Wolfgang and Krankota scored a total of 19 baskets between them.

Harper and Lobuanno put up a fine guarding game for the visitors. For Ellwood City the work of J. King was the outstanding feature, this youngster caging the ball on four occasions.

The lineup and summary:

Butler—43		Ellwood—17
LaFevre	F	Labate
Krankota	F	Clyde
Wolfgang	C	J. King
Lobuanno	G	MacMurdo
Harper	G	Justice

Subs: Butler: Disciono; Ellwood City: W. King, Johnston, Dunn, Jones, H. Slocum, E. Slocum, Liebendorfer.

Field goals: LaFevre 7, Krankota 3, Wolfgang 8, Lobuanno, J. King 4, Labate, Clyde.

Fouls: Butler 3 out of 8; Ellwood City 5 out of 13.

Referee, Smith.

Rev. T. A. Houston Dies This Morning

Pastor Of United Presbyterian Church At Darlington Passes Away

Word was received today of the death of Rev. T. A. Houston, 77, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Darlington, Pa., his death being due to complications which followed injuries sustained in a fall on the ice about two weeks ago.

Rev. Houston had been an active minister of the United Presbyterian Genomination for almost 60 years, and had been at Darlington for the past ten years.

Prior to going to Darlington, Rev. Houston and family had been residents of New Wilmington and he was well known in the college community and in Lawrence county.

In addition to the widow, members of the family are four sons and two daughters.

Funeral services will be conducted at the United Presbyterian church at Darlington at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. Interment will be made in Pittsburgh.

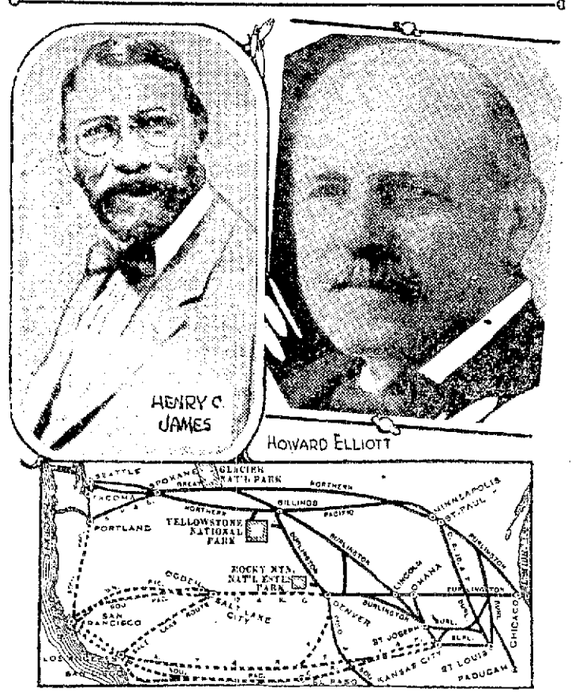

Neshannock Mutual Company Election

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 26.—The following board of directors were elected by the stockholders of the Neshannock Mutual Fire Insurance company of Western Pennsylvania at their annual meeting here on Monday afternoon: John T. Smith of Liberty towusip, W. J. Wilson of Wolf CCreek township, A. M. Croyes of New Wilmington township, Thompson Robinson of Findley township and W. G. Christley of Springfield township.

The board organized by the election of J. T. Smith president; W. J. Wilson, vice president; John T. St. Clair, secretary and C. P. Davis as treasurer. The secretary is of Grove City the treasurer of Mercer.

The fiscial report for the year shows a gain of $357,000 in insurance for 1926 with a toal amount of insurance written $11,534,000. The expense of the year in fire losses amounted to $27,422.05, the losses by lightning $4,765.14. The expense in operating amounted to $4,135.36. The company is free from all debt and has been organized since 1876.

PLAN GREATEST RAIL SYSTEM

That definite plans for the merger of the Great Northern Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroads (the so called "Hill" Lines) would be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission, has become known through announcement of interested railroad executives. The merger would comprise approximately 28,000 miles of railroad, making the largest rail system in the world. Heavy lines on map above show roads included; dotted lines reveal connecting divisions of other roads, which, however are not in the merger, although Henry Curtiss James, above, largest individual stockholder in the roads included in the merger plan also is the largest individual stockholder in two of the connecting railroads—Western Pacific and Southern Pacific. James is reputed to own more railroad stock than any other man in the world. Howard Elliott, also above, is chairman of the Northern Pacific board.

Butler Tossers Defeat Ellwood

Butler High Too Strong For Ellwood City High In Game Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—Butler High with a well balanced aggregation of basketeers descended on Ellwood City on Tuesday night and swamped the local High floor team under a count of 43 to 17. The game despite the fact that it was lopsided proved highly interesting.

It was the second straight defeat for the Blue and White team at the hands of sectional rivals and just about eliminates them from further consideration as contenders for the Section IV championship.

Butler High went into an early lead and at the end of the first quarter were leading 11 to 7. At half time the score favored Butler 22 to 10. Ellwood City spurted somewhat in the third stanza and managed to score seven points to eight for Butler. The score at the end of the third quarter stood 30 to 17, with Butler in the van.

Ellwood City was held scoreless in the entire fourth quarter while the visitors scored a total of 13 points.

LaFevre, Wolfgong and Krankota scored a total of 19 baskets between them.

Harper and Lobuanno put up a fine guarding game for the visitors. For Ellwood City the work of J. King was the outstanding feature, this youngster caging the ball on four occasions.

The lineup and summary:

Butler—43.		Ellwood—17
LaFevre	F	Labate
Krankota	F	Clyde
Wolfgong	C	J. King
Lobuanno	G	MacMurdo
Harper	G	Justine

Subs: Butler: Discione; Ellwood City: W. King, Johnston, Dunn, Jones, H. Slocum, E. Slocum, Liebendorfer.

Field goals: LaFevre 7, Krankota & Wolfgong 8, Lobuanno, J. King 4 Labate, Clyde.

Fouls: Butler 3 out of 8; Ellwood City 5 out of 13.

Referee, Smith.

Unusual Bills Are Presented

Number Of Measures Before State Legislature Seem To Be Personal Whims

ABOUT 250 BILLS NOW INTRODUCED

(From News Bureau State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26. — To the casual observer, the session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly thus far, has been one adjournment after the other. So far no session has lasted for more than one hour, save the one in which Governor Pinchot delivered his farewell message, and a large part of the hour session has been devoted to the reading of resolutions.

The old timers promise plenty of work inside of two weeks when the bills begin to come from the committees. There are about 250 of these, some of which will get to the floor of the House and some of which will still be in committee when the sessions adjourns sine die on April 11.

Many of the bills appear to be the whim of some legislator, either to get his name hung on a piece of legislation, or to satisfy some officially to watch the legislative goods go around.

Some Unusual Bills

One gentleman has two bills in the hopper concerning the regulation of athletic sports. The first would make it a misdemeanor for any persons or group of persons to participate in athletics on Memorial Day. In other words he would make Memorial Day a closed day, except for Memorial and military purposes.

At the same time he submits a bill which would call for local option in the matter of Sunday observances, not a local option which would allow counties and cities to decide for themselves, but a local option which would let each boro, township, and each ward in a city decide the matter for themselves. No mention is made about dividing it off into streets or blocks.

Primary Under Attack

The direct primary seems to be in for several attacks, some of them an attempt to modify the primary, and others an attempt to wipe out the system altogether. The representatives from the hard coal region are beginning a campaign to save the Miners' License Law, which makes it necessary for every hard coal miner to take out a license before he can mine coal, the representatives of the railroads are in evidence looking for any bill designed to harm the roads, the dry Lobbyists are here to see that no attempt is made to nullify the Snyder Act and the wet lobbyists are here in an attempt to do that thing.

Everybody wants something, apparently. The lobbyists, both male and female representing every known form of endeavor it seems are in the crowds back of the rail in the House, and they seem to take turns going down the aisle and buttonholing the representatives.

It's a rather unusual scene, the House while it is at work. Page boys darting here and there in answer to summons, reading clerks droning out communications and resolutions, members sitting back in their seats smoking and reading, and up in the gallery and back of the rail, several hundred spectators wondering what it's all about.

It's almost a puzzle for some of the newer members to find out, but the apparent chaos will end shortly, the House will get down to business and the great State of Pennsylvania will have several hundred more laws to observe.

Seventh Ward News

Special Assembly Program Thursday

Group 9-A To Present Program; Other News Notes Of The Seventh Ward

Thursday morning during the assembly period pupils of group 9A will put on a program.

This class is the class from Mahoning school that is being promoted to Senior High school at the close of this semester, which ends Friday of this week.

The program is being presented by group 9A, under the supervision of the class teacher, Miss Beulah Kemin, as a sort of class day program.

Those who will take part in the program are as follows: Robert Wilson, class historian; James O'Donnell, class oratior; Walter Stone, class poet; Blaine Farver, class will; Mary Sullivan, class donor; George Binder, class knocker; Orpha Dittman, class prophet.

There are 22 pupils in the class, and with the exception of one or two, will be promoted to Senior High. A class of about 40 pupils is expected to start into Mahoning school at the second semester.

Thirty-Five Attend Bible Study Class

Thirty-five were present at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Bible Study class in the Y. W., Tuesday evening. This was the largest attendance at this class so far. The attendance seems to increase with each meeting of the class; this was the third class conducted. Mrs. W. E. McClure is teacher, and Tuesday the study of the fourth chapter of the Book of Genesis was taken up and the preceding chapters reviewed.

MAHONING BOOK CLUB

Mrs. M. L. Wallace of Highland avenue will receive the members of the Mahoning Book Club in her home Thursday afternoon.

TAKEN HOME

COTTAGE MEETINGS

Cottage prayer meetings are being conducted this evening at 7:45 in the homes of Mrs. S. E. Park, East Cherry street; Mrs. J. G. Moore, North Cedar street, and Mrs. A. S. Eberhart on West Clayton street. These meetings are being conducted in connection with the revival meetings which will begin in the Madison Avenue Christian church Sunday.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Charles Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bender of West Madison avenue, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Sacred Heart hospital at Garrett, Ind., on Tuesday, according to a telegram received by Mr. and Mrs. Bender Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Bender left last evening for Garrett, Ind., but before leaving they received word that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

Careless Washing Spoils Children's Hair

Any child can have beautiful hair—healthy and luxuriant. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

Final Rehearsal For Play Tonight

The final rehearsal for the play, "Let's All Get Married", is being held this evening following the prayer service in the Mahoning Methodist church. There are ten characters in the play and all parts are being taken by girls, members of the Senior Queen Esther Society of the church.

This play is being given Thursday and Friday evenings in the basement of the Mahoning M. E. church. The play to be presented is a comedy in two acts and promises to be very entertaining. Proceeds from the presentation of this play will be used toward the missionary apportionment of the Queen Esther Society. Parts are being taken by Misses Minnie Croxall, Myltreata Flowers, Ina Cooper, Myrtle Butts, Thelma Barker, Rebecca Gwin, Lancy McIlvenny, Helen Kerr, Lolita Williams and Mary Kane.

HAS TONSILS REMOVED

Mrs. E. A. Jones of Newell avenue had her tonsils removed at the Shenango Valley hospital this morning.

MISS CROXALL TEACHING

Miss Minnie Croxall is taking the place of Miss Rittenhouse, a teacher until recently at Mahoning school, for the present time.

HAS HAND INJURED

C. W. Thompson of Eighth street, conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, had two fingers on his right hand crushed while at work Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Thompson was helping to load a heavy barrell into a box car when with the ice the barrell slipped and much of the weight went on his hand, crushing two fingers badly.

Soft Coal Strike Is Again Hinted

Possible Result Of Speech Of President John L. Lewis

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—A general strike throughout the bituminous coal area loomed today as one of the possible results of the speech of President John L. Lewis opening the 30th constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America here.

Lewis answered proposals made by operators at the recent Toledo, O., meeting with the assertion it is an "economic impossibility" for the American miners generally to reduce their scale of living to conform to the wages paid in non-union areas.

At the Toledo conference it had been suggested that the pay range be based on the non-union standards, plus ten per cent.

Lewis' answer has been construed to mean that he will oppose any such attempts with the entire force of the United Mine Workers.

Patrick Fagan, head of the Pennsylvania delegation, and a power in the central competitive field, which governs the scale in all other fields, today told International News Service that the statement of the union president has thrown down the gauntlet to the operators.

Lewis' interpretation of the situation was laconic.

"I have stated that the proposal of the Toledo operators is not economically possible. The interpretation and action of the delegates is their own consideration."

Fagan stated that in all probability the requests which the delegates from the present convention will carry to Miami for their meeting with the central competitive field operatives will be based on at least the present scale.

Appraisers Work In Defunct Bank

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26.—Appraisement of the Brotherhood Savings & Trust company, Pittsburgh labor bank which closed its doors after an ill-advised attempt to purchase "bargain bonds" from Charles E. Knapp, today revealed that the bank invested $146,000 in the venture, not $102,500, as at first believed.

Ralph J. Miller and J. H. McGinnity, appraisers, hoped to complete their work in time to allow the reorganized bank, to be known as the Federation Bank & Trust company, to open for business by the first part of February.

Thirty-Five Attend Bible Study Class

Thirty-five were present at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Bible Study class in the Y. W., Tuesday evening. This was the largest attendance at this class so far. The attendance seems to increase with each meeting of the class; this was the third class conducted. Mrs. W. E. McClure is teacher, and Tuesday the study of the fourth chapter of the Book of Genesis was taken up and the preceding chapters reviewed.

MAHONING BOOK CLUB

Mrs. M. L. Wallace of Highland avenue will receive the members of the Mahoning Book Club in her home Thursday afternoon.

TAKEN HOME

COTTAGE MEETINGS

Cottage prayer meetings are being conducted this evening at 7:45 in the homes of Mrs. S. E. Park, East Cherry street; Mrs. J. G. Moore, North Cedar street, and Mrs. A. S. Eberhart on West Clayton street. These meetings are being conducted in connection with the revival meetings which will begin in the Madison Avenue Christian church Sunday.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Charles Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bender of West Madison avenue, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Sacred Heart hospital at Garrett, Ind., on Tuesday, according to a telegram received by Mr. and Mrs. Bender Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Bender left last evening for Garrett, Ind., but before leaving they received word that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

Careless Washing Spoils Children's Hair

Any child can have beautiful hair—healthy and luxuriant. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

Final Rehearsal For Play Tonight

The final rehearsal for the play, "Let's All Get Married", is being held this evening following the prayer service in the Mahoning Methodist church. There are ten characters in the play and all parts are being taken by girls, members of the Senior Queen Esther Society of the church.

This play is being given Thursday and Friday evenings in the basement of the Mahoning M. E. church. The play to be presented is a comedy in two acts and promises to be very entertaining. Proceeds from the presentation of this play will be used toward the missionary apportionment of the Queen Esther Society. Parts are being taken by Misses Minnie Croxall, Myltreata Flowers, Ina Cooper, Myrtle Butts, Thelma Barker, Rebecca Gwin, Laney McIlvenny, Helen Kerr, Lolita Williams and Mary Kane.

HAS TONSILS REMOVED

Mrs. E. A. Jones of Newell avenue had her tonsils removed at the Shenango Valley hospital this morning.

MISS CROXALL TEACHING

HAS HAND INJURED

C. W. Thompson of Eighth street, conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, had two fingers on his right hand crushed while at work Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Thompson was helping to load a heavy barrell into a box car when with the ice the barrell slipped and much of the weight went on his hand, crushing two fingers badly.

Soft Coal Strike Is Again Hinted

Possible Result Of Speech Of President John L. Lewis

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—A general strike throughout the bituminous coal area loomed today as one of the possible results of the speech of President John L. Lewis opening the 30th constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America here.

Lewis answered proposals made by operators at the recent Toledo, O., meeting with the assertion it is an "economic impossibility" for the American miners generally to reduce their scale of living to conform to the wages paid in non-union areas.

At the Toledo conference it had been suggested that the pay range be based on the non-union standards, plus ten per cent.

Lewis' answer has been construed to mean that he will oppose any such attempts with the entire force of the United Mine Workers.

Patrick Fagan, head of the Pennsylvania delegation, and a power in the central competitive field, which governs the scale in all other fields, today told International News Service that the statement of the union president has thrown down the gauntlet to the operators.

Lewis' interpretation of the situation was laconic.

"I have stated that the proposal of the Toledo operators is not economically possible. The interpretation and action of the delegates is their own consideration."

Fagan stated that in all probability the requests which the delegates from the present convention will carry to Miami for their meeting with the central competitive field operatives will be based on at least the present scale.

Appraisers Work In Defunct Bank

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26. — Appraisement of the Brotherhood Savings & Trust company, Pittsburgh labor bank which closed its doors after an ill-advised attempt to purchase "bargain bonds" from Charles E. Knapp, today revealed that the bank invested $140,000 in the venture, not $102,500, as at first believed.

Ralph J. Miller and J. H. McGinnity, appraisers, hoped to complete their work in time to allow the reorganized bank, to be known as the Federation Bank & Trust company, to open for business by the first part of February.

NEW CASTLE HIGH TEAM TO GET TEST FRIDAY

Ellwood City To Appear Here

New Castle's Undefeated Section IV Team Faces First Real Foe

ELLWOOD QUINT REPORTED STRONG

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle high's undefeated section IV floor team will get a real test on Friday night when Ellwood City high, contenders for the sectional title, will appear at the senior high court.

The locals have gone through four games so far this season with their record unblemished. New Castle high has defeated Butler, Evans City, Zelienople and Mars. Ellwood City high appears to be the only stumbling block in the path of the Bridenbaugh coached machine. If the locals succeed in downing the "Tubers" on Friday night they will have a clear path to the sectional title.

Ellwood City has always been a thorn in the side of the locals from a basketball standpoint. Ellwoodians always support a fast combination and for the past several years have been real rivals of the Red and Black tossers. The Ellwood team this year while not ranked with some of the past quintets that have come out of Ellwood City, will test the local strength.

Coach Bridenbaugh is driving the locals hard this week in preparation for the gruelling game that awaits them on Friday night. The locals realize that if they are to advance further in section IV that they must eliminate the Ellwood City jinx.

Wampum Indies Win Over Darlington

The Wampum Indies journeyed to Darlington on Monday night and defeated the Darlington club by a score of 56 to 49 in a nip and tuck battle that was not decided until the final whistle blew.

With the score deadlocked at 49-49 in the final two minutes of play Hennon caged a couple of pretty shots from a difficult angle and Shiek added another from midfloor, followed by a foul toss from Boone which proved sufficient to give the Indies their victory.

Shiek and Ferrucci gave good accounts of themselves at the guard jobs while Blythe at center was a tower of strength to the Indies. For Darlington the work of Bable and Lloyd was the best, this pair scoring 13 field goals between them.

The lineup and summary:

Wampum Indies.		Darlington
Boone	F	Lloyd
Hennon	F	McCarter
Blythe	C	Bable
Schiek	G	Tettamenzi
Ferrucci	G	Gisbaugher

Field goals: Boone 4, Hennon 8, Blythe 5, Shiek 4, Ferrucci 3, Lloyd 6, McCarter 4, Bable 7, Tettamenzi 2.

Fouls: Wampum 9 out of 14; Darlington 9 out of 15.

Referee, Moeler.

Tunney Plans To Tour Europe On Vaudeville Stage

Heavyweight King Makes Plans For Tour Of Europe During Summer

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Prominent Americans who will sail for abroad early this summer are the captain of the Leviathan and James Joseph Tunney, the well known heavyweight champion.

The latter informed the writer today that he is seriously considering offers for a theatrical and exhibition tour of Germany, England and France and is so enamored of the idea that he is despatching his barrister, Dudley Field Malone, to the scene to discover what he may.

Dudley or Deadly as the boys seem to know him best will sail on Saturday and he may be relied upon to discover all including the unchartered box office.

The champion's tentative plans were outlined to me in some detail just before he left today for another buck hunt through the west. This is done by tracking the wild and untramelled buck to the house manager's safe and claiming it for your own. Mr. Tunney says Daniel Boone was a pretty good hunter too.

New Wilmington High To Play Mt. Jackson

On Friday night the New Wilmington high team will meet the Mt. Jackson high team on the latter's floor.

The game promises to be hard fought and highly interesting, due to the fact that the Wiggins coached team won by a three-point margin in the recent game played at New Wilmington.

The Mt. Jackson team will be out for revenge Friday night.

Sacred Hearts Desire Games

The Sacred Hearts are desirous of booking strong teams in New Castle and Lawrence county, but according to word today they are encountering difficulty in lining up first class attractions.

The Hearts would like to hear from the following teams: Trojans, Ramblers, Bessemer high, Mt. Jackson Elites, Portersville and Bessemer Pirates.

The Sacred Hearts will play the Italian Star Invincibles tonight on the Mahoningtown floor. The game will start at 7:30. All players are requested to meet at the corner of Jefferson and Lawrence streets to make the trip to the seventh ward.

Any team desiring games can arrange them through Jimmie DiMuccio at 4132-R between 6 and 7 p. m. or by writing to DiMuccio at 512 South Jefferson street.

The New York Yankees will start spring training at St. Petersburg next month with 17 new players on the roster—7 pitchers, 4 catchers, 4 infielders and 2 outfielders.

Westminster Basket Ball Team Prepares For Coming Contests

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Old Main, historic administration building at Westminster college, may be in ruins as a result of a disastrous fire on Monday morning and semester exams in full swing, but members of the college basketball quintet are continuing preparations for the last half of the schedule which will begin February 5 when the St. Francis team visits here.

Coach John Lawther had his men on the floor Tuesday evening for the first time since the Bethany game. The drill he sent his proteges through was neither hard nor long, just enough work being given to keep the physical condition of the players at the proper pitch.

No regular program for the week has been mapped out because of the exams and the fact that the gym floor is being used for classes. It is probable that several more drills will be held during the week with the more intensive work starting next Tuesday.

The most difficult stretch of the schedule now confronts the Blue and White passers. Six out of seven games have thus far been won but the pace must be quickened from now to the end. February 8, three days after the St. Francis tilt, Westminster goes to Allegheny. Two days later the boys pack their grips and visit Waynesburg and the very next night meet the clever Duquesne University quintet at Pittsburgh.

Franklin Passers Trim North Street

The Ben Franklin high team downed North street by a score of 21 to 11 in a junior league game played on the Ben Franklin court on Tuesday afternoon.

The game was rough and hard fought and proved highly interesting to a fairly large crowd of spectators. The North street team played the best ball of the year seen in the junior league and succeeded in holding the Franklinites to the lowest score of the season.

Valle, Shultz and Pollack form a smooth working trio for the North street team and their accurate passing and teamwork made it uncomfortable for the Ben Franklin boys. The Franklin team was forced to extend its best efforts to win the game.

Numerous substitutions were made throughout the game, the North street team using nine men while the Franklin team presented three different lineups during the fracas. Gennock, Ruha and McLaughlin were the best bets for the winners.

The lineup and summary:

Franklin 21		North St. 11
Kenst	F	Pollack
Johns	F	Valle
Stewart	C	Thomas
Ciccone	G	Alexander
Zinz	G	Manos

Subs — Gennock, McLaughlin, Ruha, Beres, Waggoner, Grannis, Watson, Hahn, Shook, Kominic, McIvor, Shultz, Hoose.

Field goals—Kenst 2, Johns 5, Ciccone, McLaughlin, Valle 2, Pollack, Shultz 2.

Fouls—Ben Franklin 3 out of 6, North street 1 out of 6.

Referee—Jack Leonard, Westminster.

Cub Fans Root For Him — By Feg Murray

Consider for a moment Mr. "Cube" Root of the Chicago Cubs a rookie pitcher who made good with a bang in 1926. Mr. Root can look forward with optimism and pleasure to a bright future in the majors for many years to come for in his first season he established the enviable record of winning 18 games and ranking second in earned run average and strikeouts—and all with a club that was scheduled to finish in the cellar.

Charles Root is one of the many famous products of Ohio. Born on St. Patrick's day, 1899 he left high school in his second year to become a steel molder. This heavy and dangerous job with plenty of baseball on the side molded the young man's frame into a veritable steel spring and now he is able to snap the ball over the plate with the speed of an express train. Speed is one of the chief characteristics of Root's pitching prowess. How he does whiz that old apple over the plate. Control and nerve also aid this young man in winning ball games and these qualities added to his naturally fine build and sharpened by his ambition to succeed should carry him far along the path of fame and glory.

Nineteen twenty-six was not "Cube's" first chance in major league company for the Brown's gave him a trial in 1921. He lasted only until the middle of May then and in 1923 was with Terre Haute The following year he was tried again by St. Louis and then spent 1924 and '25 with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league. Rejuvenated by the w. k. climate he fanned 20 batters in his last season as an Angel and keeping up the good work struck out 127 for the Cubs in 1926.

Feg Murray Says.

"Yep" remarked the lawyer-referee of a basketball game as he walked into the gymn elevator with the ball under his arm, "I am going to carry it to a higher court."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Whether Miller Huggins wants to or not it begins to look as though the New York Yankees will "stand pat" on their 1926 lineup when the opening bell rings next April.

At least the trade winds to date haven't blown along any material that Manager Hug would take—at the price asked.

The Yankee bosses did engineer one trade—with the White Sox—but this netted them material that will be used for reserve and future purposes rather than to strengthen or alter the actual playing face of the outfit. In that deal Huggins sent Aaron Ward to Chicago for Catcher Grabowski and Ray Morehart a young infielder.

Grabowski may get a chance to relieve Benny Bengough, the hustler behind the plate. Morehart will be a utility man.

Huggins feels and rightfully so that his infield which was good enough to help carry the team to a pennant race despite its proneness to crack, will be better this year. Mark Koenig at short had to be benched a couple of times last season when he fell off his stride, but his ailment was more like "buck fever" than anything else. His nerves failed him.

Tony Lazzeri, home run socker from the coast, played second in a way that belied his greenness as a big leaguer. And his hitting was more than the fondest fan hoped for.

Joe Dugan the vet, played third a per usual and Walter Gehrig held down first in capable fashion.

Despite the fact that Bob Meusel has been "traded" every two weeks since the end of last season he is still counted on to form a third of the outfield once more with Babe Ruth and Earl Combs. The latter won his spurs last season with his brilliant outfielding and hitting. Babe Ruth's part in driving the Yanks to the pennant with his mighty bludgeon needs no retelling. Meusel played indifferent ball at times and it is this temperament that has soured Huggins on him occassionally. But when Curly Bob wants to play he can step with the best.

The pitching staff may not be "what it used to be" but will have to do, Pennock, Shocker and Hoyt carried the burden last season. Shawkey and Dutch Ruether added to the gaiety of things. Sam Jones helped but little. One of the youngsters however gave some indication of coming to the rescue of the old timers. He was Miles Thomas. He won six and lost six games. His main weakness seemed to be an inability to hold his pace through nine innings. Another season may find this shortcoming eliminated, however.

So far as the records show the first professional baseball player was Al J. Reach of Philadelphia. Reach had displayed such remarkable ability with the Brooklyn club that the Athletics offered him a salary to come to Philadelphia and play.

"Pro" Basketball Is Enjoying Biggest Season

Basketball seems to be the one new professional sport, as organized on a national basis, that has a chance to live. The cage game not only will continue but already is on a paying basis. The pro game thrived for years in the east but is a new venture in the middle west and this is but the second season of the first well organized league of anything approaching national scope. Above are some of the stars of the American Professional basketball league, who are making it popular. Saunders and Kennedy are with the Washington club, Russell and Hickey with Cleveland, Holman (called the greatest) with the Celtics and Passon with Philadelphia.

Pentathlon is derived from two Greek words, penta meaning five and anthlon meaning a contest, and was applied to athletic contests in the five exercises of jumping, discus throwing, running, wrestling and boxing, the last-named afterward exchanged for javelin throwing. According to the old rule no one got a prize unless he excelled in them all.

Grovers Hope To Defeat Carnegie Tech Saturday

Thorn Coached Quintet Will Attempt Comeback Saturday Night

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—Suffering from two consecutive setbacks in as many starts, the Grove City college basketball team will attempt to stage a comeback in tri-state collegiate circles next Saturday night when Coach Al Irwin's Carnegie Tech passers make their debut here.

The team in its last two games failed to show the class characteristic of a Thorn coached quintet, and their defeats by W. & J. and Allegheny, though no disgrace to the Crimson, were a hard blow to the boys and ardent followers of the Grove City cage team here.

Intensive training for the Tartan game is already under way and special attention will be given the boys this week in smoothing up the offensive and defensive play of the team.

The defeat at the hands of Allegheny last Friday night was the worst encountered by a Grove City team in many a moon. Coach Baker with a veteran aggregation of performers completely outclassed and outplayed the Grovers at every stage of the game, and never once were they denied victory, after assuming the lead in the first period. The Methodists flashed an offensive attack that proved a revelation to the fans and their all around play was nothing less than phenomenal. Allegheny deserves full credit for its overwhelming victory as it was a real triumph for Coach Baker and his proteges. The stellar play of McClurg, Cibula and Captain Rhodes, especially, was of an impressive nature in that game. It marked the first defeat for Grove City at the hands of Allegheny for a period of several years.

The Skibos are idle this week and undoubtedly will be in the best of shape to meet the Grovers Saturday. Coach Irwin has a well balanced combination and whether or not Coach Bob Thorn's proteges can come through this game remains to be seen.

"SEA-DEVIL" LUCKNER

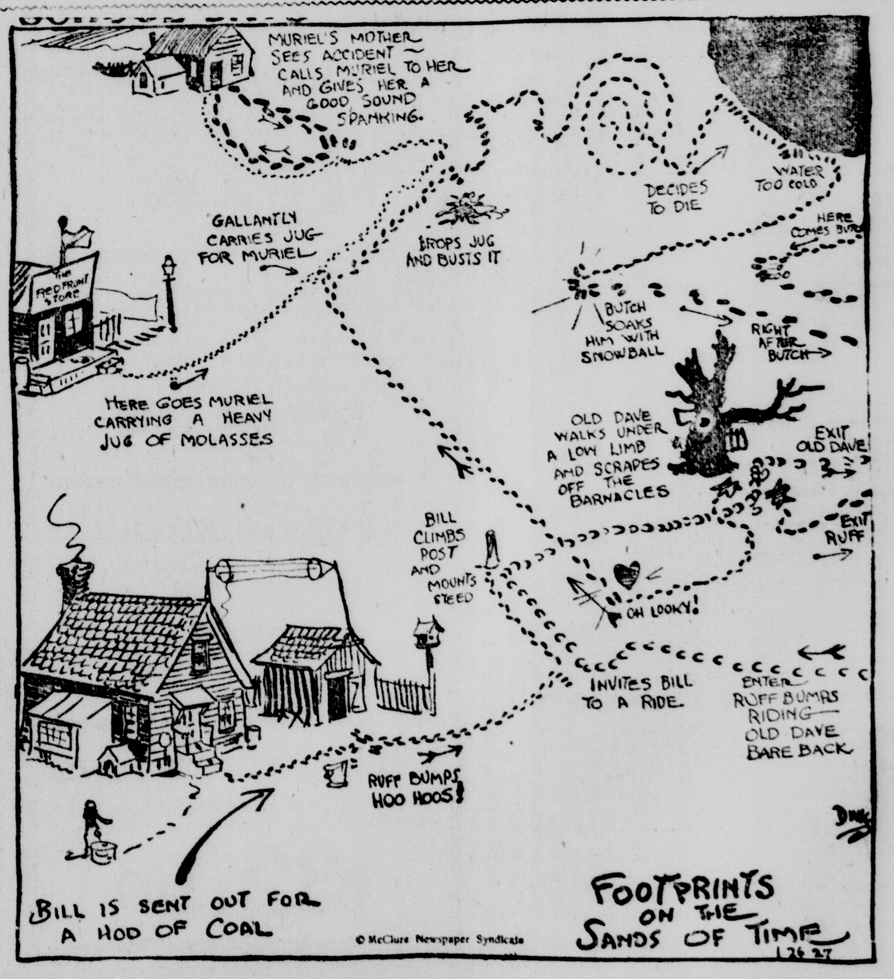

Capt. Luckner makes his melodramatic debut as an able pirate, in the Magazine Section of next SUNDAY'S WORLD. Count Luckner, whose extra-ordinary adventures, as chronicled first hand in THE WORLD Magazine series, a Morgan or a Kidd might envy, worked in a Hoboken saloon when he first visited New York, a little more than twenty years ago. Now he comes in his own vessel on a mission of good will and charity. Read the story of the amazing cruise of "Sea-Devil" Luckner, beloved buccaneer, next SUNDAY in THE WORLD.

Differing from nearly all other colleges in the United States, it is not football but basketball and hockey that supply the funds for carrying on athletic activities at the College of the City of New York. The gridiron game was a losing proposition at City College last season, while basketball and the ice sports have been very profitable.

Many crack athletes are expected to journey to Texas this spring to compete in the Rice Institute relay carnival at Houston on March 25, followed a day later by the University of Texas relays at Austin.

NEW CASTLE HIGH TEAM TO GET TEST FRIDAY

Ellwood City To Appear Here

ELLWOOD QUINT REPORTED STRONG

BY "BIGS" WALTHER

New Castle high's undefeated section IV floor team will get a real test on Friday night when Ellwood City high, contenders for the sectional title, will appear at the senior high court.

Ellwood fans always support a fast combination and for the past several years have been real rivals of the Red and Black tossers. The Ellwood team this year while not ranked with some of the past quintets that have come out of Ellwood City, will test the local strength.

Coach Bridenbaugh is driving the locals hard this week in preparation for the gruelling game that awaits them on Friday night. The locals realize that if they are to advance further in section IV that they must eliminate the Ellwood City jinx.

Wampum Indies Win Over Darlington

The Wampum Indies journeyed to Darlington on Monday night and defeated the Darlington club by a score of 56 to 49 in a nip and tuck battle that was not decided until the final whistle blew.

With the score deadlocked at 49-49 in the final two minutes of play Hennon caged a couple of pretty shots from a difficult angle and Shiek added another from midfloor, followed by a foul toss from Boone which proved sufficient to give the Indies their victory.

Shiek and Ferrucci gave good accounts of themselves at the guard jobs while Blythe at center was a tower of strength to the Indies. For Darlington the work of Bable and Lloyd was the best, this pair scoring 13 field goals between them.

The lineup and summary:

Wampum Indies.		Darlington
Boone	F	Lloyd
Hennon	F	McCarter
Blythe	C	Bable
Schiek	G	Tettamenzi
Ferrucci	G	Gisbaugher

Field goals: Boone 4, Hennon 8, Blythe 5, Shiek 4, Ferrucci 3, Lloyd 6, McCarter 4, Bable 7, Tettamenzi 2.

Fouls: Wampum 9 out of 14; Darlington 9 out of 15.

Referee, Moeller.

Tunney Plans To Tour Europe On Vaudeville Stage

Heavyweight King Makes Plans For Tour Of Europe During Summer

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Prominent Americans who will sail for abroad early this summer are the queen of the Leviathan and James Joseph Tunney, the well known heavyweight champion.

The latter informed the writer today that he is seriously considering offers for a theatrical and exhibition tour of Germany, England and France and is so enamored of the idea that he is despatching his barrister, Dudley Field Malone, to the scene to discover what he may.

Dudley or Deadly as the boys seem to know him best will sail on Saturday and he may be relied upon to discover all including the uncharitered box office.

The champion's tentative plans were outlined to me in some detail just before he left today for another buck hunt through the west. This is done by tracking the wild and untrameled buck to the house manager's safe and claiming it for your own. Mr. Tunney says Daniel Boone was a pretty good hunter too.

New Wilmington High To Play Mt. Jackson

On Friday night the New Wilmington high team will meet the Mt. Jackson high team on the latter's floor.

The game promises to be hard fought and highly interesting, due to the fact that the Wiggins coached team won by a three-point margin in the recent game played at New Wilmington.

The Mt. Jackson team will be out for revenge Friday night.

Sacred Hearts Desire Games

The Sacred Hearts are desirous of booking strong teams in New Castle and Lawrence county, but according to word today they are encountering difficulty in lining up first class attractions.

The Hearts would like to hear from the following teams: Trojans, Ramblers, Bessemer high, Mt. Jackson Elites, Portersville and Bessemer Pirates.

The Sacred Hearts will play the Italian Star Invincibles tonight on the Mahoningtown floor. The game will start at 7:30. All players are requested to meet at the corner of Jefferson and Lawrence streets to make the trip to the seventh ward.

Any team desiring games can arrange them through Jimmie DiMuccio at 4132-R between 6 and 7 p. m. or by writing to DiMuccio at 512 South Jefferson street.

The New York Yankees will start spring training at St. Petersburg next month with 17 new players on the roster—7 pitchers, 4 catchers, 4 infielders and 2 outfielders.

Westminster Basket Ball Team Prepares For Coming Contests

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Old Main, historic administration building at Westminster college, may be in ruins as a result of a disastrous fire on Monday morning and semester exams in full swing, but members of the college basketball quintet are continuing preparations for the last half of the schedule which will begin February 5 when the St. Francis team visits here.

Coach John Lawthjr had his men on the floor Tuesday evening for the first time since the Bethany game. The drill he sent his proteges through was neither hard nor long, just enough work being given to keep the physical condition of the players at the proper pitch.

No regular program for the week has been mapped out because of the exams and the fact that the gym floor is being used for classes. It is probable that several more drills will be held during the week with the more intensive work starting next Tuesday.

The most difficult stretch of the schedule now confronts the Blue and White passers. Six out of seven games have thus far been won but the pace must be quickened from now to the end. February 8, three days after the St. Francis tilt, Westminster goes to Allegheny. Two days later the boys pack their grips and visit Waynesburg and the very next night meet the clever Duquesne University quintet at Pittsburgh.

Franklin Passers Trim North Street

The Ben Franklin high team downed North street by a score of 21 to 11 in a junior league game played on the Ben Franklin court on Tuesday afternoon.

The game was rough and hard fought and proved highly interesting to a fairly large crowd of spectators. The North street team played the best ball of the year seen in the junior league and succeeded in holding the Franklinites to the lowest score of the season.

Valle, Shultz and Pollack form a smooth working trio for the North street team and their accurate passing and teamwork made it uncomfortable for the Ben Franklin boys. The Franklin team was forced to extend its best efforts to win the game.

Numerous substitutions were made throughout the game, the North street team using nine men while the Franklin team presented three different lineups during the fracas. Gennock, Ruha and McLaughlin were the best bets for the winners.

The lineup and summary:

Franklin 21		North St. 11
Kenst	F	Pollack
Johns	F	Valle
Stewart	C	Thomas
Ciccone	G	Alexander
Zinz	G	Manos

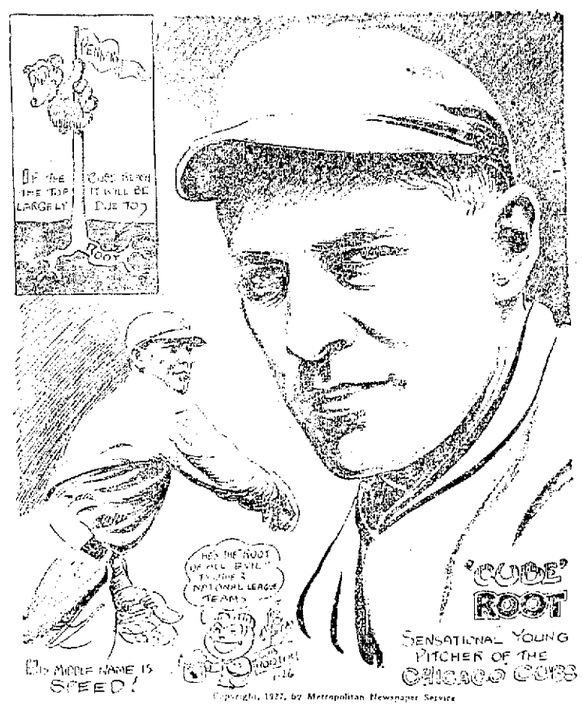

Subs — Gennock, McLaughlin, Ruha, Beres, Waggoner, Grannis, Watson, Hahn, Shook, Kominic, McIvor, Shultz, Hoose.

Field goals—Kenst 2, Johns 5, Ciccone, McLaughlin, Valle 2, Pollack, Shultz 2.

Fouls—Ben Franklin 3 out of 6, North street 1 out of 6.

Referee—Jack Leonard, Westminster.

Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Consider for a moment Mr. "Cube" Root of the Chicago Cubs a rookie pitcher who made good with a bang in 1926. Mr. Root can look forward with optimism and pleasure to a bright future in the majors for many years to come for in his first season he established the enviable record of winning 18 games and ranking second in earned run average and strike outs—and all with a club that was scheduled to finish in the cellar.

Charles Root is one of the many famous products of Ohio. Born on St. Patrick's day, 1899 he left high school in his second year to become a steel molder. This heavy and dangerous job with plenty of baseball on the side molded the young man's frame into a veritable steel spring and now he is able to snap the ball over the plate with the speed of an express train. Speed is one of the chief characteristics of Root's pitching prowess. How he does whiz that old apple over the plate. Control and nerve also aid this young man in winning ball games and these qualities added to his naturally fine build and sharpened by his ambition to succeed should carry him far along the path of fame and glory.

Nineteen twenty-six was not "Cube's" first chance in major league company for the Brown's gave him a trial in 1921. He lasted only until the middle of May then and in 1923 was with Terre Haute. The following year he was tried again by St. Louis and then spent 1924 and '25 with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league. Rejuvenated by the w. k. climate he fanned 20 batters in his last season as an Angel and keeping up the good work struck out 127 for the Cubs in 1926.

Feg Murray Says.

"Yep" remarked the lawyer-referee of a basketball game as he walked into the gymn elevator with the ball under his arm, "I am going to carry it to a higher court."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Whether Miller Huggins wants to or not it begins to look as though the New York Yankees will "stand pat" on their 1925 lineup when the opening bell rings next April.

At least the trade winds to date haven't blown along any material that Manager Hug would take—at the price asked.

The Yankee bosses did engineer one trade—with the White Sox—but this netted them material that will be used for reserve and future purposes rather than to strengthen or alter the actual playing face of the outfit. In that deal Huggins sent Aaron Ward to Chicago for Catcher Grabowski and Ray Morehart a young infielder.

Grabowski may get a chance to relieve Benny Bengough, the hustler behind the plate. Morehart will be a utility man.

Huggins feels and rightfully so that his infield which was good enough to help carry the team to a pennant race despite its proneness to crack, will be better this year. Mark Koenig at short had to be benched a couple of times last season when he fell off his stride, but his ailment was more like "buck fever" than anything else. His nerves failed Him.

Tony Lazzeri, home run socker from the coast, played second in a way that belied his greenness as a big leaguer. And his hitting was more than the fondest fan hoped for.

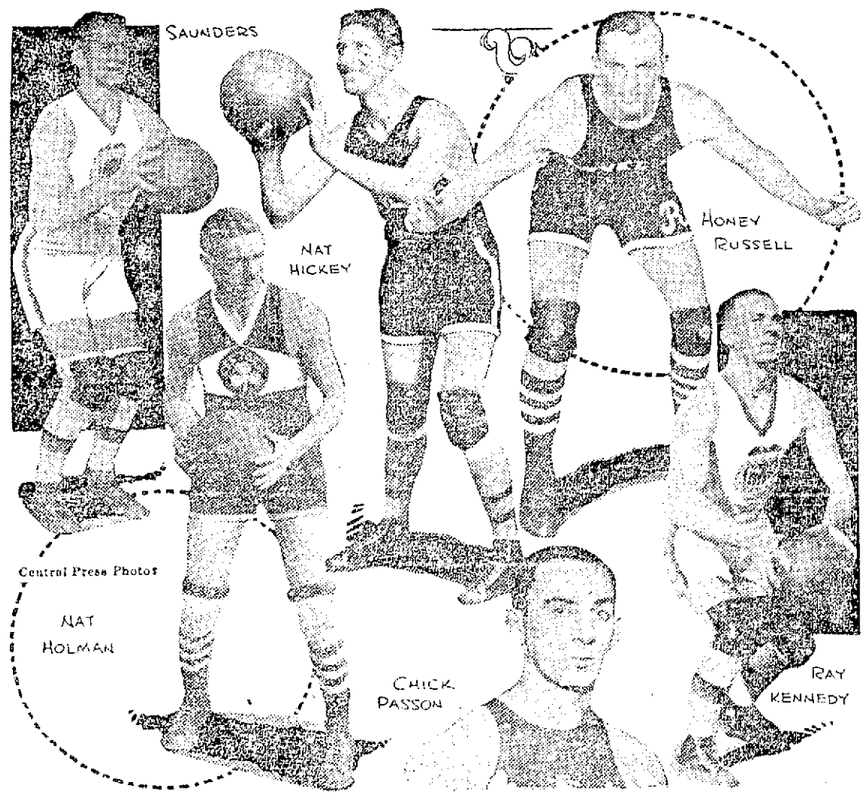

Joe Dugan the vet, played third a per usual and Walter Gerrig held down first in capable fashion.

Despite the fact that Bob Meusel has been "traded" every two weeks since the end of last season he is still counted on to form a third of the outfield once more with Babe Ruth and Earl Combs. The latter won his spurs last season with his brilliant outfielding and hitting. Babe Ruth's part in driving the Yanks to the pennant with his mighty bludgeon needs no retelling. Meusel played indifferent ball at times and it is this temperament that has soured Huggins on him occasionally. But when Curly Bob wants to play he can step with the best.

The pitching staff may not be "what it used to be" but will have to do. Pennock, Shocker and Hoyt carried the burden last season. Shawkey and Dutch Ruether added to the gaiety of things. Sam Jones helped but little. One of the youngsters however gave some indication of coming to the rescue of the old timers. He was Miles Thomas. He won six and lost six games. His main weakness seemed to be an inability to hold his pace through nine innings. Another season may find this shortcoming eliminated, however.

So far as the records show the first professional baseball player was Al J. Reach of Philadelphia. Reach had displayed such remarkable ability with the Brooklyn club that the Athletics offered him a salary to come to Philadelphia and play.

"Pro" Basketball Is Enjoying Biggest Season

Basketball seems to be the one new professional sport, as organized on a national basis, that has a chance to live. The cage game not only will continue but already is on a paying basis. The pro game thrived for years in the east but is a new venture in the middle west and this is but the second season of the first well organized league of anything approaching national scope. Above are some of the stars of the American Professional basketball league, who are making it popular. Saunders and Kennedy are with the Washington club, Russell and Hickey with Cleveland, Holman (called the greatest) with the Celtics and Passon with Philadelphia.

Pentathlon is derived from two Greek words, penta meaning five and anthlon meaning a contest, and was applied to athletic contests in the five exercises of jumping, discus throwing, running, wrestling and boxing, the last-named afterward exchanged for javelin throwing. According to the old rule no one got a prize unless he excelled in them all.

Grovers Hope To Defeat Carnegie Tech Saturday

Thorn Coached Quintet Will Attempt Comeback Saturday Night

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—Suffering from two consecutive setbacks in as many starts, the Grove City college basketball team will attempt to stage a comeback in tri-state collegiate circles next Saturday night when Coach Al Irwin's Carnegie Tech passers make their debut here.

The team in its last two games failed to show the class characteristic of a Thorn coached quintet, and their defeats by W. & J. and Allegheny, though no disgrace to the Crimson, were a hard blow to the boys and ardent followers of the Grove City cage team here.

Intensive training for the Tartan game is already under way and special attention will be given the boys this week in smoothing up the offensive and defensive play of the team.

The defeat at the hands of Allegheny last Friday night was the worst encountered by a Grove City team in many a moon. Coach Baker with a veteran aggregation of performers completely outclassed and outplayed the Grovers at every stage of the game, and never once were they denied victory, after assuming the lead in the first period. The Methodists flashed an offensive attack that proved a revelation to the fans and their all around play was nothing less than phenomenal. Allegheny deserves full credit for its overwhelming victory as it was a real triumph for Coach Baker and his proteges. The stellar play of McClure, Cibula and Captain Rhodes, especially, was of an impressive nature in that game. It marked the first defeat for Grove City at the hands of Allegheny for a period of several years.

The Skibos are idle this week and undoubtedly will be in the best of shape to meet the Grovers Saturday. Coach Irwin has a well balanced combination and whether or not Coach Bob Thorn's proteges can come through this game remains to be seen.

"SEA-DEVIL" LUCKNER

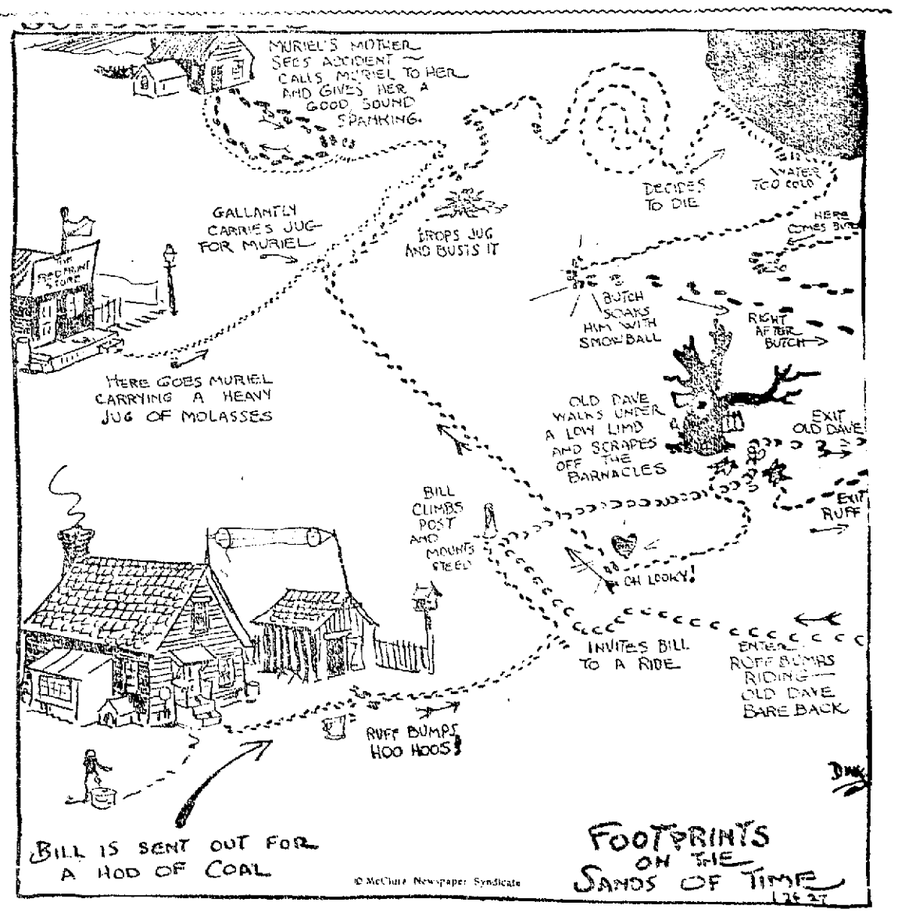

Capt. Luckner makes his melodramatic debut as an able pirate, in the Magazine Section of next SUNDAY'S WORLD. Count Luckner, whose extra-ordinary adventures, as chronicled first hand in THE WORLD Magazine series, a Morgan or a Kidd might envy, worked in a Hoboken saloon when he first visited New York, a little more than twenty years ago. Now he comes in his own vessel on a mission of good will and charity. Read the story of the amazing cruise of "Sea-Devil" Luckner, beloved buccaneer, next SUNDAY in THE WORLD.

Differing from nearly all other colleges in the United States, it is not football but basketball and hockey that supply the funds for carrying on athletic activities at the College of the City of New York. The gridiron game was a losing proposition at City College last season, while basketball and the ice sports have been very profitable.

Many crack athletes are expected to journey to Texas this spring to compete in the Rice Institute relay carnival at Houston on March 25, followed a day later by the University of Texas relays at Austin.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

SOONER OR LATER HOME AGAIN!

Pixie shinned up the stem of the tiger lily and sat down, cross-legged, upon one of the petals and leaned his head upon his hand.

"'Tis a good, kind heart, you have, little girl, and whenever you're in need of a friend just call for Pixie. Never fear, I'll hear and come! And, listen! Don't you ever be scared again so long as you stay up in the moon. No, ma'am, don't you ever be scared of anything at all!"

The little girl looked surprised. "But just suppose you hadn't been a fairy and that big bird had caught you! Wouldn't that have been awful?

Pixie chuckled.

"Huh! Just suppose I'd been a bee or butterfly and not Pixie at all, 'twould have been the same. The old flyer wouldn't have hurt me, 'cause he couldn't. No harm befalls one up here, not even the teeniest, teeniest insect. But down on earth 'tis different. There might makes right, and he who is tiny is apt to get the worst of it. As I said before, I but tricked the bird to teach him better manners, and I hope he remembers when he leaves the moon."

Peter had been silent long enough. What did Pixie mean, anyhow? That made twice he'd said something like that.

"But will the bird leave the moon?" demanded he. "Why should he if he is happy here?"

"I dunno, but he will!" Pixie's nod was decided. "All the earth folks go back sooner or later. I guess, being earth folk, they grow weary of the long, long days, each so much like the other that you can't tell when one begins and the other ends, and there are no nights at all! Here all is quiet and peace and safety, and after a while they begin to remember the dangers of the chase, the thrills of running to cover. They think of home, and it grows dearer and dearer. And at last, before they know it, they wish to be back again, and back they go swifter than the shooting star. Mistress Moo already grows discontented. Before long she'll stand again at her old pasture bars, and those that are now here and happy will return, and others, at a wish, come to take their places."

Next: "Next, Butterfly."

DINNER STORIES

Sandy McIntosh had just returned from a trip to the old country.

"Ye promised us," said his youngest son sadly, "that ye'd send us a penny postcard frae Edinburgh, faither, and ye didna do so."

"Aye," admitted Sandy, "and it was ma ain fault, lad. I went and lost it."

At the Direct Mail Advertising Convention at Cincinnati, the story was told of an advertising salesman who, upon arriving at the hotel, was met by the porter who wanted to know how many trunks he carried.

"I use no trunks," the salesman replied.

"Oh, I though you wuz one of these traveling salesmen gentlemen," said the porter.

"I am, but I sell brains, understand? I sell brains."

"Well, excuse me, Boss, but youse the first traveling fella' that's been here this season who ain't carrying no samples."

"Why are you reading that Bible?" said the French explorer to the Polynesian native. "Don't you know that it is quite useless nowadays?" "Not quite useless," the tawny man replied; "for if I had never read a Bible, I should be eating you today."

A young lawyer started in business on his own account. He espied a visitor making towards his office and so he pretended to be holding a conversation over the telephone, ending it (just as the visitor entered) with the words: "No, no! I couldn't undertake the case for less than 5,000 dollars." Then, putting up the receiver, he turned to the visitor and said:

"What can I do for you?"

"Oh, I have just called to connect up the telephone!" was the reply.—College Life.

As I said before, I but tricked the bird to teach him better manners, and I hope he remembers when he leaves the moon."

Peter had been silent long enough. What did Pixie mean, anyhow? That made twice he'd said something like that.

"But will the bird leave the moon?" demanded he. "Why should he if he is happy here?"

"I dunno, but he will!" Pixie's nod was decided. "All the earth folks go back sooner or later. I guess, being earth folk, they grow weary of the long, long days, each so much like the other that you can't tell when one begins and the other ends, and there are no nights at all! Here all is quiet and peace and safety, and after a while they begin to remember the dangers of the chase, the thrills of running to cover. They think of home, and it grows dearer and dearer. And at last, before they know it, they wish to be back again, and back they go swifter than the shooting star. Mistress Moo already grows discontented. Before long she'll stand again at her old pasture bars, and those that are now here and happy will return, and others, at a wish, come to take their places."

Next: "Next, Butterfly."

NEVER FEAR, I'LL HEAR AND COME.

DINNER STORIES

Sandy McIntosh had just returned from a trip to the old country.

"Ye promised us," said his youngest son sadly, "that ye'd send us a penny postcard frae Edinburgh, faither, and ye didna do so."

"Aye," admitted Sandy, "and it was ma ain fault, lad. I went and lost it."

At the Direct Mail Advertising Convention at Cincinnati, the story was told of an advertising salesman who, upon arriving at the hotel, was met by the porter who wanted to know how many trunks he carried.

"I use no trunks," the salesman replied.

"Oh, I though you wuz one of these traveling salesmen gentlemen," said the porter.

"I am, but I sell brains, understand? I sell brains."

"Well, excuse me, Boss, but youse the first travelling fella' that's been here this season who ain't carrying no samples."

"Why are you reading that Bible?" said the French explorer to the Polynesian native. "Don't you know that it is quite useless nowadays?" "Not quite useless," the tawny man replied; "for if I had never read a Bible, I should be eating you today."

A young lawyer started in business on his own account. He espied a visitor making towards his office and so he pretended to be holding a conversation over the telephone, ending it just as the visitor entered with the words: "No, no! I couldn't undertake the case for less than 5,000 dollars." Then, putting up the receiver, he turned to the visitor and said:

"What can I do for you?"

"Oh, I have just called to connect up the telephone!" was the reply.—College Life.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

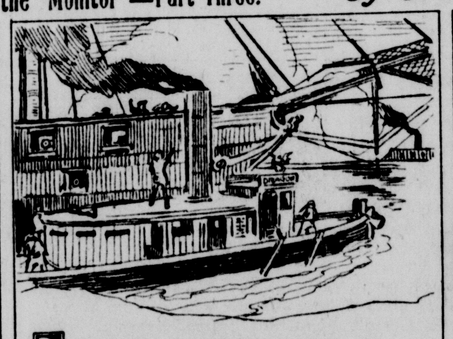

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The "Merrimac" and the "Monitor"—Part Three.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

WHILE THE "MERRIMAC" WAS DESTROYING THE "CUMBERLAND" AND "CONGRESS", THE "MINNESOTA", "ROANOKE" AND "ST. LAWRENCE", WHICH HAD BEEN ANCHORED NEAR FORTRESS MONROE, WERE ON THE WAY TO AID THE STRICKEN UNION VESSELS. IN THEIR HASTE TO REACH THE SCENE ALL THREE RAN AGROUND IN THE NARROW CHANNEL. SEEING THEIR PLIGHT, THE "MERRIMAC" STEAMED TOWARD THE GROUNDED "MINNESOTA", THE NEAREST OF THE THREE. BUT THE TIDE WAS EBBING FAST AND THE CONFEDERATE RAM, DRAWING 22 FEET OF WATER, COULD ONLY APPROACH WITHIN A MILE OF HER INTENDED VICTIM.

DECIDING TO POSTPONE HER WORK OF DESTRUCTION UNTIL THE MORROW, THE "MERRIMAC" FIRED A FEW SHELLS AND WITHDREW TO ANCHORAGE UNDER THE GUNS OF SEWELL'S POINT. UNION TUGS ARRIVED FROM NEWPORT NEWS AND FRANTIC EFFORTS WERE MADE TO GET THE "MINNESOTA" AFLOAT, BUT TO NO AVAIL. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THE "MERRIMAC'S" FIRST DAY'S FIGHT SPREAD CONSTERNATION AMONG THE FEDERALS AND IT WAS FEARED THE REST OF THE UNION FLEET WOULD BE DESTROYED THE NEXT DAY. TO ADD TO THE TERRORS OF THAT NIGHT, THE BURNING "CONGRESS" BLEW UP WITH A ROAR THAT COULD BE HEARD FOR MILES AROUND.

CONTINUED TOMORROW.

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The "Merrimac" and the "Monitor"—Part Three.

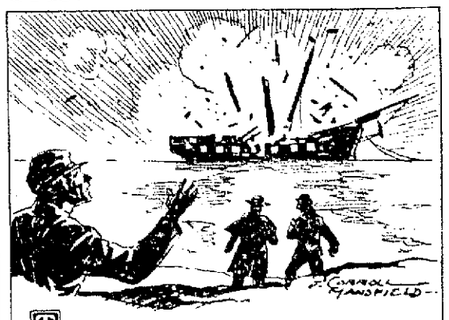

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

WHILE THE "MERRIMAC" WAS DESTROYING THE "CUMBERLAND" AND "CONGRESS", THE "MINNESOTA", "ROANOKE" AND "ST. LAWRENCE", WHICH HAD BEEN ANCHORED NEAR FORTRESS MONROE, WERE ON THE WAY TO AID THE STRICKEN UNION VESSELS. IN THEIR HASTE TO REACH THE SCENE ALL THREE RAN AGROUND IN THE NARROW CHANNEL. SEEING THEIR PLIGHT, THE "MERRIMAC" STEAMED TOWARD THE GROUNDED "MINNESOTA", THE NEAREST OF THE THREE. BUT THE TIDE WAS EBBING FAST AND THE CONFEDERATE RAM, DRAWING 22 FEET OF WATER, COULD ONLY APPROACH WITHIN A MILE OF HER INTENDED VICTIM.

DECIDING TO POSTPONE HER WORK OF DESTRUCTION UNTIL THE MORROW, THE "MERRIMAC" FIRED A FEW SHELLS AND WITHDREW TO ANCHORAGE UNDER THE GUNS OF SEWELL'S POINT. UNION TUGS ARRIVED FROM NEWPORT NEWS AND FRANTIC EFFORTS WERE MADE TO GET THE "MINNESOTA" AFLOAT, BUT TO NO AVAIL. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THE "MERRIMAC'S" FIRST DAY'S FIGHT SPREAD CONSTERNATION AMONG THE FEDERALS AND IT WAS FEARED THE REST OF THE UNION FLEET WOULD BE DESTROYED THE NEXT DAY. TO ADD TO THE TERRORS OF THAT NIGHT, THE BURNING "CONGRESS" BLEW UP WITH A ROAR THAT COULD BE HEARD FOR MILES AROUND.

Legal Notice.

Lawrence County, ss:

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to Wm. R. Evans.

Whereas, The City of New Castle, on the 31st day of December A. D. 1921 filed its claim in our Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County at No. 65 March Term, 1922 M. L. D., for the sum of $39.23 with interest from the 8th day of August, 1921, for the construction of a cement or concrete footway or sidewalk, in front of property, at, along, in front of and abutting the property herein described against the following property situate in the Seventh Ward, of said City of New Castle, bounded on the north by Phillips; east by alley; south by Phillips; west by Cedar Street, fronting 40 feet, more or less, on said Cedar Street and extending back therefrom 110 feet, more or less owned or reputed to be owned by you;

And Whereas, We have been given to understand that said claim is still due and unpaid, and remains a lien against the said property;

Now, you are hereby notified to file your affidavit of defense to said claim, if defense you have thereto, in the office of the Prothonotary of our said Court, within fifteen days after the service of this writ upon you. If no affidavit of defense be filed within said time, judgment may be entered against you for the whole claim and the property described in the claim be sold to recover the amount thereof.

Witness the Honorable R. Lawrence Hildebrand, President Judge of our said Court this 28th day of December, A. D. 1926.

R. M. CAMPBELL,
Prothonotary.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—After an irregular opening in which the advances and declines in the industrial and railroad stocks were about evenly divided, the market rallied under the impetus of brisk short covering, and recoveries of a point or two were inaugurated in the leading stocks.

Shorts were caught napping in United States Steel when the record-breaking quarterly earning statement for the final quarter of 1926, made public after Tuesday's close, disclosed the very profitable earnings operations of the big corporation at the end of the year. Though Steel Common made a very tardy response to the statement, the industrial stock list as a whole showed the effect of heavy short covering.

Simultaneously with reports that the Van Sweringens and other railroad magnets were discussing railroad mergers with a view to a prompt announcement of their plans in the greater Nickel Plate merger, active buying was resumed in Wheeling and Lake Erie, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Western Maryland and other railroad stocks with merger possibilities. New Haven registered a strong come-back while Erie first preferred was in demand above 56 in anticipation of the inauguration of dividends on this stock.

MINERS DRAFT WAGE DEMANDS

With 1,500 delegates from all parts of the United States, Nova Scotia and British Columbia responding to a call of the United Mine Workers of America for a constitutional and general convention at Indianapolis, Ind., beginning Jan. 25, interest centers on prospective wage demands in the bituminous industry. The convention is the first to be held for the past three years. Following formulation of the new wage demands, a scale committee is scheduled to meet a similar committee of the bituminous operators Feb. 14 at Miami, Fla. Convention sessions are presided over by John L. Lewis, Springfield, Ill., international president, assisted by Philip Murray, Pittsburg, Pa., international vice president, and Thomas Kennedy, Hazleton, Pa., international secretary-treasurer.

Illinois Mystery

Disappearance of State Patrolman Lory L. Price and Mrs. Price from their home in Marion, Ill., is another chapter to the history of the county known the country over as "Bloody Williamson." Fearless in the performance of his duty, Price warned gang leaders to keep their machine guns off the highways. Authorities declared they believed Price and his wife had been kidnaped and possibly murdered. Price is shown above.

NICE, France, Jan. 26.—An epidemic of curious pets has hit the Riviera. The proprietor of the Chez Neus Plage has a monkey and many other visitors to the south are sporting monkeys. A cinema company filming scenes for "The Garden of Allah" possesses several camels and when they are not busy, some of the artist walk them about the streets for an airing.

Another smart artist wintering on the Riviera has a small pet tiger and still another takes her green parrot out for a walk on the handle of her bright-colored parasol.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—After an irregular opening in which the advances and declines in the industrial and railroad stocks were about evenly divided, the market rallied under the impetus of brisk short covering, and recoveries of a point or two were inaugurated in the leading stocks.

Shorts were caught napping in United States Steel when the record-breaking quarterly earning statement for the final quarter of 1926, made public after Tuesday's close, disclosed the very profitable earnings operations of the big corporation at the end of the year. Though Steel Common made a very tardy response to the statement, the industrial stock list as a whole showed the effect of heavy short covering.

Simultaneously with reports that the Van Sweringens and other railroad magnets were discussing railroad mergers with a view to a prompt announcement of their plans in the greater Nickel Plate merger, active buying was resumed in Wheeling and Lake Erie, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Western Maryland and other railroad stocks with merger possibilities. New Haven registered a strong come-back while Erie first preferred was in demand above 50 in anticipation of the inauguration of dividends on this stock.

MINERS DRAFT WAGE DEMANDS

With 1,500 delegates from all parts of the United States, Nova Scotia and British Columbia responding to a call of the United Mine Workers of America for a constitutional and general convention at Indianapolis, Ind., beginning Jan. 25, interest centers on prospective wage demands in the bituminous industry. The convention is the first to be held for the past three years. Following formulation of the new wage demands, a scale committee is scheduled to meet a similar committee of the bituminous operators Feb. 14 at Miami, Fla. Convention sessions are presided over by John L. Lewis, Springfield, Ill., international president, assisted by Philip Murray, Pittsburg, Pa., international vice president, and Thomas Kennedy, Hazleton, Pa., international secretary-treasurer.

NICE, France, Jan. 26.—An epidemic of curious pets has hit the Riviera. The proprietor of the Chez Neus Plage has a monkey and many other visitors to the south are sporting monkeys. A cinema company filming scenes for "The Garden of Allah" possesses several camels and when they are not busy, some of the artist walk them about the streets for an airing.

Another smart artist wintering on the Riviera has a small pet tiger and still another takes her green parrot out for a walk on the handle of her bright-colored parasol.

Arrest Youth On Charge Of Taking Funds Of Market

Accuse McCall Of Leaving For Cleveland With Funds Not His Own

Billie McCall, aged 18, 4 North Norris Way, an employe of the City Market, 107 West Washington street, owned by Jacob Kulkin, is en route back here from Cleveland, O., where he was arrested early this morning by police authorities of that city to face charges made in connection with his disappearance Tuesday afternoon with some funds with which he had been sent to the bank.

It was about 2:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when young McCall was sent to the bank to make deposits on two accounts of Mr. Kulkin, having approximately $180 in cash and a number of checks.

Instead of taking the money to the banks, he went to Youngstown, according to the police, where he outfitted himself with a new suit, hat and shoes, threw away the checks and took a train for Cleveland.

As soon as notified of the disappearance of McCall, Day Sergeant Frank M. Jones notified the officers at Cleveland, Butler and other points and asked that if the young man was apprehended that he be held for the local authorities.

This morning a message received by Chief of Police Henry Dysart was in effect that McCall had been apprehended in Cleveland about three a. m. and a return message to the police of that city was to hold him until an officer could be sent for him. Constable James Ellison was sent this morning and is expected back this evening with McCall.

The deposits with which McCall was sent to the bank included one for the City Market of some $130 in cash and a number of checks, and one of a church fund of which Mr. Kulkin is treasurer, in which there was something like $50 in cash and a check for $13.05.

When arrested McCall had $67.10 on his person, police say, having evidently, according to police authorities, disposed of the balance before reaching that point.

District Meeting Of Rebekah Lodge

Officers Of Assembly Present Throughout The State—Large Class Initiated

District meeting of the Rebekah lodges of Lawrence county was held in the I. O. O. F. hall, North Mill street, on January 24, with the following Rebekah assembly and officers: Mrs. Bell Heidnrich of Scranton, Pa., president of the assembly; Mrs. Minnie Kelly of Midland, Pa., vice president; Mrs. Lizzie Sloan of Philadelphia, secretary; Mrs. Martha Parry of Kingstown, Pa., treasurer, and Mrs. Pearl Schreidner, district deputy, of Beaver county.

The afternoon session was largely attended by the different lodges of Lawrence county, and different degrees were exemplified, which were very impressive. Mrs. Lucy Pettit, district deputy of Lawrence county, presided. Many rules were explained by the president which was beneficial to all.

The officers were entertained at a six o'clock dinner in the Elks Club. The assembly degree was given to a large class at seven o'clock. The regular lodge meeting took place at 7:30. Initiation of a large class by the degree team of Rachel Rebekah lodge, No. 40, was a special feature of the evening.

Talks were given by the president and other officers. After lodge a lunch was served by the committee.

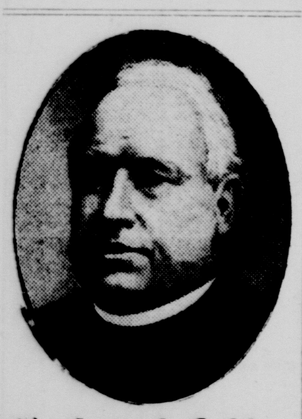

Bethany Lodge Installs Officers For Coming Year

The Bethany Ladies, L. L. O. L., No. 200, of New Castle, met in regular session Tuesday evening and installed the following officers with Julia Buco, district deputy, as the officer in charge, assisted by her staff of officers from Ellwood City:

Worthy mistress, Mary Kron; past mistress, Sarah Fishburn; chaplain, Mary Comstock; secretary, Florence Frost; treasurer, Catherine Woneldurf; first conductress, Mary Ward; second conductress, Olive Bows; first lecturer, Mary A. Higgins; second lecturer, Rose Howard; inside guard, Margaret Dout; outside guard, Catherine Clark; first advisor, John Fullmer; second advisor, Edward Ward; trustees, Margaret Greer and Elizabeth Danniels.

Following the business session lunch was served by Mrs. Woneldurf and Mrs. Fishburn, Mrs. Bows, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Hacock and Mrs. Hanna.

Visitors were present from the Ellwood City lodge. Each new member was presented with a pink and white carnation.

Dog Saves Eleven From Death, Then Loses Own Life

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 26.—Prince, pet Collie of Dominic Hawath, was hailed as a hero today. He saved 11 from death when an old frame building caught fire, and in the excitement was left in the building and died under falling walls.

When the flames began to roar through the structure Prince aroused Mrs. Hawath, who spread the alarm to other occupants of the building.

After all were safely out of the building a bark was heard. Firemen stretched a ladder to the room where the dog was imprisoned, but before he could make his escape the walls collapsed.

Asks Impeachment Of Judge Cooper

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Impeachment of Federal District Judge Frank Cooper of New York was proposed in a resolution introduced in the house today by Rep. Celler, D., of New York.

Charges against Cooper were based upon the report submitted to the senate by General L. C. Andrews, dry chief, regarding "under cover" activities of the dry unit. Judge Cooper approved rum running by government agents from Canada as a means of entrapping law violators, Celler asserted.

Associated Pottery Men Re-Elect Entire Group Of Officials

Glass And Pottery Association Ends Exhibition In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26.—The Associated Glass and Pottery Manufacturers of America, holding their 47th annual exposition here since January 10, today re-elected their officers for another term. The exposition closes tomorrow evening. Members voted to continue the expositions here in 1928.

The officers were: Charles H. West of Pittsburgh, president; D. H. Cushaw of Pittsburgh vice president; Charles L. Sebring of East Liverpool, O., secretary, and George Brush of Zanesville, O., treasurer. The directors are: M. A. Smith of Jeannette, Pa.; Kirk Bryce, Mount Pleasant, Pa.; C. C. Ashbaugh of East Liverpool, O.; J. M. McCartney, Cambridge, O., and George Mitchell of Coshocton, O.

According to West, 50 of the 64 manufacturers in the organization participated in the exposition. Buyers were present from every state, as well as from South America, Mexico and several European countries.

There was no indication of price-cutting, the future of the glass and pottery industry being optimistic, West said.

Poultry Club To Meet On Friday

The January meeting of the Lawrence County Poultry club will be held Friday, January 28, at 2 p. m., in the Lawrence County Agriculture Association office on South Croton avenue. H. H. Police Take Boat, Go After Man Held In Flooded Area

(International News Service)

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 26.—H. W. Gill, arrested in Sistersville at the request of local police for questioning on several charges, was lodged in jail here today after police chartered a motorboat and made a speedy trip to Sistersville to bring him back. With train and automobile transportation suspended because of the flood, police utilized the motorboat to bring the man here.

Deposed Auditor In West Virginia Must Stand Trial

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 26. The state senate in executive session here today decided to try John C. Bond, deposed state auditor on March 16, on charges of maladministration of office, it was learned. A. M. Belcher, counsel for Bond, appeared before the senate. Bond was removed by Gov. Howard Gore, and subsequently impeached by the house of delegates.

West Virginia Law Makers May Hold Special Session

Should Road Bond Bill Die In Committee Special Session Planned

By PRESTON McCLANAHAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 26.—Talk of a special session of the West Virginia legislature was current in political circles here today when it became evident that Gov. Howard Gore's road bond bill, authorizing expenditure of $15,000,000 on state roads, might not pass the senate before adjournment of the short session. It has already passed the house.

A report of the senate road committee, expected this afternoon, will probably indicate whether or not there will be pressure for the extra session, legislators said. If the bill dies in committee, a special session is in prospect, observers believed.

A congressional re-districting bill introduced by Senator Hallanan, would transfer Pocahontas county from the sixth district to the third, would put Greenbrier county in the fifth instead of sixth district and would change Lincoln and Logan counties from the fifth to the sixth districts. Delegate Gay introduced a similar bill in the house.

A total of 434 bills have been introduced in the house and 275 in the senate.

JEANNETTE, Pa., Jan. 26. — Nervous shock, due to falling down a flight of stairs in his home in Demont, is believed to have caused the death of Robert Hines, 8, Deputy Coroner C. C. Rodgers, Irwin, announced today. Young Hines apparently was unhurt after the fall but a few hours later he died.

9 Years of Suffering Relieved by Tanlac

Scranton Merchant, Victim of Stomach Trouble, Nervousness, Dizziness and Headaches Recovers Lost Health

Emory J. Hinckley, well-known merchant, 128 South Grant Street, Scranton, Pennsylvania, says: "After 9 years of intense suffering I was so discouraged I did not know which way to turn. Then Tanlac brought me wonderful relief.

"During all these years I suffered from nervous indigestion that kept me in constant pain. It seemed that something was growing in the pit of my stomach. My appetite was poor. To heap coals on the fire, I suffered from dizziness and headaches. I was so weak and rundown that often I could not work.

"Nervousness caused by my troubles made it impossible for me to sleep. I would count the hours till dawn then arise more tired and wornout than when I went to bed. For 9 years I sought relief without success.

"Then I decided to give Tanlac a trial. After the first bottle I noticed a marked improvement in my health. This tonic has relieved my stomach trouble. I never have headaches. My nerves are always so calm that I can sleep at any hour of the day."

Tanlac builds up strength, puts flesh and muscle on weak bodies, cleanses the system of the poisons of constipation and sluggish liver. It is made from roots, barks and herbs according to the Tanlac formula.

Banish sickness from your life. Enjoy good health and strength. Take Tanlac. At your druggist's. More than 40 million bottles sold.

Accuse McCall Of Leaving For Cleveland With Funds Not His Own

Billie McCall, aged 18, 4 North Norris Way, an employe of the City Market, 107 West Washington street, owned by Jacob Kulkin, is en route back here from Cleveland, O., where he was arrested early this morning by police authorities of that city to face charges made in connection with his disappearance Tuesday afternoon with some funds with which he had been sent to the bank.

It was about 2:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when young McCall was sent to the bank to make deposits on two accounts of Mr. Kulkin, having approximately $150 in cash and a number of checks.

Instead of taking the money to the banks, he went to Youngstown, according to the police, where he outfitted himself with a new suit, hat and shoes, threw away the checks and took a train for Cleveland.

As soon as notified of the disappearance of McCall, Day Sergeant Frank M. Jones notified the officers at Cleveland, Butler and other points and asked that if the young man was apprehended that he be held for the local authorities.

This morning a message received by Chief of Police Henry Dysart was in effect that McCall had been apprehended in Cleveland about three a. m. and a return message to the police of that city was to hold him until an officer could be sent for him. Constable James Ellison was sent this morning and is expected back this evening with McCall.

The deposits with which McCall was sent to the bank included one for the City Market of some $130 in cash and a number of checks, and one of a church fund of which Mr. Kulkin is treasurer, in which there was something like $50 in cash and a check for $13.05.

When arrested McCall had $67.10 on his person, police say, having evidently, according to police authorities, disposed of the balance before reaching that point.

District Meeting Of Rebekah Lodge

Officers Of Assembly Present Throughout The State—Large Class Initiated

District meeting of the Rebekah lodges of Lawrence county was held in the I. O. O. F. hall, North Mill street, on January 24, with the following Rebekah assembly and officers: Mrs. Bell Heidnrich of Scranton, Pa., president of the assembly; Mrs. Minnie Kelly of Midland, Pa., vice president; Mrs. Lizzie Sloan of Philadelphia, secretary; Mrs. Martha Parry of Kingstown, Pa., treasurer, and Mrs. Pearl Schreidner, district deputy, of Beaver county.

The afternoon session was largely attended by the different lodges of Lawrence county, and different degrees were exemplified, which were very impressive. Mrs. Lucy Pettit, district deputy of Lawrence county, presided. Many rules were explained by the president which was beneficial to all.

The officers were entertained at a six o'clock dinner in the Elks Club. The assembly degree was given to a large class at seven o'clock. The regular lodge meeting took place at 7:30. Initiation of a large class by the degree team of Rachel Rebekah lodge, No. 40, was a special feature of the evening.

Talks were given by the president and other officers. After lodge a lunch was served by the committee.

Bethany Lodge Installs Officers For Coming Year

The Bethany Ladies, L. L. O. L., No. 200, of New Castle, met in regular session Tuesday evening and installed the following officers with Julia Buco, district deputy, as the officer in charge, assisted by her staff of officers from Ellwood City:

Worthy mistress, Mary Kron; past mistress, Sarah Fishburn; chaplain, Mary Comstock; secretary, Florence Frost; treasurer, Catherine Woneldurf; first conductress, Mary Ward; second conductress, Olive Bows; first lecturer, Mary A. Higgins; second lecturer, Rose Howard; inside guard, Margaret Dout; outside guard, Catherine Clark; first advisor, John Fullmer; second advisor, Edward Ward; trustees, Margaret Greer and Elizabeth Danniels.

Following the business session lunch was served by Mrs. Woneldurf and Mrs. Fishburn, Mrs. Bows, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Hacock and Mrs. Hanna.

Visitors were present from the Ellwood City lodge. Each new member was presented with a pink and white carnation.

Dog Saves Eleven From Death, Then Loses Own Life

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 26.—Prince, pet Collie of Dominic Hawath, was hailed as a hero today. He saved 11 from death when an old frame building caught fire, and in the excitement was left in the building and died under falling walls.

When the flames began to roan through the structure Prince aroused Mrs. Hawath, who spread the alarm to other occupants of the building.

After all were safely out of the building a bark was heard. Firemen stretched a ladder to the room where the dog was imprisoned, but before he could make his escape the walls collapsed.

Asks Impeachment Of Judge Cooper

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Impeachment of Federal District Judge Frank Cooper of New York was proposed in a resolution introduced in the house today by Rep. Celler, D., of New York.

Charges against Cooper were based upon the report submitted to the senate by General L. C. Andrews, dry chief, regarding "under cover" activities of the dry unit. Judge Cooper approved rum running by government agents from Canada as a means of entrapping law violators, Celler asserted.

Associated Pottery Men Re-Elect Entire Group Of Officials

Glass And Pottery Association Ends Exhibition In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26.—The Associated Glass and Pottery Manufacturers of America, holding their 47th annual exposition here since January 10, today re-elected their officers for another term. The exposition closes tomorrow evening. Members voted to continue the expositions here in 1928.

The officers were: Charles H. West of Pittsburgh, president; D. H. Cushaw of Pittsburgh vice president; Charles L. Sehring of East Liverpool, O., secretary, and George Brush of Zanesville, O., treasurer. The directors are: M. A. Smith of Jeannette, Pa.; Kirk Bryce, Mount Pleasant, Pa.; C. C. Ashbaugh of East Liverpool, O.; J. M. McCartney, Cambridge, O., and George Mitchell of Coshocton, O.

According to West, 50 of the 64 manufacturers in the organization participated in the exposition. Buyers were present from every state, as well as from South America, Mexico and several European countries.

There was no indication of price-cutting, the future of the glass and pottery industry being optimistic, West said.

Poultry Club To Meet On Friday

The January meeting of the Lawrence County Poultry club will be held Friday, January 28, at 2 p. m., in the Lawrence County Agriculture Association office on South Croton avenue. H. H. Kaufman, poultry extension specialist, from State College will attend, giving a talk on "Feeding Laying Hens", and "Management of Breeders." Beside giving this talk, Mr. Kaufman will discuss the records of members of the club.

A Raw, Sore Throat

eases quickly when you apply a little Musterole. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain and won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Police Take Boat, Go After Man Held In Flooded Area

(International News Service)

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 26.—H. W. Gill, arrested in Sistersville at the request of local police for questioning on several charges, was lodged in jail here today after police chartered a motorboat and made a speedy trip to Sistersville to bring him back. With train and automobile transportation suspended because of the flood, police utilized the motorboat to bring the man here.

Deposed Auditor In West Virginia Must Stand Trial

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 26.—The state senate in executive session here today decided to try John C. Bond, deposed state auditor on March 16, on charges of maladministration of office, it was learned. A. M. Belcher, counsel for Bond, appeared before the senate. Bond was removed by Gov. Howard Gore, and subsequently impeached by the house of delegates.

West Virginia Law Makers May Hold Special Session

By PRESTON McCLANAHAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 26.—Talk of a special session of the West Virginia legislature was current in political circles here today when it became evident that Gov. Howard Gore's road bond bill, authorizing expenditure of $15,000,000 on state roads, might not pass the senate before adjournment of the short session. It has already passed the house.

A report of the senate road committee, expected this afternoon, will probably indicate whether or not there will be pressure for the extra session, legislators said. If the bill dies in committee, a special session is in prospect, observers believed.

A congressional re-districting bill introduced by Senator Hallanan, would transfer Pocahontas county from the sixth district to the third, would put Greenbrier county in the fifth instead of sixth district and would change Lincoln and Logan counties from the fifth to the sixth districts. Delegate Gay introduced a similar bill in the house.

A total of 431 bills have been introduced in the house and 275 in the senate.

Youth Dies After Fall Down Stairs

(International News Service)

JEANNETTE, Pa., Jan. 26.—Nervous shock, due to falling down a flight of stairs in his home in Denmark, is believed to have caused the death of Robert Hines, 8, Deputy Coroner C. C. Rodgers, Irwin, announced today. Young Hines apparently was unhurt after the fall but a few hours later he died.

9 Years of Suffering Relieved by Tanlac

Scranton Merchant, Victim of Stomach Trouble, Nervousness, Dizziness and Headaches Recovers Lost Health

Emory J. Hinckley, well known merchant, 128 South Grant Street, Scranton, Pennsylvania, says: "After 9 years of intense suffering I was so discouraged I did not know which way to turn. Then Tanlac brought me wonderful relief.

"During all these years I suffered from nervous indigestion that kept me in constant pain. It seemed that something was growing in the pit of my stomach. My appetite was poor. To heap coals on the fire, I suffered from dizziness and headaches. I was so weak and rundown that often I could not work.

"Nervousness caused by my troubles made it impossible for me to sleep. I would count the hours till dawn then arise more tired and wornout than when I went to bed. For 9 years I sought relief without success.

"Then I decided to give Tanlac a trial. After the first bottle I noticed a marked improvement in my health. This tonic has relieved my stomach trouble. I never have headaches. My nerves are always so calm that I can sleep at any hour of the day."

Tanlac builds up strength, puts flesh and muscle on weak bodies, cleanses the system of the poisons of constipation and sluggish liver. It is made from roots, barks and herbs according to the Tanlac formula.

Banish sickness from your life. Enjoy good health and strength. Take Tanlac. At your druggist's. More than 40 million bottles sold.
